

SLAYING BARES AMATEUR GANG OF RICH YOUTHS

Judge's Son Killed Wealthy
Student in Underworld
Feud, Police Say.

By United Press
TULSA, Okla., Dec. 3.—New arrests in the break-up of an alleged gang of amateur criminals formed from adventure-seeking scions of prominent families were promised by police today.

Already held were Phillip Kennamer, 19, son of Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer, charged with murdering John Gorrell, 23, son of a prominent physician, and Wade Thomas, owner of a night club patronized by youths of wealthy families, who was charged with being the "brains" of the gang.

Thomas, police said, made a practice of involving young men of prominent families in gambling games. The young men always lost, police charged, and many owed Thomas large sums they could not pay.

Gorrell, police said, was killed because he was suspected of "chiseling in" on a kidnap plot directed against H. F. Wilcox, millionaire oil man. His body was found in his motor car last Tuesday night. Young Kennamer surrendered Saturday, saying he killed Gorrell in self-defense.

The elder Kennamer, celebrated for stern sentences meted out, was stunned.

"Gorrell and Kennamer fell out," Holly Anderson county prosecutor, said. "Kennamer killed Gorrell because Gorrell knew too much about his past activities. There was a second motive, jealousy. But not jealousy over a girl. That idea is out."

OTTUMWA, Ia., Dec. 3.—County relief officials were overjoyed when the Burlington Railroad sent in a hurry call for one hundred men to shovel snow from tracks.

Men who had been on relief for months were notified to get to work. But the relief workers asked the railroad:

"How much will you pay?"
"Thirty-five cents an hour," was the response.

The unemployed held a parley. "We'll work for 50 cents an hour and our lunch," they said.

So the railroad went out and recruited 125 men who weren't on relief and who were willing to work for 35 cents an hour.
