Tigers, Crimson Forget Old Bitterness
They Have Not Clashed Since 1926

PRINCETON and Harvard renew football relations tomorrow after a lapse of several years. The big institutions went to war during the 1926 game and relations were disrupted. Harvard described the Tigers as roughnecks and Princeton men decided to let the Crimson alone for a while.

The Harvard Lampoon was directly responsible for the break. The Crimson publication ridiculed the Tigers and pages from that issue in 1926 indicate the Harvards went entirely too far. As one opened the Lampoon there was a sketch of two mired hogs and beneath it were these words, "Come, brother, let us root for dear old Princeton."

Another cartoon depicted a number of Princeton men, all pretty much the worse for liquor, staggering in front of a tavern with the sign "Ye Olde Helle Hole." Another paragraph described the Princeton slogan as "Spit out that gum and chew an Harvard ear."

PRINCETON went into that 1926 game with a determination to "get even" and the Tigers slammed over a 12-to-0 victory. The Lampoon ridiculed it in its work and Harvard lost an old playmate until this year when representatives of the universities joined up and smoked the peace pipe. All is forgotten now.

The Lampoon of 1926 stopped at nothing. On one page of the "poison edition" this question was asked, "Are you a Princeton man?" Several individuals replied, "No, I was kicked by a horse." "No, the nurse dropped me." "No, I have to wear my father's pants; and they are too big for me." "No, I'm a hair-oil salesman."

On another page a master cartoon was carried, titled "The Romper Boys of Princeton." A girl at the Princeton station sees a lot of lads dressed in white and she thinks they are street cleaners. The conductor says, "don't worry, lady. These are only Princeton men in their beer suits." Is it any wonder the Tigers dropped Harvard?

DUCKY MEDWICK, the "one man riot" in the 1934 world series, at one time was headed for Notre Dame. Son of Hungarian emigrants, Joe thought he would fight in with such Irishers as Savoldi, Schwartz, Carideo and Melnikov. Medwick took up league ball under the name of Mickey King, but went back to Medwick after a rapid advance in the salaried profession.

He is a ball player of many monikers, such as Ducky Wucky, Mickey and the Hungry Hungarian. He entered league pastime in 1930 with Scottsdale in the Mid-Atlantic League and batted .419. This fast hitting average changed Joe's mind about attending college and he kept right on going up the baseball ladder. John Law, former Notre Dame football captain, had persuaded Joe to attend the South Bend school, but St. Louis Cardinals scouts got in the last word and in the fall of 1930 Joe's contract was transferred to Houston under his right name.

MEDWICK made a go of it in a big way at Houston and it was there the name of Ducky Wucky was attached because of his waddle. He batted .305 in 1931 and in 1932 the Hungry Hungarian became the idol of Houston fandom. He slugged the sphere for an average of .357 and picked up a little extra change by permitting a candy company to place on the market the "Ducky Wucky" chocolate bar. Before the end of the 1932 season Medwick was called to the St. Louis Cardinals and he hit .306 for the big leaguers in 1933 and .318 this year. His world series average was .279.

Joe was born in Carteret, N. J., Nov. 24, 1911. He is the town hero now. Beane Casaleggi, brother of Peanuts Casaleggi, proprietor of the Red Star pool hall, is Medwick's "winter manager." The cue emporium is Joe's hangout. Beane said the other day: "He's got lots of offers, includin' marriage, and football, but he's jus' gonna make personal appearances for Joe Herman, the Democratic candidate runnin' for mayor."

Fischer and West Clash in Feature
Light Heavies Booked for Mat Action Tonight.

Principals in the three mat bouts at Tomlinson Hall tonight have been drawn out of the light-heavy division and Jimmy McLemore, matchmaker, thinks he has made a good selection from the standpoint of choosing aggressive grapplers.

In the main go Charles (Midget) Fischer, claimant of the light-heavy belt, will take on Stanley West in a two falls out of three event. Time limit will be one hour and a half. It will be the champ's first appearance here in three years.

The semi-final also will be for two best falls in three, bringing together Jimmy Hefner of Kansas City and Clete Kauffman of Marion, O. Time limit has been set at 45 minutes.

Bob Blake, Dixie grappler, and Bud Mitchell, Newark (O.) prospect, will clash in the prelim at 8:30.

Nellie Flag Promises to Step Out as 3-Year-Old

Rangy Wright Filly Bids Fair to Prove Exception to Rule Females are 'Through' at 2.

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Service Editor.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—What will the turf's pretty misses of 1934 do in 1935—Nellie Flag, Black Helen and Motto?

Nellie Flag appears to have the best chance of going on. Nellie Flag is big, rangy and well made, like Princess Doreen. This daughter of American Flag is the property of the Calumet Farm of Warren, Wis., who sold his trotters upon the death of his father and purchased running stock.

Black Helen, unbeaten in a half dozen starts for Colonel Edward Riley Bradley, seems constructed for sprinting.

Motto, owned by C. V. Whitney, won a couple of the better stakes in brilliant style, but slipped in the closing weeks of the campaign, when she could not carry her weight against colts.

The fact that Nellie Flag was able to repel the masculine gender in late fall is some indication that she may be able to go over a distance at 3, yet many players will lay off of her on general principles in the rich events of next spring. These wouldn't play a filly at 3 if she had wings.

Few of them have clicked after 2. The great majority of them have had to be given exceptionally good weight allowances to run with colts.

Top Flight Slumps
While Mata Hari acquired the Illinois Derby and the Illinois Oaks, she was a flop in 1934, along with Bazaar. More than $500,000 was lost when little Top Flight couldn't get her mind on racing and the Kentucky Derby of 1932.

They had chucked it into the winter books to that extent on the strength of Top Flight having been the best animal in training at 2, regardless of sex. Top Flight was unbeaten at 2, when she replaced Princess Doreen as the richest strength of Top Flight having been time in one fell swoop with $219,000 to her credit.

Burgoo King, the Derby winner; Universe, Economic and Indian Runner couldn't even warm her up. Only Tick On got close to her. Yet at 3 there wasn't a colt she could beat.

The colts simply were slow in developing in Top Flight's 2-year-old year, and she was a fully remarkable speed and developed early.

Bright Derby Prospect
But Owner Wright undoubtedly will nominate Nellie Flag for the Kentucky Derby, and her smashing victory in the Kentucky Jockey Club stakes at Churchill Downs the other afternoon assures him of having one of the winter book favorites.

That's where Derby choices and winners are unveiled—Reigh County, Clyde Van Dusen, Twenty Grand and Mata Hari.

And Nellie Flag negotiated the mile of the Kentucky Jockey Club fixture in 1:37.3, nearly two seconds less than Mata Hari required to bag the number a year ago. It was the fastest time recorded in the race since Twenty Grand took it from Equipoise by the barest fraction of a nose to hang up a new 2-year-old mark for the mile, 1:36, in one of the greatest races ever run.

Previously, Nellie Flag captured the Matron stakes in the mud, and hung up a 1:38 for future generations to shoot at in the Selma stakes.

Vercuski Gets Experience as Blocking Back

Fred Johnson May Be Given Opportunity at Guard in Home-Coming Tilt.

By Times Special

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 2.—Coach Bo McMillin's Indiana university football team tomorrow is expected to make its strongest bid for a Big Ten victory when it entertains Iowa here before a homecoming crowd at 2 p. m.

The Crimson gridders are strengthened by two weeks of hard drill and rest from competition, due to an open date last week-end. They have lost Big Ten tilts to Ohio State and Chicago, but hold a victory over Ohio U. and tie against strong Temple.

Injuries Slow to Heal
Injuries still hamper I. U., despite the long rest, and Fox and Yoder, capable ball carriers, are not expected to see much action. Ettore Antonini, veteran end, also is banged up and may have to stay on the bench.

With the probable starting lineup jumbled considerably, the old Prayin' Colonel McMillin has hopes any way of beating the Iowa grid machine, which Ossie Soem will have in the best condition it has been since it romped over Northwestern, 20-7, early in the season.

A new face in Bo's five-man back field this week is that of Bronko Vercuski, senior tackle, who is listed in the lineup as an end. In reality Bronko now is a blocking back, and will play that position Saturday while on offense.

Walker to Call Signals
Another change has Fred Johnson, a guard and end, at guard. Johnson, who came back to school this year after a two-year absence, has improved steadily. Wendell Walker, usually playing full back, probably will call signals tomorrow.

Iowa will have its greatest potentialities in ground-gaining combinations together in Captain Russ Fisher, Oze Simons, Dwight Hoover and Dick Crazie. It was this outfit which ran up scores of 35-0 against South Dakota U. and 20-7 against Northwestern, but which has been without the services of the sparkplug Captain Fisher, since that time. Tomorrow's probable starting lineup:

Numa-Rascher Match Stirs Fan Interest

Young Heavy Wrestlers Will Meet for First Time at Armory.

Local wrestling fans are displaying more interest in the Leo (North-west) Numa vs. Andy Rascher main go tussle scheduled for the Armory next Tuesday night than in any match the Hercules A. C. has staged this season, according to matchmaker Lloyd Carter. Carter's personal opinion of the bout is that it will be a "natural."

The match brings together two of the young outstanding huskies in the professional ranks. Rascher is rated the Hoosier state's best heavyweight and he also is conceded to be the best young heavy in the middle west. On the other hand, Numa is rated the best of the young heavyweight stars on the Pacific coast.

Past records of the stars fail to furnish much "dope" to make a comparison, for Rascher has never opposed any western grapplers who have met Numa, while Numa is new in this territory and has met but few of the heavyweights in this section of the country.

In his first appearance here, however, Numa defeated G. Bashara, the former Oklahoma A. and M. athlete, while Rascher and Bashara went to a thirty-minute draw. Numa has won three local bouts in a row.

Numa hails from Seattle, and is a protégé of the late Charlie Hansen, one-time "big time" heavyweight ace. Leo was a football and baseball star at the University of Washington. Rascher, who lives at Cedar Lake, Ind., was a grid and mat star several years ago at Indiana.

Andy weighs 212 to 215, while Numa scales between 218 and 220.

Cadets Arrive at Urbana for Illinois Clash

Grid Tussle of Undefeated Teams Expected to Draw Upward of 50,000.

By Times Special
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 2.—Army and Illinois will renew their colorful and spirited football rivalry in the Illinois stadium here tomorrow with clean slates.

The battle of the hard driving Cadets and the Fighting Illini has caught the interest of grid fans as no game here has done since 1929 when Army previously invaded the stadium. Upward of 50,000, it is predicted, may thrill at the struggle between the two teams, which appear to be well-matched in all departments of the game.

Army encamped at the Urbana Country Club and established headquarters at the Urbana Lincoln hotel after arrival at Urbana late this morning. The official party included sixty-eight.

The Army mule is ready to do his stuff against the machinations of the "Illiniwek," the Indian chief. The Illinois band of 175 pieces will be augmented by the second band, making the total number of musicians on the field at one time, 320, in accordance with the Dad's day tradition.

Military uniforms will lend color to the crowd for thousands of West Point alumni. Other officers of the army were coming from far and near to witness the game.

This will be the last game of the season at Illinois, as the Illini will be traveling to Northwestern, Wisconsin and Chicago for the remainder of their games.
