

Winter Season Is Opened With Colorful Party at Indianapolis Athletic Club

Autumn Flowers, Foliage Provide Handsome Setting as 700 Members and Guests Dance in Two Ballrooms.

CLOUDS drifted overhead and castles rose in the air Saturday night at the Indianapolis Athletic Club. Dahlias in orange, brown and variegated colors bloomed beneath the wall lights, shaded by white arches. Dahlias were scattered on the tables as centerpieces, and autumn foliage garlanded the hanging lanterns and pillars in the ballroom foyer.

The "castles in the air" were projected on the ceiling in compliment to Art Kassel and his Kassel in the Air, who provided music for the dancers. The fireplace was concealed by a miniature reproduction of a castle tower, and its twin added atmosphere at the other end of the ballroom.

Some of the 700 guests dined and danced in the lantern room where Louis Lowe's orchestra played. Miss Josephine Madden's red gown swished about her ankles in a mass of deep ruffles. Loops of the material fell over her shoulders.

Miss Charlene Buchanan's gray velvet gown flared out, and an effective color contrast was provided by the wide gold belt, fastened by a large buckle. The pointed neckline in front was edged with pleated ruffles which formed the shoulder straps. Brilliant buttons sparkled down the back of the gown from the edge of the décolletage to the waistline.

Real white carnations circled the neckline of the men's shoulder cape over Mrs. Donald Carter's red sheer gown. Red stripes ran through Mrs. Robert Zaiser's satin gown in candy-stick fashion and red flowers marked the neckline. Mr. and Mrs. Zaiser were at the dance with Mrs. Zaiser's brother, Robert Lee, and Miss Jane Allen, both of Terre Haute; Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, Bloomington; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Browning. They attended the Indiana-Centre football game in Bloomington before the dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Fox entertained their guests at dinner before the party. Their guests included Miss Louise Smart, Louisville; J. L. Isert, Chicago; Messrs. and Mesdames Homer Lathrop, Vernon Law, Lucius French, Ervin Wesley, Frank S. Graham, C. Anthony Jordan and Leonard Young.

Wears Green Taffeta Gown
Miss Harriet Denny came to the party in a green taffeta gown, its peplum edged in narrow cording. In one of the groups of younger guests was Miss Elizabeth Heiskell, whose black net gown was figured. Stripes swirled diagonally across the long-sleeved jacket, fastened at the neckline with brilliant buttons, which marked the cuffs.

Miss Irma Drake's wine velvet gown had full sleeves which were ruffled in at the wrist by tight cuffs. Rhinestone buttons glided down the front of the dress bodice.

Before Mr. and Mrs. Horace P. Hill III went to the Little Lambs Club party at the Columbia Club to direct the "Major Blows Amateur Night" floor show, they entertained guests at dinner. They were Messrs. and Mesdames George T. Parry, George Zeigler, Elijah B. Martindale and Irving Pauvre; Mrs. Conrad Ruckelshaus; Misses Honoria Bacon and Martha Hill, Mrs. R. P. Van Camp, Mrs. Hill's mother; and Oscar Kaelin Jr., R. Stewart Bailey Jr., Frederick Burleigh and Lawrence E. Hill.

Mr. Hill took the role of Major Blows and Mrs. G. B. Jackson was musical director of the cast which included Mr. and Mrs. George H. Denny, Miss Margaret Beeson, Paul R. Matthews, William Kothe, Charles W. Moores, Bobby Ittler, Robert I. Ferriday Jr., William H. Kennedy Jr., Lawrence E. Hill and Mr. Kaelin.

Guests at Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Matthews were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Searle at their home in Golden Hill. Messrs. and Mesdames Charles L. Nicholson, Otto N. Frenzel Jr., John B. Stokely, Gilbert P. Imman and Morris Scott Wadley; Mrs. Arthur W. Grist, Oakhurst Court, Surrey, England; Miss Brownie Miskimen, William N. Wilson and William B. Stokely also were in the party. A rhinestone buckle at the waistline was the only trimming on Mrs. Searle's black point d'esprit gown.

One group which dined at the club included Mrs. Caleb Lodge McKee, Columbus, O.; Mrs. W. D. Kitchen, Miss Mary Alice Hayes, Mrs. Wilbur W. Dark, Mark H. Miller, Harry S. Taylor, James S. Rogan, Norman A. Perry, Frederick A. Clark, Dr. Carleton B. McCulloch and Harry B. Wilson, Jacksonville, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Eaglesfield entertained Mr. and Mrs. Elias C. Atkins, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Davis, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Griffith and Dr. and Mrs. Dudley A. Pfaff at their home before the dance.

"Flower Designs in Old Pattern

Glass."

During the afternoon an exhibit of antique glass will be on display.

Mrs. Edward A. Brown will be hostess for the program.

Consumer Problems Discussed in Voters League Statement

Provision for "real consumer representation in the administration of government policies toward industry and agriculture is one of the most important steps toward solving the problems of the consumer," Mrs. Beatrice Pitney Lamb, New York, declares in a survey, "Government and the Consumer," issued today by the National League of Women Voters.

Asserting that consumers are scattered, unorganized, lacking in leadership, weak in bargaining power and political influence, Mrs. Lamb, daughter of the late U. S. Supreme Court Justice Mahlon Pitney, concludes that their protection can be realized best by a change in emphasis in public thought from production to consumption, and that production and distribution must be carried with consumer's uppermost in mind.

Proceeds will be donated to the Marion County Tuberculosis Association Nutrition Camp at Bridgeport.
