BRITISHERS TURN TO BASEBALL

PAPERS REVEAL TREND TO GAME

BRITISH trade papers reveal that America's national pastime, baseball, finally has won a prominent place on the sports calendar in England. Full page advertisements are carried offering different lines of baseball goods and pointing out that "a baseball boom is on the way."

Evidently England is letting both barrels go in jumping on the diamond bandwagon, promoters going so far as to employ Canadian players to give balance and finish to the native clubs which are being organized into leagues in various sections. Babe Ruth was made an offer to serve as instructor, but turned it down to accompany an amateur baseball party to the Olympic Games to give exhibitions.

It was in 1874 that American baseball men tried to sell the game to England and two Yankee nines crossed the Atlantic for a series of performances. In 1888 Cap Anson and Al Spalding did the same thing, and in 1914 John McGraw and Charles Comiskey stopped off there on the round the world Giants-White Sox tour.

During the World War many American soldiers were in England and baseball was their chief summer pastime. Canadian nines also played the game over there.

In 1924 the New York Giants went barnstorming and England again saw big league ball, but cricket resisted the lure of the American sport until last year, when the current boom had its inception.

The tip is out that Lou Gehrig, hard-hitting first sacker, is to become New York Yankee manager in 1938. Joe McCarthy's contract is good through 1937. The Yanks have finished second four times in the last five seasons. If you don't land on top in New York, you might just as well finish last. Second place doesn't count.

Johnny Cooney, up from Indianapolis, solves big-league pitching is sure to stay with the Dodgers. A correspondent, writing from the Brooklyn camp at Clearwater, says: "The apple of Manager Stengel's eye in the defensive division of the outfield is the well-seasoned Johnny Cooney. Pilot Stengel avers that the Hoosier product makes fewer mistakes than any outfielder he ever has seen."

Harry Geisel, Indianapolis American League umpire, is handling the spring exhibition games for the Yankees at St. Petersburg. He was assigned to that camp by the loop press. It was Harry who said, "If I had a son, I certainly would not permit him to consider umpiring as a life work."

According to Gordon Graham, Lafayette scribe, it cost Coach Everett Dean of Indiana University $11 to attend the Purdue basketball banquet the other night. Graham says Dean was pinched for speeding, hailed into court and fined before the SOS call could be sent out.

NEW YORK basketball fans were treated to a look at the tallest basketball team in the country when the McPherson Oilers, of Kansas, played an all-star group of collegians in Madison Square Garden recently. The tallest man on the team is Willard Schmidt, a forward, 6 feet 9; and the center, Joe Fortenberry, is 6 feet 8. The smallest man on the squad is Francis Johnson, an even six feet.

WHEN Babe Ruth was a playboy he spent one winter in Havana and the horses "took him" for $20,000. It was all he had and the following spring's training trip found him flat. It was a "cure-all" for the Babe on trying to guess the bangtails. Later, he "reformed" and built up another fortune before the old legs failed and ended his diamond career.

RUTH thinks the Tigers are due to repeat in the American League this year with Cleveland second, Boston third and New York fourth. His choice in the National is St. Louis. He rates the Giants the Fourth of July pennant winners "to be run over by the Cards in the stretch." For some reason or other the Babe doesn't figure the Cubs, the betting favorite.

I. U., Purdue Men Qualify for Meet

Hoosier Track Aces Begin Big Ten Competition.

CHICAGO, March 14.—A concerted assault on Big Ten indoor track and field records began today after 12 men qualified in quarter and half-mile preliminaries. Quarter-finals in the 60-yard dash and 70-yard hurdles are scheduled for this afternoon. All left-over semi-finals and finals will be run tonight.

Ray Ellwood, Chicago's sophomore speedster, handily won his heat in the 440, qualifying in the fastest time turned in last night. He is expected to set a new record in the finals.

Indiana, chief threat to Michigan's team title, qualified one man each in the 440 and 880. Iowa qualified two in the 440, while Chicago, Michigan and Northwestern had one each.

Michigan, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Purdue and Ohio State put men into the half-mile finals.

Culver Cadets Gain Basket Semi-Finals

CHICAGO, March 14.—Culver Military Academy, lone Hoosier entry in the Central States private school tournament, reached today's semi-final round with two victories yesterday.

The Hoosier cadets won the opening test yesterday morning from Chicago Christian High School, 43 to 26, and eliminated the host, Morgan Park Military Park, 31 to 24, last night. Kelso and McDourow contributed four field goals each in the first victory. Clatter tallied 10 points in the night game.

ROY Wallace, matchmaker, announces that participants may work out in the Wallace-Monaghan gym in the evenings from 7 to 8:30.
