

BEHIND THE MIKE

Radio Should Train and Develop Its Own Stars, Eddie Cantor Declares

COMEDIAN CANTOR has something to get off his chest about this radio business, and since Eddie ought to know the talent end of the radio business pretty well, his opinions are important.

"I read with interest," Eddie writes, "that radio needs new personalities. Radio does need new talent, new blood. If no new comedians were to appear in the next few years the present comedians would simply sit back and do nothing, feeling secure in their positions. Granting that there is such a need, how can we explain the fact that it is not being filled? The explanation, I think, is that radio lacks patience. Talent can be developed but it is a slow and gradual process. It can't be done overnight."

"New performers in radio are all babies. You don't expect a baby to do the mile in 1 minute 10 seconds flat. He has to crawl before he can walk, and he can run."

"Major Bowes is doing a swell job more or less. He has a lot of opportunities to people in the last year than all radio has given since its advent. Yet all where are all the people who have come out of his amateur hour? What happens to them after they leave the units? It's a soft spot to step into the program as an amateur when the public knows you're an amateur. Competing with professionals is something else again."

Cantor

"Can you imagine an amateur competing with such skillful and professional entertainers as Lawrence Tibbett, Richard Crooks, Frank Parker, Burns and Allen and Jack Benny?"

"Yet, under the present arrangement, he would have to do so and he would be expected to make good. I claim there is no substitute for experience. You can't buy it and you can't get it quickly."

"If I were head of both radio chains, this is what I would do. Finding people who showed talent, I wouldn't put them on the air right away. They would be like green apples, and people would get cramps from listening to them. You must let the fruit ripen. I would give the potential stars bits on different programs, let them learn the microphone technique. I would have expensive writers who would do nothing but write for prospective comedians. Good material would give the young comedian confidence."

"Another thing I would do is eliminate the big build-ups. Nobody on the air has sufficient talent to live up to the glowing descriptions that announcers give."

"Sometimes I think some of the sponsors should have their heads opened up so others could see what makes them permit such extravagant introductions before the performers have made good. The audience is not impressed with such statements. It is antagonized by them. The public is never in sympathy with the great man. It sympathizes with the under dog."

"That is why I myself in my programs prefer to be the subject of cruel jokes rather than the person who delivers them. The adjectives of announcers describing an entertainer are the silver collar and the platinum chain around the neck of the under dog. Take them away—and he's a mutt. The public loves the mutt."

"I believe there is plenty of talent available if the developing process is handled properly. For instance, two Saturdays ago I heard a girl sing and realized she had a voice. Instead of putting her on the air immediately I sent her to Al Siegel for a few weeks of coaching. With training she will be a hit, whereas if she went on the air now officials would say she was N. G."

"PERSONALLY, I have always welcomed competition. I have brought new people into my own programs. Look at Parkyakakas. He represents a new voice, a new face. He is an excellent comedian and often makes good suggestions. Sometimes I've been asked why I give others the funny lines in my shows. My answer is that I can stand competition, and when the day comes that I am afraid of competition I'll step out."

There is plenty of proof for Eddie's statements. Several of today's best comedians started with his guidance, many of them back in vaudeville days.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt is to honor Boy Scouts at 3:35 this afternoon with an address over a combined CBS-NBC chain (WFBM). The President will speak from the White House after being presented by Walter W. Head, president of the Boy Scouts. After this talk, Dr. James E. West, chief Scout executive of the United States, is to speak from New York.

Dr. West has been active in Scout work since its founding in this country. In its 26 years 7,000,000 men and boys have been members of the Boy Scouts of America. There are now 1,300,000 active members. Local observance began last night with a Father and Son banquet by Troop 44, led by Scoutmaster J. J. McGowan.

Jean Rogers, film actress, Friday announced her engagement to Henry Wallington. NBC announced, and said they would be married in April. Engagement presents from Mr. Wallington were a diamond engagement ring and a platinum bracelet.

A new series, "The World of Science," a dramatization of the war that never ceases, the battle of scientists against insects, diseases and other enemies of mankind, is to be broadcast over NBC-WFBM (WIRE) at 9:30 tonight.

The first program is to be devoted to a man's war against insects. Sylvester Viereck, author and editor, will explain what is being done by the government and private agencies to lessen the millions of dollars in damages caused annually by insects to foods, crops and cotton.

"RECOVERY or Reprisal?" is to be Col. Frank Knox's subject for an NBC-WJBK broadcast at 9:30 tonight. The Chicago publisher is a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for President.

Sigmund Romberg week is to be celebrated by networks and independent stations beginning tomorrow, honoring the composer's twenty-fifth year of song writing. Three orchestras, Ray Noble, Richard Himber and Guy Lombardo, are to open the celebration program at 1 tomorrow afternoon on NBC-WJBK (WIRE).

A fractured knee cap will keep Ethel Barrymore from her engagement on Ben Bernie's Tuesday evening broadcast. Miss Barrymore recently fell, and now is confined to her bed. Bernie hopes to present the stage veteran on a future program.

Tampa night is to be heard on Major Bowes' amateur hour tomorrow night at 7, NBC-WFAP (WFLW), and to convey its appreciation to the Major, the Tampa Chamber of Commerce sent him a four and one-half-foot alligator. "Tampa" caused considerable anxiety in the Major's office each time he switched his tail in his narrow wooden box, but now he is safely (for the office staff) residing at the Aquarium.

TONIGHT the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra is to begin a series of nine broadcasts of its regular concerts from the stage of Emery Auditorium, with Eugene Goossens, conductor, and E. Robert Schmitt, French pianist, as soloist. WSAI and the Mutual, Yankee and Canadian networks are to carry the program at 7:30.

Dr. James G. Heller, who writes the orchestra's program notes, is to act as commentator and will share the spotlight as the composer of "Four Sketches" for orchestra, which are to be given their world premiere tonight. Two concertos, the D minor by Bach and Prokofiev's Third, are to be played. Schmitt's contribution, and the orchestra is to play the First Symphony of Beethoven and Berlioz's "Hungarian March."

Listeners are to hear two of the world's finest cellists tomorrow when Gregor Piatigorsky and Feuermann are guest stars on the New York Philharmonic Symphony and General Motors program. Piatigorsky is to play the Saint-Saens A Minor Concerto with the orchestra under Hans Lange, via CBS (WFBM) at 2; Feuermann's selections are to be taken from the works of Popper, Dvorak, Saint-Saens and is to be heard at 9, with WIRE carrying the NBC-WFAP program.

FEATURED pianists on the week-end broadcasts are to be the Polish artist, Jan Smerecin, playing the Chopin F Minor Concerto with the Boston Symphony Orchestra at 7:15 tonight, NBC-WJBK; Henrietta Schumann, with the NBC-WJBK Music Hall program at 11:30 tomorrow morning; and Alexander Semmler in the sixth of 26 Beethoven sonata programs, playing the Op. 31, No. 3, at 9:35 tomorrow morning through CBS.

Nino Martini's selections with Kostelanetz' Orchestra and chorus at 8 tonight, CBS (WFBM), are to include "Amarilli" by Gacini, Florentine composer of the early seventeenth century and one of the "fathers of opera." Grete Stueckgold, Metropolitan Opera soprano, will be soloist on the Ford program at 8 tomorrow night, with WFBM carrying the CBS broadcast.

Young Polish Tenor to Be Heard on Air

New York, Feb. 8.—Jan Klepura, Polish tenor of operatic and motion picture fame, is to be introduced to radio on Paul Whiteman's Musical Varieties at 8:45 tomorrow night, NBC-WJBK is to carry the program.

Mr. Klepura is to sing four selections, three of them from his motion pictures.

The young tenor began his operatic career in Warsaw, and sang in Paris, Vienna, Rome, Berlin and London. He was brought to Hollywood last year for his screen debut in "Give Us This Night," with Gladys Swarthout.

Defender of New Deal Is to Talk Here Feb. 15

Senator Barkley Is Invited by State Democratic Editorial Group.

A lashing oratorical assault on President Roosevelt's critics is scheduled to be delivered by Senator: Alben Barkley, Kentucky, one of the New Deal's ablest spokesmen, when he comes here Feb. 15 to make the principal address at the Indiana Democratic Editorial Association's mid-winter meeting.

Senator Barkley, Democratic national keynote at the Chicago convention in 1932, has been a vigorous defender of national Administration acts and is expected to deliver a stinging rebuke to one or several of the President's most persistent opponents.

Ticket sale for the mid-winter meeting already is 65 per cent ahead of last year and an overflow attendance apparently is assured, officers said. United States Senators Frederick Van Nuys and Sherman Minton are to make short talks, and Gov. McNutt is to introduce Senator Barkley.

HOFFMAN FEUD BOOSTS HOPES OF DEMOCRATS

G. O. P. Split Assures State for F. D. R. Is Prediction of Party Chiefs.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 8.—New Jersey Democratic chiefs believe that the case of Bruno Richard Hauptmann has killed the reputed aspirations of Gov. Harold G. Hoffman to become President and may contribute powerfully to re-election of President Roosevelt.

Reports were current today that several representatives of the Democratic national organization have visited Trenton, Camden and Newark since Gov. Hoffman shouldered a fight for Hauptmann. They report that the Republican organization is hopelessly split, and assured their superiors that Mr. Roosevelt will carry the state.

Gov. Hoffman, building a powerful personal organization in G. O. P. ranks, touched off a long-simmering intra-party fight by his intervention for Hauptmann. When he visited the condemned Lindbergh baby killer last October Democratic legislators pounced on him with righteous rage. Such conduct was unseemly, they said.

When Gov. Hoffman voted, as a member of the Court of Pardons, to commute Hauptmann's death sentence to imprisonment, some leaders of his own party ventured warnings. Almost all the newspapers of the state condemned his reprieve.

The Republican State Central Committee chose the moment to bring into the open its opposition to Mr. Hoffman's independence. The Hauptmann case offered a good opening for a test of strength.

In secret session Wednesday, with 23 of 42 committee members present, a majority voted to establish a permanent headquarters and assume direction of party policies, patronage and finances.

Gov. Hoffman retorted: "If a fight is demanded there will be a fight."

New Jersey has voted for a Democratic President only twice since 1900.

MAINE COUNTY HAPPY

All Taxes Paid, Bonds Redeemed, $13,000 in Treasury Is Reason.

PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 8.—It looks like a happy year for Cumberland County. Every city and town in the county has paid its taxes; $450,000 in bonds were paid off during 1935 and there is $13,000 in cash in the treasury.
