

Negro Boxing Ace Knocking at Title Door

Young Joe Louis is Likened to Famed Gans by Old Ring Follower.

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—An old fight fan watched him in action for a few rounds, and said:

"If that isn't a big edition of Joe Gans, these old eyes are deceiving me. He can box, he can punch and he likes to fight. Every move is instinctive. He moves with the grace of an animal. He has a great defense and it looks like he can take it. If he isn't the next heavyweight champion, it'll be because the champion won't fight him."

He was talking about Joe Louis, 20-year-old Negro boy who was born in Montgomery, Ala., and now lives in Detroit. Louis has engaged in 13 professional bouts since July 4, and won them all—ten by knockouts and three by decisions. He has had every opponent on the floor. As an amateur he had 54 battles, winning 39 by knockouts and losing only two decisions in 3-round bouts.

Has Two Fights Carded

In six months he has fought his way to the fringe of the leading contenders—Schmeling, Carnera, Hannas, Lasky. In another six months he'll be the outstanding contender for Max Baer's crown, in the opinion of almost every smart boxing man who has seen him in action.

Louis made $100 for his first match, and drew more than $4,000 for his 13th bout with Patsy Perroni in Detroit last week. His next bout will be against Hans Birke at Pittsburgh, Friday night, and then he goes to Los Angeles to meet Lee Ramage in a return bout Feb. 21. Louis' managers both are Negroes—John W. Roxborough and Julian Black. His trainer and chief second is Jack Blackburn, formerly of Indianapolis, one of the best Negro fighters of his time. He was so good he had to give away as much as 20 pounds sometimes to get a match.

May Avoid Pitfalls

Most of the early money Louis made he owed Roxborough, so he is just coming into real money of his own. The downfall of most Negro fighters in the past has been property. Louis may avoid this pitfall. He never drinks nor smokes. He is a quiet boy, and always tries to remain in the background. They say he reads the Bible religiously.

He has whipped some really good fighters—knocked out Stanley Perera, who holds a decision over Carnera; knocked out Charlie Massera, who lost an unpopular decision to King Levinsky; knocked out Lee Ramage, who holds decisions over Hannas and Lasky; defeated Patsy Perroni.

Until Perroni met Louis he had been on the floor only once, and then he got up to win the decision. Louis dropped him three times for nine counts.

A Dog's Life

By Leon F. Whitney

NOW that you have had that Christmas puppy for more than two weeks I wonder how he is standing it.

If you are used to raising puppies he is probably getting along just fine, but if it happens to be the first one you have bought for the children (or yourself) maybe I had better tell you a few words in the pup's behalf.

You have heard that old saying that "more Christmas puppies are killed by kindness than by sickness." Well, it might not be 100 per cent true, but it is surprising how many of the little fellows die from just this cause. Many of you who have had young puppies die are directly responsible for his death, and it has been just because you have given him too much of the wrong kind of attention.

Remember first and last that he is a dog and even though he receives and is deserving of the best treatment you can give him that what is best for you is not always best for him, so "give him a break" and let him be just a dog at least part of the time.

You can find plenty of time to play with and fondle him if you like without keeping continually at it, and be sure that he gets enough exercise. It's surprising how much exercise even the small puppies can take and thrive on, so don't be afraid of his running around and playing a lot, and if he gets a little too playful and chews up the little draperies, remember, too, that it's up to you to teach what's proper and what's wrong, and if you will just be patient and watch him and stop him every time he does something wrong he will soon learn. Don't stop him every other time and expect good results, you have to stick with it, but in the long run you will save your own time and be rewarded by a well behaved dog.

If he doesn't seem to be in the pink of condition it might be well to find out whether or not he needs worming, and if you have already become so fond of him that you are making plans for his future training, etc., it would be well to think about immunizing him against distemper. This won't be expensive, and your veterinarian will tell you the best age and his fee. It will be money well spent.

Do you have a dog problem? Address communications to Leon F. Whitney, care The Indianapolis Times, Inc., enclosing a stamped addressed envelope for reply.

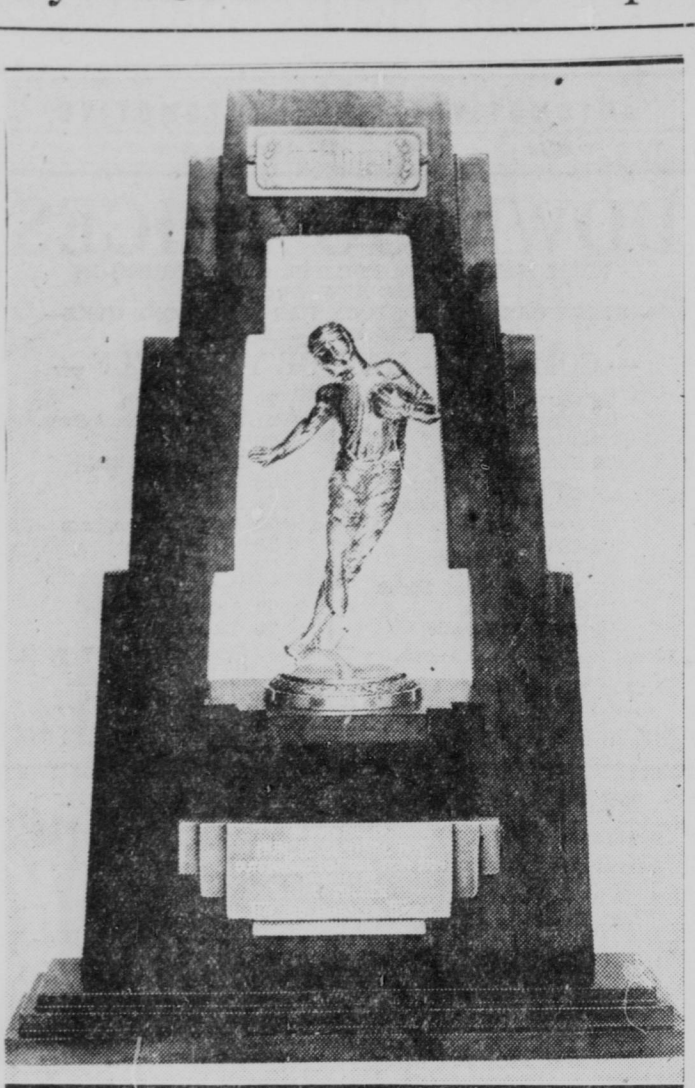

FITZSIMMONS LATEST N. Y. GIANT TO SIGN

By United Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—New York's Giants gradually are being rounded up for the 1935 season. Seven now are in the fold, the latest to return his signed contract being "Fat" Freddy Fitzsimmons.

The right-handed holdover from the John McGraw era has been with the Giants since 1925 and was the second of the hurlers to get into line. Carl Hubbell, southpaw, was first. Fitzsimmons' salary was believed to be $11,000.

Symbol of Grid Triumph

THE inscription on the trophy shown above makes Indiana high school football history. It reads: "Presented to Muncie Central High School, outstanding football team 1934. Selected by Dick Miller, The Indianapolis Times."

The trophy "Triumph" is the eighth to be awarded by The Times to state high school grid teams in as many years. In winning the 1934 trophy, Muncie's Bearcats fought through nine games against outstanding teams without losing an encounter and were co-champions with Jefferson of Lafayette in the North Central Indiana conference.

Down the Alleys

BY BERNARD HARMON

John Blue's 670 total was the best individual series posted as the Tuesday night league resumed action last night after a two weeks' vacation because of the holiday season. Bowling with the Indianapolis Candy & Tobacco Co. of the St. Philip No. 1 League, Blue had games of 200, 235 and 235 to reach his leading total, which enabled his team to take two of its three games from the McKinney-Treasurer team. For the losers, Clayton Riggsbee's 589 featured.

Although the "600 twins," Chuck Markey and Johnnie Kiesel turned in their usual 600 scores, the Wooden Shoe Beers dropped two games to the S. & S. Service Stations, who had a 515 from Tony McCann as their best total. Markey had a 613 and Kiesel a 636 for the Beer team, which used a 1933 game for its lone victory. Johnny Murphy connected for 643 as the Casady Fuels made a clean sweep of their series over the Falls City Hi-Bros, who had a 607 from Clarence Dickman as their leading count.

Four individual totals passed the 600 mark as the Pritchett Recreation League went through its regular schedule last night. Harold Horn led the quartet with a 647 total from games of 212, 232 and 233. Jess Pritchett, Jr. had a 613, Tommy Thomas, a 611 and Tom Selmer, a 603. The Sunshine Cleaners took three games from the Green Tavern, Hilgemeier Packers won twice over the Real Silks, Hibben-Hollwegs defeated the Royal Tailors, 2 to 1. Thomas Restaurant grabbed a pair from the L. S. Ayres & Co. team and the Universal Beverage took two from the Louie's Taverns. The Louie's Taverns took their single victory by virtue of a 1000 game.

Led by Dorothy Finn's 576 series, the Marott Shoc pastimers made a clean sweep of their series with the Meeker Five in the Ladies' Social League at the Hotel Antlers Alley. Helen Weise's 534 featured for the losing team. Lathrop-Moyers also won three games, a 563 from Helen Kritsch leading them to their shutout victory.

The Bowles Seal Fastis won two from the Falls City Hi-Bros, a 567 from Helen Thomas featuring for the Bowles, and a 546 from Malzieu being the top total for the Hi-Bros. The Hotel Antler Five took a two-to-one decision from the Greenwald Meats, a 593 from Loreen Conoley being the best total of this series.

The lone 600 series of the Hooster Athletic Club's session at the Pritchett Alleys came from Vince Obergefell, who collected 603 pins in his three games. The Potter Coal and Materials and Bowles Seal Fast teams took shutout victories over the John Hancock Mutual Insurance and Coca Colas, while the Barret Coal Co. and Indianapolis Office Supply team won twice from the Block Opticals and Hatfield Electrics.

In the Spencer Cafe Ladies' League at Pritchett's, the Northern Beach Pools, Heidenreich Florists and Fulle Fives emerged with shutout victories. Their victims were the American Central Life, Club Steaks and Ham and Eggs. The Hungarian Bread, Wright Oldsmobiles, Queens Shoppe and East End Greenhouse teams won twice over the Sirolo Steaks, Country Maid Sausage, East End Daries and Chas. H. Franks.

Josephine Ostheimer, with a 549 series, led the Individuals. Josephine Schmidt placed second on 521 and Marie Zook took third with a 511. After opening with a 233, Mrs. Lang dropped to 183 and 102 but managed to pass the 500 mark with a 503.

Freddie Tegler, with a 550, was again the head man as the late Life Insurance keepers displayed their wares at the Pritchett Alleys. Single Premiums won three games from the E-6's and the Expectancy Terms took two from the Family Incomes.

Paul Crozier again finished first among the individuals as the Guro League took a 5-1 victory over the 4-2 team. Crozier's southpaw delivery netted him a triple win over the No. 3's. Teams No. 3 and 4 were also three-time winners, their victims being the No. 2's and No. 1's. Team No. 2 took two games from No. 1's and No. 1's won twice over the No. 3's.

In the kway Recreation League No. 1's won a 3-2 victory over the 2-1 team. The 2-1 team was posted during the evening's action, as the Norton's Beed and Crozier's team took odd game decisions from the 3-2 team.

Kautsky Five Plays 'Rubber' Fray Tonight

Local Squad to Settle Net Rivalry Issue With the Renaissance.

The Kautsky A. C.'s Indianapolis pro basketball team, expect to find the strongest opposition of the season to date when they tangle with the nationally known Renaissance quintet of New York at the Butler fieldhouse tonight.

The Renaissance, boasting a collection of the best Negro talent in the country, defeated the Kautskys in a whirlwind encounter last season, but the locals came back to avenge the setback in a later tilt, and tonight's collision will take the form of a "rubber" match.

The Kautskys will bank on Johnny and Maurice (Cat) Wooden for superior scoring power, while Jenkins and Yancey are the pacemakers for the invaders. Johnny Wooden Perigo, Chestnut will be at center, with Cat Wooden and Reeves as guards. The Renaissance lineup will include Ricks and Yancey at forwards; Cooper, center, and Jenkins and Holt, guards.

The game will begin at 8:45, following a curtain-raiser to start an hour earlier.

TULANE GRID CAPTAIN

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9.—Bucky Bryan, fleet half back, will captain Tulane's Sugar Bowl champions into the football wars in 1935.

Glove Picnic

Amateurs Point for at Least 20 Battles on Friday.

At least 20 bouts will be staged at South Side Turner Hall Friday night when the Marion County amateur tournament is held. Each scrap will be scheduled for three two-minute rounds to a decision, but in the finals the length of rounds may be increased. A winner must be declared in each battle.

The professional promoters at the Army have called off their weekly boxing program to give the amateurs full sway and Turner Hall is expected to be packed when the youngsters start throwing gloves.

Action will begin at 8 p. m. and continue until champions have been crowned in all divisions. Boxers are requested to report for physical examination and weighing-in on Friday between 4 and 6:30 p. m. The entry deadline is tomorrow.

Tourney ticket prices are 50 cents general admission, 75 cents reserved section and $1 ringside. Tickets are on sale at the Em-Roe sporting goods store at the Em-Roe Hall, 306 Prospect-st.

Central Normal Players Shifted

Warriors to Play Hanover Tomorrow Night.

DANVILLE, Ind., Jan. 9.—Substitution of Gerald Roudabush in the Central Normal basketball lineup for Ed Englehart, star center, who has a fractured rib, was announced today by Coach S. H. Leitzman.

Central Normal will entertain Hanover here tomorrow night. Coach Leitzman said other replacements on his Purple Warrior squad were probable, including Morris for Gullion, at guard. Other members of Normal's lineup are expected to be Wilson and Martin, forwards, and Blanda, guard.

Pease, Hanover forward, played high school basketball under Coach Leitzman and on the same team with Blanda.

DETROIT ICE TEAM CUTS CHICAGO'S LEAD

By United Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Chicago's lead in the American division of the National Hockey League is dwindling again before the charging Boston Bruins, who are within a point of the top.

The Blackhawks took an early lead last night on Thompson's goal, but Detroit made two points within three minutes of the second period and won, 2 to 1. Roche and Lewis netted the tying and winning goals.

Dit Clapper scored twice and set up another point for Kaminsky as Boston defeated Toronto, 3 to 1. Kelly made the Leafs' only point.

The New York Rangers and Montreal Maroons battled to a 1-1 overtime deadlock.

PEGLER

Pungent, Pithy, Penetrating

Critics have meant it sincerely enough. They have said of Westbrook Pegler that he has the drollery of Ring Lardner, the iconoclasm of Henry Mencken, the homely insight of Will Rogers. These are tributes any writer might well envy.

But they are more suggestions of the truth than the truth itself. Pegler has humor, he has impatience with false idols, he has shrewd humanness. But they are his own. They are no one else's.

Westbrook Pegler is no-one but Pegler ... one of the most trenchant, fair and vivid newspaper commentators this country has yet developed.
