

Milady Is Worrying Over Garb

Sun Can't Be Trusted Yet
When It Comes to Spring Clothes.

BY BEATRICE BURGAN

Milady is distrustful of an unexpected balmy day. As she starts out on a shopping trip or to a luncheon, she looks longingly at her new spring suit and asks: Can the sun be trusted to shine through the afternoon? She then decides, perhaps, it is safer to wear her fur coat.

Sometimes she compromises and meets spring halfway by topping her ensemble with a bright bonnet or adds a gay colored scarf or a frilly collar to a dark gown.

Mrs. Paul V. McNutt has selected a jaunty blue felt hat with a red veil to add the color she feels appropriate for a spring-like day, and wears a tan broadtail coat in preference to a lighter wrap.

Mrs. Louis Haerle had a wine and white striped scarf knotted about the neck of her wine knit dress, as she lunched yesterday with Mrs. Robert B. Failey.

Mrs. Frank B. Shields, who drove into town from her country home, Foxcliff, near Martinsville, had a fresh looking white collar frilling the neckline of a black dress, worn under a sable coat.

Mrs. Charles Sulzbacher, New York, visiting her mother, Mrs. Charles Smith, joined friends at luncheon who envied her suntan, acquired on her honeymoon in Bermuda and Florida. Her brown felt hat, with creased crown and baby blue bands, provided a touch of spring to her brown and gray ensemble.

Mrs. Perry Lesh's gray topcoat blends with a gray checked jacket and plain colored skirt.

Nurse Drive Is Outlined

A drive of the Public Health Nursing Association to obtain 365 endowments of $100 each was outlined today by Mrs. Alexander G. Cravins, board member to members of the Auxiliary of the Railway Mail Association at the Woman's Department Club.

The endowments would pay a year's salary of one nurse in perpetuity, Mrs. Cravins said. The speaker, appearing on a health program, told of the memorial fund for Mrs. Abby Hunt Bryce, P. H. N. A. originator. The fund is used for nurses' education.

Details of the P. H. N. A. work and the teaching center were explained to the group.

Dinner, cards and dancing to-night are to conclude the Railway Mail Association's monthly program. Mrs. John Ladd is dinner chairman and Mrs. B. H. Beard program chairman. Mrs. Ralph Cradick is to preside.

Miss Alice Sargent and Miss Constance Davey, accompanied by Mrs. H. L. Sunderland, are to provide a musical program.

Tri Kappas to Aid Occupational Therapy Work at Roberts School

Proceeds are to be used to buy materials for occupational therapy work at the James E. Roberts School. Mrs. Ross Halgren is committee chairman.

The local Associate Chapter of other cities, and is the only one at the base of blackboards. It also is to be equipped with elevators.

The school is being built on the northwest corner of the Technical High School campus, 10th and Oriental-sts., at a cost of approximately $218,000. Of this amount, $65,000 is from a bequest of the late Mrs. Henrietta West Roberts; $55,000 from a bond issue, and $98,000 from a Federal grant.

Of modernistic design, the school was planned after board members and architects visited schools built for similar purposes, and is to include special features for physically handicapped children. The L-shaped building is to be 224 feet long, and 64 feet wide, and is to be constructed so that additional units can be added.

A large play room is to be constructed in the basement of the two-story building, which is also to be used as a sun deck. Handrails are to be built along ramps, stairways and the auditorium is to be equipped with cots. In addition to a kitchen and lunchroom, there are to be rooms for physicians and nurses. A rhythm room also is to be provided. The building is to be constructed with large areas of glass supported by sash.

Pupils are to be transported in automobiles. A drive is to be constructed with an entrance from 10th-st and exit on Oriental-st. A porte cochere is to be built to shield pupils in bad weather.

Interest on a $25,000 trust fund from the Roberts' estate is to be used to equip the school. The building was planned under the supervision of W. A. Hacker, assistant school superintendent. Approximately 175 children are on the school's waiting list.

A president, secretary and two directors are to be elected.

Tells About Narcotics

The extent of the use of narcotics may indicate the future stability of the nation, according to Dr. Ada Schweitzer, who is in charge of a health project at the Y. W. C. A.

"It would be interesting to know how many people in Indianapolis consume their annual quota of 1000 cigarettes per capita, 200 ounces of alcohol and 1000 grains of caffeine," Dr. Schweitzer told members of the self-expression class last night at the Y. W. C. A. headquarters.

"Formation of the narcotic habit is something like taking a trip to a destination from which a person is less and less able to find his way back," she declared. The proper use has alleviated much human suffering, she said, but abuse has caused untold misery.

Class members gave short talks following dinner on "Happenings of the Day" and "A Cruise Around the World." Mrs. Leo K. Fesler is the teacher.

ORPHANS' GROUP PLANS LUNCHEON

Mesdames Frank Brinkman, Willbur Danner, Walter Moening, Herbert Eickhoff and E. H. Folkingen are to be hostesses at 12:30 Friday for the Lutheran Orphans' Welfare Association luncheon. The luncheon meeting is to be at the home, 3310 E. Washington-st.

Proceeds are to go to the fund used to assist children at the home.

DISCARDS LOSERS TO WIN

Today's Contract Problem

North is playing the contract at three no trump. The opening spade lead is won in dummy. Declarer tries to establish a trick in diamonds by playing low from dummy. East wins with the queen. Can the contract be made, with a club return?

tables in the tournament in which it arose.

South's opening three heart bid was made for the purpose of attempting to prevent the opponents from arriving at their proper contract.

Against the four spade contract, South opened the king of hearts and followed with the ace. At this point declarer made the play that assured his contract. He refused to chance an over-ruff by North and discarded a losing club.

South returned the jack of hearts and again Metivier discarded a losing club. If North should discard clubs also, declarer would win the fourth trick and, by ruffing one round of clubs, establish the club suit and claim the remainder of the tricks.

If South should return a fourth heart on which North could discard his third club, declarer would trump it in his own hand and, after playing three rounds of spades, could set up his club suit in the same manner.

If North should decide to discard diamonds and hold his clubs, declarer merely would proceed to ruff out all his losing clubs, to make his contract.

Progressive Study Is Not Experiment Now, Tudor Teacher Says

Miss I. Hilda Stewart Reports Convention Delegates Convened With Fitting Curriculum to Children.

Progressive education no longer is an experiment, but a recognized achievement, Miss I. Hilda Stewart, Tudor Hall School principal, said today. Miss Stewart just returned from a convention of the Progressive Education Association in Chicago, attended by 4000 teachers.

"Delegates were concerned with changes taking place in different age levels of children, to determine the curriculum best fitting their needs," she said.

The keynote was struck, she pointed out, by Dr. Harold O. Rugg, Teachers' College University, who said the child must become honestly receptive to whatever experience he has. Clear seeing is the task, whatever the medium of expression. The child must put down with body, hands and spoken word whatever he sees and feels.

The teacher must stay with the job until it has been done, and the product is as near what the child sees and feels as he can make it.

Interested in 8 to 15 Group

Miss Stewart particularly was interested in meetings concerning children from 8 to 15, in which discussions to determine the validity of art experience and its use in self-cultivation of the child were presented. Burton T. Fowler, Tower Hill School, who has spoken before Tudor Parents' meetings and state teachers' conventions here, spoke at one of the discussions.

"Arts serve the peculiar function of sharpening the perception of the young," Mr. Fowler said.

"In my own experience at Tudor Hall, where emphasis is placed on the dance, music, graphic and plastic crafts and the theater, I have found that art study makes the child more aware of beauty in other forms," Miss Stewart said to-day.

Other convention sessions dealt with the intellectual character and social development for students from 2 to 22.

"The day of sloppiness seems to be past in progressive education," Miss Stewart commented. "Emphasis now is placed on expression and technique. Every one came away from the conference with a feeling that the child is a growing individual."

"It was the hope of the directors that we, as teachers, feel that the children are living, fascinating individuals, and consequently attempt to see that their lives are happy, integrated and social."
