

FLORIDA COMING BACK STRONGER, JOHNSON SAYS

State of Varied Resources Offers Cheap Living, Mild Climate.

BY HUGH S. JOHNSON (Copyright, 1935, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

ATLANTA, Nov. 22.—Florida is coming back stronger than ever. She suffered from a double action boom-and-bust. The economic whoopee in land and lots was all her own. It left as much local wreckage as the 1929 fantasy and disaster. Before she could recover from that the world-wide business typhoon struck her.

They know what depressions are down there. But getting both barrels that way was something of a blessing in disguise. The first one punctured a lot of false values, liquidated a good deal of debt, and left the state less of a load of these barnacles which are slowing recovery in other places.

After this experience it is coming back, and in my opinion on a sounder basis than any of the many places I visited on this trip. Furthermore, the surface of its possibilities has hardly been skimmed. They could easily have another boom—little as they like that prospect.

The beauty of this situation is balance. It is a state of varied resources, from such little known but important industries as sponges and phosphate rock to the two greatest enterprises, citrus fruits and tourists. Never underestimate the tourists. They form one of the greatest of our industries. This state has a lion's share.

People are apt to think of that only in terms of the swank of Miami and Palm Beach. They bring in millions, but a bigger business is of a more homespun sort—all over the state. Living is very cheap and

COMPLETES I. U. WORK

An Indianapolis resident since he was 14, David Hing Jung (above), a native of China, has completed his Indiana University work and has received a Ph. D. in chemistry. Soon he will sail to his native country to enter industry there.

There is no winter. Quite apart from the "tin lizzie" gypsy tourists, there is a very large "sojourning" population—people from elsewhere, living well on tiny incomes.

If it weren't that we all have a depression complex which prevents our recognizing recovery when we see it, I would say that the depression is over in Florida right now. There is still some unemployment. There always will be. But somehow people get along and this, I think, is the best "somehow" state in the Union.

MOLESTER IS HUNTED

Two Police Squads Assigned to South Side Search.

Two police squads were assigned to the South Side today to hunt for a man who recently has been molesting young girls. Last night he grabbed another victim. She was not hurt.
