

Roof Plans Contest for Indian Dance

Winning Couple to Make Tour of Several Large Cities.

The first of a series of national dance contests, sponsored by the Long Research Foundation of Chicago, is to be held at the Indiana Roof ballroom March 17.

Cash prizes and a silver cup are to be awarded winners. The winning couple is to make a tour of several larger cities to demonstrate the dance, titled the "Dee-ghee."

The routine is based on a native dance of India, discovered by Adrian C. Williams, cameraman, who is making an educational picture for the Foundation. Mr. Williams thought that the Indian "love dance" might be arranged for a ballroom and sent back films of the ceremony.

Instructions in the dance are to be given Roof dancers starting Tuesday, and are to continue each night for a week from 7:30 to 8. Frederick and Vella, local dance team, are to give the demonstrations.

The picture Mr. Williams is filming is to be seen here soon in a charity showing. It demonstrates ways of making bread as employed by natives of 60 countries.

Hoosier Plays With Hampden

Former I. U. Student Comes Here Tomorrow.

Herbert Vingran, who plays the role of a cavalier in Walter Hampden's "Cyrano de Bergerac," which is to give afternoon and evening performances at English's tomorrow, once trod the boards of the Indiana University theater.

As a student in the law school, Mr. Vingran appeared first in John Galsworthy's "Escape," in 1928, under the direction of Prof. Lee R. Norville, now director of the Federal Players.

In 1929 Mr. Vingran was assistant director of "Garick Gayeties," at the university, and also was master of ceremonies.

Although Mr. Vingran, a native of Fort Wayne, studied law, Professor Norville said today that he always wanted to be an actor. After graduation he went to Hollywood and appeared in several film roles.

Last fall he went to New York and landed a part in Mr. Hampden's cast.

Heavy Dust Storms Shown in Newsreel

Dust storms darkening skies of Texas and Oklahoma are to be seen in the current issue of The Times-Universal Newsreel. Graham McNamee, noted radio announcer and the screen's Talking Reporter, vividly describes this and the other important events in the reel.

Carried by a 55-mile wind, the parched earth mingles homes, barns and farming equipment with choking clouds. The "black fog" kills vegetation and makes breathing difficult.

Du Pont Signs to Direct

E. A. Du Pont has been signed to direct "Something to Live For." Gertrude Michael is to play the feminine lead.

More of the famous Astaire steps are to be seen in "Follow the Fleet," in which Fred is teamed with Ginger Rogers at the Indiana.

Scores Dozen Pictures

Within his ninth-month affiliation with Paramount studio, Fredrick Hollander, internationally-known composer-conductor, has completely scored more than a dozen pictures. His latest is "Desire."

The hidden story of Dr. Mudd, imprisoned for aiding John Wilkes Booth after he had shot Lincoln, is brought to light in "The Prisoner of Shark Island," starring Warner Baxter," at the Lyric.

Silent Star Returns

Julia Faye, who gained fame in Cecil B. De Mille's silent films, returns to motion pictures in a small character role in "Reunion."

Charlie Boasts Unusual Dog

Charlie Ruggles has acquired Hollywood's most bizarre appearing dog. It's known as an Afghan hound and its peculiar coat of hair gives it the appearance of wearing pants.

Brown Turns Manufacturer

Tom Brown, young actor, designed a pull-over leather jacket that caused so many admiring comments in the film colony that he has started manufacturing them.

Chinese General Is 'Good Earth' Adviser

Times Special

HOLLYWOOD, March 6.—Co-operating with Hollywood's producers of the motion picture, "The Good Earth," the Chinese government has lent Gen. Theodore Tu of the national army as technical adviser.

Many properties and architectural details have been imported from China to lend authority to the settings, and hundreds of tests have been made of Chinese players recruited from all parts of the Pacific Coast.

Final selections are being made for the nine principal roles in support of the stars, Paul Muni and Luise Rainer, who are to appear as the Wang Lung and O-Lan of Pearl S. Buck's popular novel. In all, there are to be nearly 70 speaking parts.
