

LONDON CROWD VOWS LOYALTY TO NEW RULER

King Edward Watches From Palace as Thousands Swarm Streets.

ancient "city," began a salute of 62 guns, one shot for each year of the King's age plus the sovereign's salute—his first—of 21 guns.

King Watches From Window

When the first gun boomed in Hyde Park and at the Tower, Sir Gerald Wollaston, garter principal of arms for England, stepped forward.

Wollaston held aloft a parchment and from it read the proclamation which declared the "high and mighty Prince Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David" to have inherited, solely and rightfully, the rule of his father.

Edward VIII looked on from a window of the palace, unobserved by the crowd.

Pay Tribute to Late King

SANDRINGHAM, England, Jan. 22.—Villagers and the roughly clad country men and women bade a sad farewell to their neighbor and squire, King George, today. Most of them had known him personally.

The King's body lay white-shrouded, his hands crossed on his chest, in its flag-covered coffin on a trestle in the middle of the chancel floor before the altar of St. Mary Magdalene Church. On this spot the caskets of his mother, Queen Alexandra, and his elder brother, the Duke of Clarence—whose death in January, 1892, made him heir to the throne—had reposed.

Gamekeepers Are Sentries

Over the coffin was draped the royal standard, the only sign that a king was lying there. On top of the coffin, in the center, was a floral cross surrounded with white chrysanthemums, orchids and pink carnations, from Queen Mary.

At each corner, with his back to the coffin, stood a serious-faced forester or gamekeeper from the royal estate, as sentry.

Behind the altar the rays of a pale cold sun broke through the stained glass windows shedding rich colors over the bier.

The villagers formed into two lines to pass on each side of the coffin, passing so close that their sleeves brushed the royal standard. They bowed as they passed.

Queen Mary Visits Church

Tomorrow the body will be escorted to London by soldiers and members of the royal family, to lie in state at Westminster Hall until Tuesday, to be honored by a funeral service at Westminster Abbey, by a state procession to Paddington railway station and by burial in the Royal Chapel at Windsor. Today it was in simple semi-state for those of the late King's friends in the neighborhood.

Queen Mary and her only daughter, the Princess royal, both in deep mourning, walked for 20 minutes in the gardens of Sandringham House while their neighbors filed past the King's coffin.

At midnight last night, Queen Mary walked with two ladies in waiting the dark half mile from Sandringham House to the church. She went into the chancel and prayed for five minutes. Rising, she stood looking at the coffin a few minutes and walked slowly back to Sandringham House.

Mrs. Mary George Alleges Deception in Ante-Nuptial Agreement.

Suit is on file today in Superior Court to set aside an ante-nuptial agreement between John A. George, president of the Indianapolis Coal Co., now dead, and the widow, Mrs. Mary Frances George.

The complaint alleges that Mr. George, "with intent to deceive," induced Mrs. George to sign the agreement, whereby she was to receive a life income from an apartment house owned by Mr. George, after his death, and that she could not receive any other property, either personal or real, from the estate. It is alleged that the property does not provide any income for Mrs. George. Defendants are the Fidelity Trust Co., administrator of the estate, and Ernest George, John A. George Jr., and Carson George, heirs.

PARENTS HEAR FRANK TALKS ON CHILD TRAINING

Trouble Not Always With 'Problem' Youngster, Is Doctor's View.

Indianapolis physicians today put aside scientific medical terms to present to members of the Indianapolis Council of Parents and Teachers in simple form medical facts intended to aid them in improving child health and training.

Speaking before the annual health conference sponsored by the P-T-A in Ayres auditorium, they dealt with adolescent problems, child management, physical defects of children and spoke in criticism of certain claims made in behalf of food, drugs and cosmetics.

Prof. Harger Speaks

"The modern Barnum has deserted the canvas top for the microphone," Dr. R. N. Harger, professor of biochemistry and toxicology at the Indiana University School of Medicine, said. "Accompanied by a snappy radio program, he ballyhooes about vitamins and acidity, antiseptics and beauty soaps. Frequently his product contains almost no vitamin."

Dr. E. Rogers Smith, who spoke on behavior problems in child training, advanced the theory that, in most instances, teachers, parents and other relatives are the cause of apparent problems.

"In our effort to direct children, let us remember that most of our problems show us that training has to be directed toward parents and teachers, rather than toward the child," he said.

Child Courts Criticized

Attacking ordinary juvenile courts, Dr. Smith said "nothing could be more tragic than dragging a juvenile delinquent before a judge."

"Only too frequently this judge has no knowledge of psychiatry or any ability to consider the problem at hand. These embryonic criminals are not show pieces or groups of specimens to be herded into a courtroom, stared at, littered at by spectators and courtroom attaché brow-beaten and cross-examined by tight school lawyers," Dr. Smith said. "A clinic or hospital would fill the need far better."

Walter Dockstetter, 1145 Udell-st., reported that thieves carried away clothing valued at $227 after entering the unlocked door of his home. Two rings valued at $35 were stolen from the home of R. L. Jenkins, 1523 Spruce-st.

LONG MACHINE KEEPS CONTROL

Landslide Victory Indicated in Incomplete Returns in Louisiana.

By United Press
NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 22.—Huey P. Long's political machine apparently was confirmed in absolute control of Louisiana for four more years today as incomplete returns from yesterday's Democratic primary indicated a landslide victory for the machine's candidates.

Returns came in slowly from the Long-controlled election boards throughout the state. Charges of wholesale fraud at the polls had been made even before the precincts closed.

The count in 383 precincts of the state's 1048, including 261 in New Orleans, gave Appellate Judge Richard W. Leche, Long candidate for Governor, 128,117 against 42,670 for Congressman Cleveland Dear, the anti-Long candidate.

The apparently successful Long candidates for major offices were: Gov. O. K. Allen, titular leader, for Long's unexpired Senate term; Allen Ellender, for the six-year Senate term; Earl K. Long, the late Senator's brother, for Lieutenant Governor.

CITY 'SOUP KITCHEN' IS NOW OUT OF RED

Auto License Fees Responsible for Lifting $2000 Debt.

The municipal "soup kitchen," 227 E. Maryland-st., is out of the red for the first time in many months, and the city fathers today are heaving sighs of relief, pleasure and relaxation.

The reason is that the city's share of auto license fee operations in branches of the city is $5500, and the kitchen had been in the red only a little more than $2000.

DENTIST GIVES AWAY FORMULA BANNING PAIN

Generosity of Discoverer in Revealing Secret Is Hailed by Science.

stance, known as a "desensitizer," Dr. Hartman said the university had decided "not to take the patent up but to give it free to the world."

Before announcement of the discovery on Nov. 29, 1925, it had been tested and found successful in nearly 500 volunteer cases, on which other methods produced "almost unbearable pain." Dr. Hartman announced. It produces no after effects. The pulp of the tooth remains normal and healthy.

By virtue of this gift and the simplicity of the formula, beginning today every qualified dentist may prepare and apply it to patients.

Three Simple Ingredients

Dr. Hartman said the "desensitizer" contains three simple chemical ingredients—ether, alcohol and thymol. Thymol is a white crystalline substance of a pleasant aromatic odor and strong antiseptic properties.

The discoverer said that for 18 years he conducted research on the theory that the dentin, the bone-like substance underlying tooth enamel, was not capable of communicating sensation.

Two years ago, he discovered a new substance in dentine. He subsequently developed the chemical which, when applied to the dentin, will destroy a tooth's capacity for pain for 20 minutes to an hour, during which time virtually any cavity may be prepared for filling. The new chemical takes effect from one to one and a half minutes after application.

A Woman's argument for a Cork tip

- NICER
Because a cork tip resists lipstick.
- CLEANER
Because a cork tip prevents loose ends—doesn't stick to lips.
- FIRMER
Because a cork tip doesn't get soggy when moistened.

What is more unsightly than lipstick on a cigarette tip? Why not avoid it? Try Tareyton—There's something about them you'll like. The cool, clean cork tip is so much nicer—firmer. It doesn't get soggy—even when moistened. It adds the neat finishing touch to Tareyton's finer, milder tobaccos—quality that ordinary cigarettes cannot afford.
