Jack Davies Orchestra Plays at New Tice Stube After Appearing in Other Cities

Chicago and St. Louis Night Club Audiences Heard
Musicians Prior to Engagement Here; Records
Made for Gennet.

THE Tice Stube, recently opened, is featuring Jack Davies and His Aristocrats as the musical organization supplying the background for dancers and diners.

This band comes to Indianapolis direct from the Winter Garden Cafe in Chicago, where it played for three months before making the local engagement.

Other places where the band has performed include the Iris ballroom, Benton Harbor, Mich.; Statler Hotel, St. Louis, and Danceland Ballroom, Chicago.

Each member of the band is heard in a number of novelties and special arrangements which are a part of the orchestra's repertoire.

Membership of the band includes Jack Davies, leader; Doran Davidson, sax clarinet, flute and vocal; Devon Davidson, sax clarinet and vocal; Tom Booth, trumpet; Pete Dally, trumpet and vocal; George Rice, percussion and vocal; George Navarre, string bass, violin, saxophone, vocal and arrangements; and Bob Borror, piano, guitar, vocal and arrangements.

Gangster Film Shown at Ohio

'Golden Harvest' Also on Bill Ending Today.

Showing for the last time today at the Ohio Theater are "Scarface," the picture which made Paul Muni famous, and "Golden Harvest" with Richard Arlen.

"Scarface" tells the story of a gangster chief whose hates were many and whose methods were none too graceful when it came to dealing with his adversaries. The story closely follows the life story of Al Capone.

Starting tomorrow and running through Thursday, the Ohio will show "Circus Clown" and "All of Me."

ROUNDING ROUND THEATERS

WITH WALTER
D. HICKMAN

NATIONALLY prominent magazines such as Time are giving Indianapolis a lot of good publicity because of the fact that Igor Stravinsky, composer-pianist, and Samuel Dushkin, violinist, will appear here during a limited tour.

Credit for this goes to Mrs. Nancy Martens, who has booked these two leading personages, along with the Musical Art Quartet, at English's on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 27.

Many other cities tried to get this marvelous combination, but Mrs. Martens got her contract nearly a year ago when the American tour was arranged.

Here is a highly expensive concert, but Mrs. Martens felt confident that the musical going public of this city and state would support her efforts in bringing it to Indianapolis.

In an interview recently Stravinsky said that he considered music in its essence to be incapable of expressing any sentiment, any attitude, any psychological condition or any phenomenon of nature; that he considered himself rather solitary among contemporary composers.

"Expression," he said, "has never been the inherent property of music. The reason for the existence of music is by no means conditioned by expression. If, as is often the case, music seems to express something, that music is not real. It is a form, a convention. It has become sym-

Glynn and Celeste Dancing as Headliners of Bill Now Offered at Chateau Lido

Novelties and Semi-Classical Numbers Comprise Presentations of Team; Freddie Cain and Jo
Arnold Also Booked.

THE new floor entertainment for patrons of the French Chateau Lido, picturesque night place north of the city, will be headed by Glynn and Celeste, dancers.

The team will be seen in a series of dance novelties as well as semi-classical presentations.

Miss Celeste has a high reputation for her performance in dance circles and her work with her new partner is said to be highly entertaining.

Besides the team, the Chateau will also present Freddie Cain the red-headed novelty dance flash, who will give several comedy solos and will work with Jack and Jill, another team, in trio specialties.

Miss Jo Arnold continues her popularity building, and will stay at the Chateau at least another week. She will be heard in a brand new set of popular songs, sung in her own manner which seems to be taking with the night life lovers.

Max Hilbert is acting as master of ceremonies for the show and the dance music is being played by Gene Wood and band.
