

HOOSIER SALON PRE-VIEW SET; JURY IS NAMED

Paintings and Other Works of Art to Be Shown on Jan. 25.

The pre-view of the twelfth annual Hoosier Salon is to be held at the Marshall Field Galleries in Chicago Saturday night, Jan. 25. This art exhibit each year attracts thousands of visitors not only from Indiana but the entire Middle West.

The jury which is to pass on this year's awards of $2000 includes Karl Buehr, Miss Elizabeth Haseltine, Holger Jensen, Walter Krawiec, Gasper J. Ruffolo, and Ralph Fletcher Seymour, with Mrs. Lawrence J. Lindsay as lay member. Judging starts the following Monday.

Thus far entries have been received from almost every section of the United States and it is believed this will be the largest exhibition ever held. Last date for entries is Jan. 17.

A special feature of this year's salon is to be a memorial room containing a progressive exhibition of the life works of the late Gaar Williams.

Award for Sculpture
The room will contain drawings by Mr. Williams, an exhibit of the furnishings of his studio, the first drawing book he ever used and a number of historical objects which were used in his cartoons. Mrs. Frank P. Hummel, Chicago, is to be special hostess in this room.

Among the prizes are the John C. Shaffer $500 award for the outstanding picture and the Mrs. Charles V. Hickox $300 prize for the outstanding work of sculpture.

Other prizes are: For the outstanding landscape in oil, Thomas Meek Butler memorial of $200; for the best Indiana landscape in oil by a native Indiana man who is resident of the state, the Edward Lester Memorial of $200; for the best autumn landscape in oil, the Frank F. Hummel Memorial of $200; for the best landscape in oil portraying a beauty spot along the route of the Illinois Central Railroad in Indiana, the Lawrence A. Downs prize of $100.

Awards for Oil Paintings
For the outstanding portrait in oil the Indianapolis Star offers $100; for the best marine in oil, the Daughters of Indiana have posted $100; for the second best work in any medium submitted by an instructor in a Catholic university, college or high school, the Peter C. Reilly prize of $75; for the outstanding portrait of a child, the Orphan Annie prize of $100 by Harold Gray; for the outstanding work of art by a woman artist, the Muncie Star gives $100; for the outstanding still life in the exhibition, any medium, Mr. Gray gives $50; for the outstanding water color, Col. George T. Buckingham gives $50, and for the best group of etchings, Frank S. Cunningham gives $50.

Selection purchase prizes are the Tri Kappa Sorority of Indiana, the Chicago Associate Chapter of Tri Kappa, and the Hoosier Salon Patrons' Association.

Shelby County Sheriff Locks Self in Vault

Woman Clerk of Court, Only Person Who Knew Combination, Opens Door in Time to Save Official.

Times Special
SHELBYVILLE, Jan. 9.—Miss Nellie Hale, petite and modest Shelby County clerk, enacted an "Alias Jimmy Valentine" role yesterday for the benefit of Sheriff Ralph Brown, after the sheriff imprisoned himself involuntarily in a vault. The vault is in the old First National Bank Building, which is now the temporary courthouse of Shelby County.

The narrow vault, which has steel doors at each end and is equipped with combination locks, adjoins the new office of the sheriff. Sheriff Brown and his deputies moved into the bank building only last Monday, and because of other business the sheriff delayed inspection of his new surroundings until yesterday.

When he stroled into the vault, the door, in some unexplained manner, closed behind him. The other door already was locked. Sheriff Brown became worried when, after he had shouted for help, it developed that neither his deputies nor any other men in the vicinity could open either door to the vault.

After the sheriff had been imprisoned for about 15 minutes and had begun to gasp for air, some one recalled that Miss Hale held the combination lock secret. She was summoned and liberated Sheriff Brown in just a few seconds. "I've never been any place where drafts were scarcer," said the sheriff as he made his exit.

STATE DENTAL BODY TO MEET HERE SUNDAY

Annual Midwinter Gathering to Be Conducted at Lincoln Hotel.

Growth of 30 per cent in membership of the Indiana State Dental Association is to be reported at the annual midwinter conference of association officers to be held Sunday in the Lincoln Hotel. Dr. A. R. Ross, Lafayette, secretary, is to submit the report. Dr. Edward L. Mitchell, president, is to be in charge of the meeting.

Dr. Ross also is to submit plans for another one-third increase in membership this year. Arrangements are to be made for the association's annual convention to be held in Indianapolis May 18, 19 and 20. Presidents and secretaries of the 14 district groups which make up the state body have been invited to attend the meeting.

Invitations have been extended visiting dentists by the Indianapolis Dental Society to attend its midwinter clinics Monday at the Indiana University School of Dentistry. Dental school alumni are to be hosts at a dinner at night.

In addition to Drs. Ross and Mitchell reports are to be submitted Sunday by Dr. William Bogle, Vincennes, treasurer; Dr. R. C. Shurr, Valparaiso, executive committee man; Dr. H. J. Longcamp, Aurora, supervisor of clinics; Dr. G. D. Timmons and Dr. Douglas White, Indianapolis, business manager and editor of The Journal of the association; Dr. B. K. Westfall, Indianapolis, master of exhibits; Dr. R. I. Blakeman, Indianapolis, health council member; Dr. Mary H. Westfall, education and oral hygiene.
