

LEGISLATORS TO BE GUESTS OF STATE C. OF C.

Commercial Secretaries to Help Sponsor Dinner Jan. 16.

Members of the 1935 legislature will be guests of the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce and the Indiana Commercial Secretaries' Association at a dinner Jan. 16 at the Columbia Club, it was announced today by William H. Arnett, managing director of the state chamber.

Decision to play host to the legislators was reached at a meeting here Saturday at which the legislative program of the Secretaries' Association was discussed.

The secretaries considered the proposal for a state NRA law, and expressed the opinion that if such a law is enacted it should be confined to application of the Federal recovery codes to interstate business.

The secretaries believe business men do not want another state code structure and enforcement agency, but that existing NRA enforcement machinery should be legalized to apply to business not involved in interstate commerce.

There will be no speeches at the dinner to the legislators. Gov. Paul V. McNutt will be invited to give of honor, and extend greetings to the guests.

The legislative program of the secretaries will be in the charge of a special committee appointed by G. B. Maple, La Porte, association president.

Members of the committee are Edward Hackett, Hammond; C. A. Jackson, Lafayette; George Firmin, South Bend; Charles Biederman, Ft. Wayne; E. F. Warfield, Marion; John Hayman, Terre Haute; Fred Stoenkel, Vincennes; S. A. Warner, New Albany; Robert A. Seward, Columbus; L. C. Bush, Muncie; George Hilt, Anderson; William H. Book, Indianapolis; William H. Book, Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce executive vice president.

Levitzki Thrills Audience With Mastery of Piano in City Program

BY WALTER D. HICKMAN

CHOPIN, Schumann and Beethoven were given a brilliant interpretation by Mischa Levitzki, pianist, at the Academy of Music yesterday afternoon. It was an Indianapolis Maennerchor offering.

In a program arranged because of the way arranged, Mr. Levitzki received an ovation after three Chopin numbers which seldom has been equalled at the Academy of Music.

Mr. Levitzki's mature technique and his ability to capture the tone pictures of the composers was revealed at the very beginning of his program when he played Bach's "Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue," and followed that by the lengthy "Sonata, Op. 53," by Beethoven.

No temperamental fireworks were present, but an individual mannerism aided the artist in putting over the mood of the composition.

His piano is a beautiful one and his Schubert which was so well illustrated in Schubert's "Impromptu B-flat Major."

He is wise in including the compositions of many composers as Bach, Beethoven, Schubert, Schumann, Brahms, Chopin, Ravel, the pianist himself and Paganini-Liszt. These composers gave Levitzki a marvelously balanced program with melody present most of the time.

A Pleasant Romantic Movie

FRANCIS LEDERER revealed an interesting personality in "Pursuit of Happiness" and in "Romance in Manhattan" he reveals more of those same qualities. Since we have been demanding clean pictures and not a lot of pandering to some of them in sufficient numbers to impress some exhibitors, the movie powers are going back to romantic love stories in which the sweet heroine has a difficult time earning a living and finally winning the boy she loves. The girl in this movie is played by Ginger Rogers.

Ginger Rogers, who seems to have a lot of the "sweet" qualities which have made Janet Gaynor such a box office magnet, he reveals more of those same qualities. Since we have been demanding clean pictures and not a lot of pandering to some of them in sufficient numbers to impress some exhibitors, the movie powers are going back to romantic love stories in which the sweet heroine has a difficult time earning a living and finally winning the boy she loves. The girl in this movie is played by Ginger Rogers.

This woman is growing rapidly and I believe that she is a coming star. Her work with the dreamy and enthusiastic and optimistic Lederer is pleasing, sincere and often beautiful.

Lederer is the matinee type and the right vehicles should push him forward in the right way.

The entire family can see this one with complete safety. Here is a good show.

the Civic Theater closer to the life of the community. He has sponsored a drama tournament among the settlement houses. He has organized the Sunday evening entertainments which he himself opened a few weeks ago with a reading of a Polish play.

Continental Revue Lauded

The "Continental Revue" is the answer to the vaudeville lover's prayer.

Those who have yearned for the return of the old-time unit show with its entertaining continuity and its musical comedy atmosphere will be more than satisfied with the current A. B. Marcus production.

Leon Miller is the star of the revue with a grand talent for trick dance steps and an Eddie Cantor type of comedy which stopped the show at the performance the writer attended. His presentation of the six dance steps he remembers since taking up the art was the best terschorean bit in the show.

Ben McAttee and Elmer Coudy lend the production its comic savor with a series of blackout sketches, some of which are quite webby. The Karols Adagio Four is seen in a thrilling number which is top notch, and Harvey, Young and Kaye dance well in the center-piece numbers for the chorus features.

Marzo Zuch plays several old songs well on the accordion and the Bounding Ali Babas perform in the best act of tumbling and acrobatic work the writer has seen.

The performance of these six men is outstanding. As a climax to their act of the show one of them supports his others on his shoulders and arms.

A female trio sings acceptable harmony numbers and the funniest act in the show is "The Fan Dance to End Fan Dances" presented by three unnamed young men, whose interpretation of the Sally Rand act is a knockout.

Marzo Zuch, Bettie Caudy and Georgene Miller are the female foils in the humor blackouts.

The "Trees," "Maid of Silver" and "Pirate Ship" numbers are excellently staged and performed by an adequately beautiful chorus. The singing of Roland Tournier does much to make them successful.

Here is clever vaudeville in a high-class setting with the continuity and showmanship it takes to put over a good set of acts.

The picture on view this week is "Maybe It's Love," starring Gloria Stuart and Ross Alexander, the young cadet from "Education Walk." Ruth Donnelly and Frank McHugh are in the supporting cast.

NRA CONSUMER BOARD ASKS CODE CHANGES

Retention of Labor, Fair Trade Practices Urged.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Revision and simplification of the recovery act with retention of codes pertaining to labor standards, collective bargaining and unfair trade practices was recommended today by the Consumers' Board of the NRA.

The government must retain the right to impose codes and enforce their labor provisions, the consumer advisers said in their report to the recovery board, which is making a study of proposed revisions preparatory to a renewal of the act.

"It is already recognized that enforcement of labor provisions can not be left to industry alone," the report said. "Public factory inspection and public prosecution of labor violators is the answer."

17 INDICTMENTS ARE RETURNED BY GRAND JURY

Prosecution Is Preparing Cases Against 20 Named in True Bills.

The staff of Herbert M. Spencer, Marion County Prosecutor, today was preparing cases against the 20 persons indicted in the 17 true bills returned by the grand jury Saturday in its final report to Criminal Judge Frank P. Baker.

Although the grand jury did not indict Mrs. Dorothy March, 18, of 842 Fletcher-av, who is alleged to have kidnapped the 4-day-old infant of Mrs. Grace Robbins Dec. 10, Judge Baker ordered her remanded to the county jail under $3,000 bond on the kidnapping charge.

Mrs. March is alleged to have "snatched" the baby in a fantastic scheme to win back the affection of her husband, who has filed suit for divorce against her.

Those indicted include Joseph Johnson, Negro, who was charged with the slaying of John Allison, Dec. 16; William R. Cress, charged with failure to stop after an accident, alleged to have been the driver of a hit-run car that fatally injured Lester Spangler Nov. 25; and Roy La Baume, an alleged deserter from the United States Marines, who is charged with having stolen silver from the home of Charles Summer, 3141 N. New Jersey-st.

Those released by the grand jury were Ralph Henninger, accused of the murder of Earl Henry, 909 King-av, during a quarrel; Harry Bruner, 1241 W. Ray-st, charged with manslaughter; John Dick, 1305 Pershing-av, with failure to stop after an accident; Arthur Jackson, 2240 Columbia-av, with assault and battery; Henry Middleton, 2408 Northwestern-av, with burglary, and William Sagar, 933 N. Pennsylvania-st, charged with receiving stolen goods.

During the term the grand jury investigated 164 cases, dismissed 50 and returned 114 true bills. The new grand jury is expected to report to Judge Baker for instructions today.
