

FARMERS WILL URGE PASSAGE OF 6 MEASURES

Bureau to Take Action on Legislative Requests at Annual Session.

Stockholders of the Indiana Farm Bureau Co-operative Association, Inc., meeting in annual session today, are to pass resolutions asking the Indiana legislature to pass five bills not related to social security during the special session.

Gov. McNutt's program message is to deal exclusively with social security legislation when the Legislature convenes tomorrow, in the hope that no other business will be brought up.

The bureau's resolutions are to ask the Legislature to reduce property tax; to take from the $150 tax law the word "emergency" that is the doorway to levies above the limitation; to raise the gross income tax rate to where "it pays its fair share of the taxes"; and to pay from the state general fund any unpaid minimum teachers' salaries.

The resolutions also ask the Legislature to pass enabling legislation necessary for the state to put into operation the Soil Conservation Act, substitute for the outlawed AAA.

One resolution deals with social security. It puts the stockholders on record as opposed to any social security legislation that would increase the property tax.

The 87 delegates are to end their session this afternoon. The bureau claims a stockholder member list of more than 40,000 in Indiana.

Mayors Map Program

Meeting in City Council chambers, the Indiana Municipal League, organization of Hoosier Mayors, today indicated it would push a legislative program at the Assembly if "the bars are let down."

Mayor Kern said Indianapolis officials favored bills giving the city a larger distribution of gasoline tax funds and providing cities an avenue of appeal from state tax board rulings.

Mayor Clare W. H. Bangs, Huntington, urged passage of a bill barring county courts and the Public Service Commission from interfering with the operation of municipally owned power plants.

Other Mayors said they were dissatisfied with the present revenues from liquor taxes. Mayor William Dentlinger, Connersville, presided.

The league decided to introduce a bill, if the bars are down, providing that state and county-owned utilities be exempt from state taxation. The proposed measure already has been drafted.

Each Mayor was asked to lobby and contact his Representative if it is decided to introduce the bill.

Opposing Change.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., March 4.—The fight of Huntington High School pupils against changing the school's name to honor Gen. James R. Slack, Civil War hero, was carried to the general public today in petitions for signatures opposing the proposal.

Pupils said they meant no disrespect toward Gen. Slack, but believe changing the 60-year-old name of the school was unwarranted because the general had no part in developing the city's educational system.

The school is built on the site of the Slack home and two adjoining properties.

LOBBY COMMITTEE SEEKS LEGAL HELP

Asserts Right to Dip Into Affairs of Citizens.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Legal aid was sought by the Senate Lobby Committee today to support its contention that congressional investigators are empowered to dip freely into the affairs of private citizens.

It was learned that Chairman Hugo L. Black (D., Ala.) has summoned a former Alabama law partner to the Capitol to prepare an argument setting forth reasons why the committee feels it is entitled to take any action necessary to comply with a Senate resolution authorizing it to investigate lobbying activities.

This attorney, whose name was not revealed, tentatively was assigned to represent the Senate tomorrow when Justice Jesse Adkins opens hearings in District of Columbia Supreme Court on a plea for a permanent injunction to prevent the Western Union Telegraph Co. from giving the lobby investigators copies of certain private telegrams.

The case raises an important question of congressional privilege. "We're going down there and fight them," said Sherman Minton (D., Ind.), committee member.

JUDGE RULES AGAINST RIVER BARGE TAVERN

Court Holds Both Indiana and Kentucky
Licenses Required.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 4.—Indiana and Kentucky both hold jurisdiction over taverns floating on barges in the Ohio River, Judge Union W. Youngblood of Warrick Circuit Court had ruled today.

Judge Youngblood ruled that Lee G. Pfafflin, whose floating bar was raided by Indiana excise officers, should have both Indiana and Kentucky licenses.

Pfafflin contended he was operating under a Kentucky license. Excise officials claimed the river was high and that anchors were well above the low-water mark on the Indiana side and that the gangplanks rested on Indiana soil.

DOLL HOUSE TO BE SHOWN HERE

Riley Hospital to Benefit
From Colleen Moore's
Exhibit at Ayres.

Colleen Moore's $500,000 doll house is to be exhibited in Indianapolis for two weeks during April.

The announcement was made by Frederic M. Ayres, president of L. S. Ayres & Co., where the famous product of the actress' hobby is to be displayed, and Hugh McK. Landon, president of the Riley Memorial Association.

Half of the proceeds are to go to the James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for Children.

Miss Moore started the doll house on a tour of principle cities last spring as a means of furthering movements and institutions devoted to the care and treatment of crippled children.

Mr. Ayres and Mr. Landon said exact date of the local exhibit is yet to be announced.

Actress Coming Here

Miss Moore is to accompany the doll house and plans to make personal appearances at gatherings in the city as well as at the exhibit.

The announcement said "it is a pleasure to announce that the Colleen Moore doll house, nationally famous exhibit, will come to the city early in April of this year under the vice president and general manager of Eli Lilly & Co., remained critical today in Robert W. Long Hospital.

Million Persons See House

"The Colleen Moore doll house now is nearing the end of its first year of showings in the larger cities of the country. One-half of the gross proceeds from admission charges have in every instance been given to some worthy charity in the city in which it has been exhibited.

"Miss Moore prohibits exhibition under any other circumstances. The exhibit is shown only in the department stores of the nation. We sincerely hope the exhibit will bring great pleasure to the people of the city and provide a very substantial sum toward furthering the work of the Riley Hospital for Children."
