

Jug Band Is Big Hit at Lambs

'Leap Year Gambols' of Club Afford Fine Entertainment.

BY BEATRICE BURGAN

JUST an ear for music and a sense of rhythm, are all the Lambs Club jug band members claim as qualifications for entertainers. But that's enough, Lambs members declare.

Orchids to Mr. and Mrs. Harlan J. Hadley and Mr. and Mrs. H. Clair Kimber for gathering together the band. We predict their return appearance before the season is over. University of Pennsylvania alumni remember Eugene C. Felt, a new Lamb, as the "female" hit of Mask and Wig Club shows during his college days. He earned honors again in the "Leap Year Gambols," Saturday at the Columbia Club by playing the banjo as a feature of the band. Mr. Felt was on crutches, because of a broken ankle.

Mrs. Felt and Francis Wells, also new members, proved their ability as accompanists. Mr. Kimber, Frank A. Troop, John B. Stokely, Walter J. Hubbard and Charles A. Rockwood completed the ensemble and played everything, including kazooes, accordions, double ukeleles, slide whistles and sweet potatoes. Mr. Wells is a friend of Hoagy Carmichael, former Indiana University student, now enjoying success as a New York music composer. It is said Mr. Wells was one who encouraged "Hoagy" with his career.

The Leap Year dance novelty with Bachelor Club members as the male chorus, brought much applause. Misses Honoria Bacon, Brownie Miskimen, Marguerite Diener, Evadne Hibben, Catherine Whicker and Katharine Malott Brown made proposals directed to the Bachelors. William Coleman Atkins, Oscar M. Kaelin Jr., R. Stewart Bailey, Hiram W. McKee, Wilson Mothershead and Russell Langenkamp were the victims.

Before Mrs. Felt and Mr. Wells played a duet, Mrs. Robert S. Stempel and Caleb L. York put in an appearance as Apache dancers. Mrs. Hadley retired from the spotlight in favor of her daughter, Barbara Ann Hadley, who danced a syncopated number. Mr. Hadley was the announcer, and presented many talented new members.

Mrs. Hadley's crepe gown was like a breath of spring—a riot of color in floral designs. Harmonizing flowers were bunched at the neckline.

Mrs. William H. Mooney's gown of Kelly green had circles of rhinestones to the knees, where chiffon swirled out to the floor. Larger circles accentuated the waistline.

Gold leaves in Mrs. Ralph Vonnegut's hair harmonized with the ornaments at the neckline of her blue crystalline gown. Gathered at the waistline caught a streamer of the material which flowed into a train. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alex Durham, in town for the week-end to visit Mrs. Durham's parents, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Robert H. Tyndall, attended.

Theta Club Is to Elect

After election of officers Saturday, Kappa Alpha Theta Alumnae Club members are to discuss arrangements for the annual state luncheon and dance to be held March 14 at the Columbia Club. Mrs. Emory Baxter, 3678 N. Pennsylvania-st., is to be meeting hostess. Mrs. Floyd Mannon is to talk on "Behind the American Scene." Hostess chairman is Mrs. Robert Axtell, who is to be assisted by Mesdames Walter Stuhlrehr, Fred Witherspoon, Marcia Orme Murphy, Arthur Baynham, Charles Alwes, Ralph Nessler, Claude E. Summer, A. W. Sutton and Misses Gretchen Mueller, Edith Silver, Marjorie Spencer, Margaret Axtell and Martha Sparks.

COLUMBIA CLUB WOMEN TO DINE

Women Columbia Club members and their guests are to be entertained at a luncheon bridge tomorrow at the club. Arrangements were made by Mrs. L. W. Mohlenkamp. Mrs. Mohlenkamp was assisted by Mesdames C. E. Mason, E. G. Smith, J. E. Griffith, J. H. Kemper, C. E. Wilkinson, Grove V. E. Isenberger, Robert H. Ellis and Charles Seidnicker. The luncheon is one of the monthly events scheduled for the month. Mrs. Mohlenkamp and her guests include the annual breakfast dinner, in honor of members who have belonged to the club 25 years or more.

A Day's Menu

BREAKFAST—Orange juice, cereal, cream, country sausage, buckwheat cakes, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON—Bouillon, Melba toast, olives, radishes, celery, fruit salad, Parker House rolls, cheese, cake, milk, coffee.

DINNER—Salisbury steak with horse-radish cream sauce, French fried potatoes, creamed onions, grapefruit salad, ginger pudding, milk, coffee.

Six Stars in Lambs Club 'Leap Year Gambols'

Miss Burgan

1. Misses Evadne Hibben, Marguerite Diener, Honoria Bacon and Brownie Miskimen (left to right), did their bit to enliven the Lambs Club floor show Saturday night at the Columbia Club. They danced and sang in a Leap Year dance novelty.

2. Mrs. Robert S. Stempel and Caleb L. York put on stripes and checks and danced an Apache number for the entertainment of the Lambs Club members and guests.

MY DAY

By Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON—We reached Hyde Park Friday afternoon and woke up Saturday morning to a gorgeous day. Nothing to do but catch up on bundles and bundles of mail, and prepare some speeches. But work, when you have no interruptions, when you can look out at the landscape and in at the open fire, does not seem like work.

We went out morning and afternoon for good brisk walks in the snow, but found that we had to be prepared, as we walked across the fields, to sink half way up to our knees every so often.

We left Hyde Park reluctantly at 2 o'clock and spent a most thrilling afternoon. I had promised to give a trophy which my husband had presented to the Norway Ski Club for the winner of the tournament, held by the club at Beason, N. Y. The setting is lovely with a wooded hill down which the slide and the jump have been made. The contestants were really very good jumpers. Just before we left one man jumped 51½ meters. The cup was won by one of the members of the Norway Ski Club, Olaf Aasen, who told me he had begun skiing as a very little boy.

I am afraid those of us who have not learned as little children will have to give up all hopes of ever soaring like a bird from a high jump, twirling our arms, landing smoothly and then scooting swiftly down the rest of the slide.

It is fascinating to watch and I am very glad that more and more people are taking up skiing. They tell me people have been coming up to Beason all winter and to many other places, near and even far, from New York City.

We left at 5, and drove down the Bronx River-pkwy revelling in a lovely sunset which turned the snow a rosy pink at times. That parkway is a joy, except here and there where the gas stations and the restaurant signs are reminiscent of the main highway.

I never felt more keenly than I did today what a pity it is that we can not free the borders of our roads from these perpetual signs. They really spoil the landscape, and somehow it seems we should be ingenious enough to find a way to attract to our wares without this particular type of advertising.
