'RAZZ' STUNTS GIVEN FOR EXCHANGE CLUB

Annual Gridiron Dinner is Held in Washington Hotel.

Exchange Club members were chuckling today over "razz" stunts presented last night at the annual gridiron dinner in the Washington. The stunts depicted telegraph and patent law offices. John Schwab, Lafayette Exchange Club president, was a guest. Elmer R. Bertsch, local president, was in charge.

The committee in charge of the telegraph act was Richard D. Wage-lin, chairman. Zeo Leach, Dr. E. O. Alvin, H. E. Wells and C. E. Smith. Thomas B. Huestis, chairman, Ben Roberts, Edward C. W. Johnson, Lieut. Col. S. I. McCants and Ralph Schaeffer arranged the "Scenes in a Patent Law Office."

LOOKING YOUNGER

Looking younger, if anything, than when her son scaled the political heights to the White House, three years ago. Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt appears the personification of vigorous, alert old age in this remarkable portrait.

CITY RAILWAYS NOTES EXEMPT

Intangibles Tax Ineffective, Asserts Lutz.

Notes which Indianapolis Railways, Inc., has given the Federal government to secure a $3,000,000 loan, and bonds deposited in trust as collateral, are exempt from the Indiana intangibles tax law, according to an opinion by Atty. Gen. Philip Lutz Jr.

Mr. Lutz held, in an opinion asked by the State Tax Board, that the bonds may not be sold or otherwise disposed of unless there is a default on the notes. The first of the notes becomes due Dec. 1, 1939, and the last Dec. 1, 1944.

The street railway company has given trust notes, amounting to $2,000,000, to the Federal government. As security, the government required the utility to assign $1,073,000 in first mortgage bonds and $1,292,100 in general bonds with the Union Trust Co. as trustee.

The Lutz opinion held that neither the bonds nor the trust notes are taxable under the intangibles law, either on issuance or annually, because the Federal government is the technical owner, hence not subject to a "taxpayer" classification.

If, however, a default on the notes occurs and the bonds or notes are sold to individuals, they become taxable, Mr. Lutz said.
