

MESSAGE READY FOR CONGRESS ON SOCIAL LAWS

Far-Reaching Program to Be Given Legislators Tomorrow.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—President Roosevelt will send his far-reaching social security program to Congress tomorrow.

His program to provide security of the home and employment, health and old-age protection is the key-stone of his long-range planned proposals for a "more abundant life," Administration leaders said.

In response to the President's desire, Congressional leaders planned speedy consideration of the program, which is expected to provide unemployment insurance, old-age pensions, child welfare, maternity care, medical services for the poor and related social services.

The program would launch the Federal Government and co-operating states upon a broad plan of social rehabilitation to affect virtually every man, woman and child in the United States.

The program, when effective would provide, its sponsors believe, a bulwark against future depressions. For the wage earner it would provide an income in case of unemployment; for those over 65 years of age it would give a monthly income estimated at $40 to $50 a month; those who have worked on the program have indicated.

Redistribution of Wealth Idea Just an 'Illusion,' Great Red-Chaser Discloses.

BY JOE COLLIER
Times Staff Writer

DR. WILLIAM A. WIRT, superintendent of Gary (Ind.) schools and a member of the lobbying American Liberty League, who for years has flooded newspaper offices with opinionated tomes typed and prepared in school offices, today issued a copyrighted complaint against the entrance of propaganda into the schools.

As an official of a city whose principal land owner and taxpayer is the United States Steel Corp., Dr. Wirt, of "eat-and-tell" fame, arrayed himself against the Journal of the National Education Association, charging that redistribution of wealth, which he said the magazine advocated, was one of "three illusions" which "have crystallized public opinion in favor of a change in our social and economic order."

The other two "illusions," he said, were that this country's private capitalist system is bankrupt, and that the country has a very large excess production capacity.

DR. WIRT appealed in his 35-page article for "intellectual honesty." In an allegorical preface he defines the "average man" as one who believes that the old social and economic order is the refuge of the vested interests and that these interests have been robbing him.

Dr. Wirt, who gained more or less note as the man who publicly mistrusted the "brain trust," defines the "ultra-radical" as the man who "knows" that the "average man" wants to believe that 2 per cent of the people have 90 per cent of the wealth and that he, "the average man," would have plenty if he were not "robbed" of his share.

Dr. Wirt defines "the leaders" as those who have waited "too long."

The average man does not know," he declares, "that when a planned economy is complete enough to succeed as an economic order, it becomes Communism."

Proceeding to his contention that redistribution of wealth is an unworkable illusion, Dr. Wirt quotes the Journal of the N. E. A. as saying:

"The central economic problem in the United States involves the first semester of the current school year next Tuesday afternoon and begin the second semester on Thursday, Paul C. Stetson, schools superintendent, announced yesterday. The changeover is in midweek. It is a departure from the old custom of ending the first term on Friday and beginning the new semester on Monday, Mr. Stetson said.

Regular class work of the first semester will end at 2 Tuesdays afternoon. The next hour will be given over to transferring pupils to their new classrooms, supplying new book lists and collecting rented books.

Pupils will report to new classrooms on Wednesday morning at the regular time and remain there until 10 when school will be dismissed for the remainder of the day to permit pupils to obtain new books. Thursday will find the pupils back on a regular schedule for the last half of the school year.

FIRST SEMESTER TO END HERE TUESDAY

Pupils to Resume Class Work Thursday.

Elementary schools of the city will end the first semester of the current school year next Tuesday afternoon and begin the second semester on Thursday, Paul C. Stetson, schools superintendent, announced yesterday. The changeover is in midweek.

At the time I found him painting he said that with his knowledge of fencing, combat and the like he would some day have a great movie.

His faith in himself has resulted in his appearance in one of the very great pictures of the year.

A few facts on "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" are as follows:

"The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" went into production more than four years ago when Paramount sent Ernest B. Schoedsack at the head of an expedition to northern India to film important background sequences for the picture.

Adapted from a best-selling novel of the same name by Francis Yeats-Brown, it has been cast and recast several times.

In the chief roles are Gary Cooper as Captain McGregor, Franchot Tone as Lieut. Forsythe, Richard Cromwell as Lieut. Stone, and Sir Guy Standing as Colonel Stone, C.

The meeting was sponsored by the Men of Meridian Club with J. L. Holcomb acting as chairman. An organ recital by Mrs. Howard Clipping preceded the address.

INDIANA'S TWO SENATORS BACK WORLD COURT

Minton and Van Nuys to Vote for Adherence of U. S.

By Times Special

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Both Indiana Senators are prepared to vote in favor of United States entry into the World Court, they declared today.

As a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, Senator Frederick Van Nuys voted favorably on the resolution of entry now before the Senate. It was approved by a 2-to-1 vote by the committee and is expected to pass shortly.

"The court was indorsed by my party and I certainly favor American participation," Senator Sherman Minton commented.

Senator Minton remains undecided in regard to his vote for or against payment of the bonus. Senator Van Nuys favors immediate payment and will support the bill when it reaches the Senate, as he was at previous sessions.

Frank Belgrano, national commander of the American Legion, called on Senator Minton and the junior Senator had lunch with him. Both were guests of Bowman Elder in his suite at the Mayflower Hotel. Frank McHale was also present, he and Mr. Elder being in the city on business connected with the Indiana Traction Co. receivership.

Senator Minton made no pledge regarding his bonus stand during the campaign.
