

Clubhouse Displaying Gay Color

Mrs. Fortune Chairman of Redecorating at Woodstock.

BY BEATRICE BURGAN

WHEN Mrs. Russell Fortune Sr. visits the Woodstock clubhouse it is not unusual to see her jump up in the middle of a conversation to change the position of a vase on a mantle or table. Or, perhaps she will move a chair to another side of the room.

Mrs. Fortune is chairman of the committee which planned redecoration and furnishing of the clubhouse. She worked with her committee for weeks, choosing new draperies, slip covers, upholstery and bric-a-brac. Now that they have been assembled she refuses to call her task ended until she has achieved what she considers the best effects of arrangement.

Mrs. Fortune has found her assignment more play than work. She enjoys planning decorations. Once when she returned from a trip abroad she opened an antique shop with the things she had collected in Italy.

Assist Mrs. Fortune

Mrs. John K. Ruckelshaus, Mrs. Roger Wolcott, Mrs. W. I. Longworth, Mrs. W. Richardson Sinclair and Mrs. Albert J. Beveridge Jr. have been offering their ideas to Mrs. Fortune.

Slip covers and draperies were selected to match the henna rug in the lounge. Large henna and blue flowers are massed in the linen hangings. Several chairs and davenport are covered with the same material and are grouped in corners of the room with contrasting colored chairs—some yellow, some blue and others with brown backgrounds striped in henna and tan. The colors show brightly against white walls.

Work was started this week on a two-story dining porch to overlook the swimming pool. Its color scheme is to harmonize with the coral and white furnished dining rooms.

Coral and White Is Theme

Coral and white striped draperies hang at the windows, shaded with coral and white Venetian blinds. Seats around the walls are cushioned in coral leather. All furniture is white.

Members are to view the new decorations at an open house and tea Easter. Mrs. Conrad Ruckelshaus, entertainment committee chairman, is to have a committee of members to assist her in extending hospitalities.

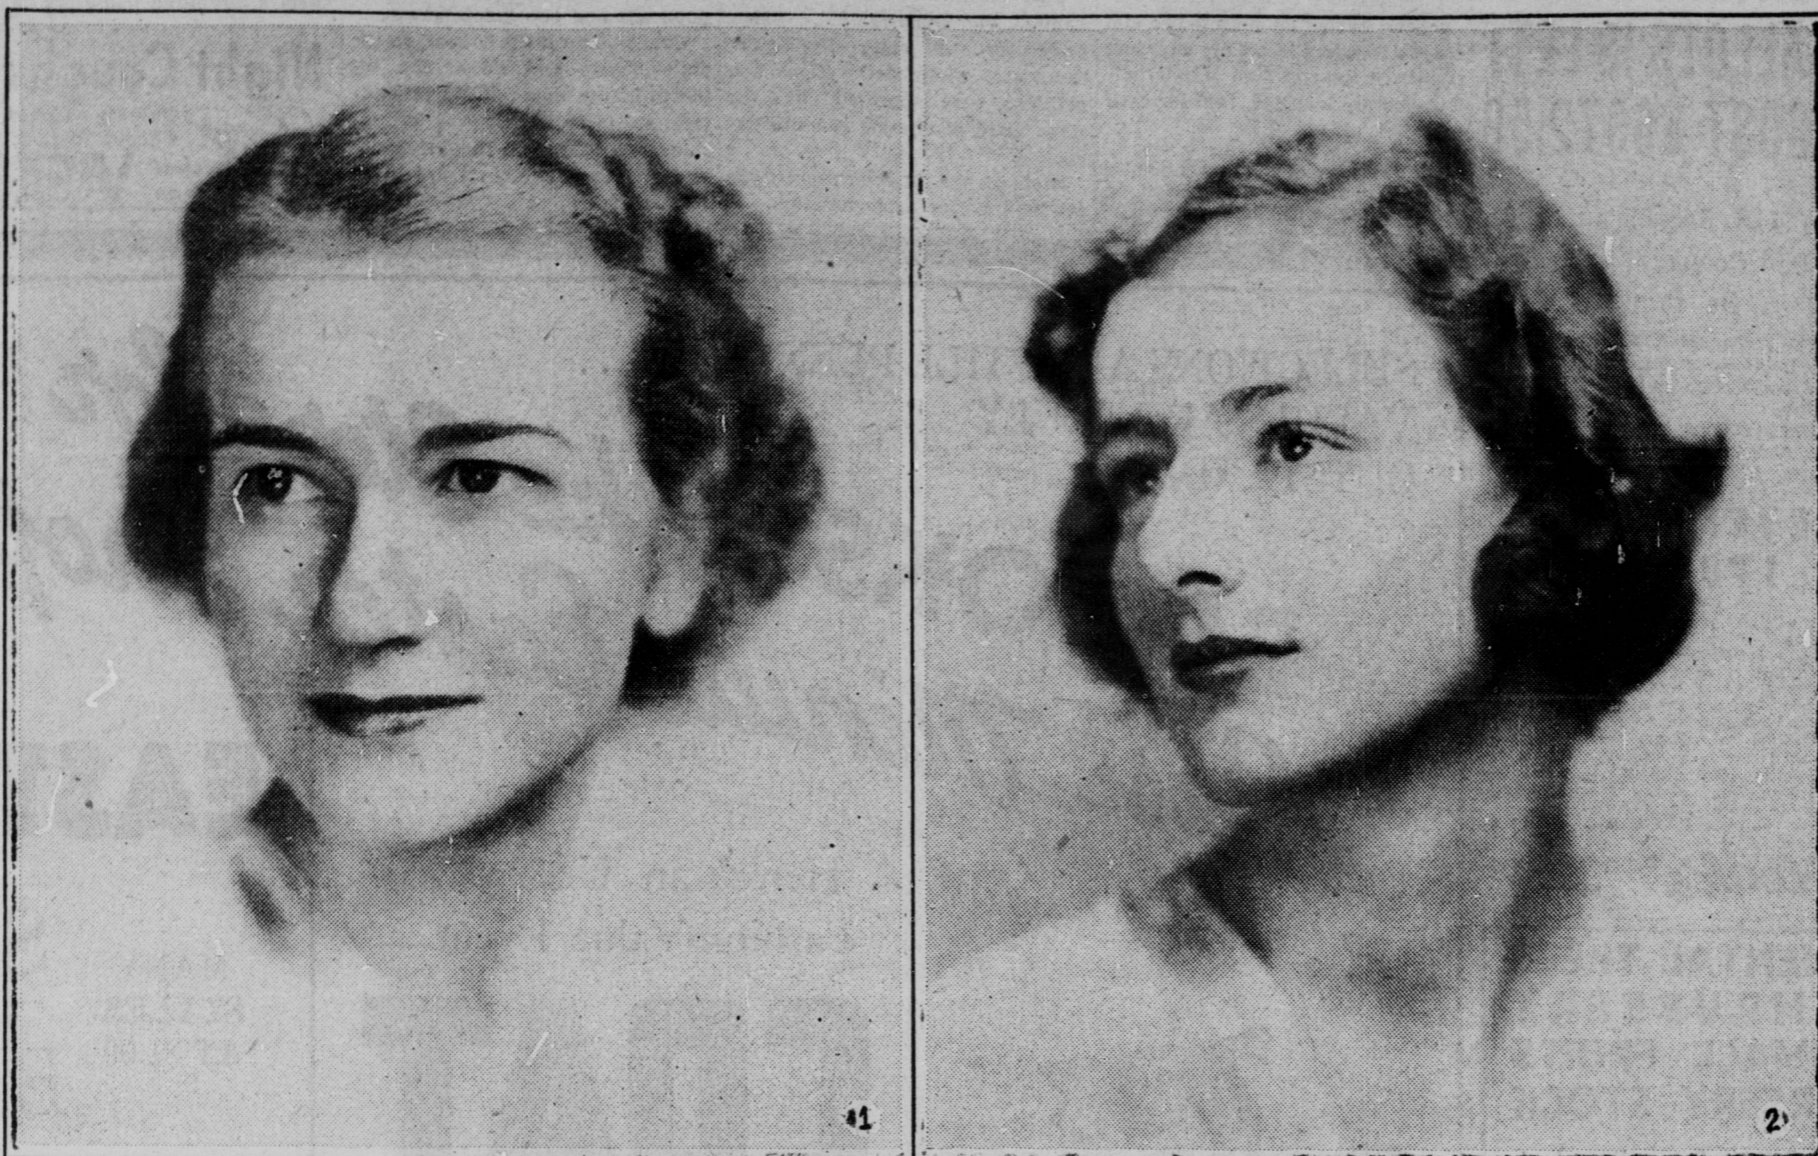

The club's social season is to begin with a dance April 18. The guests are to be entertained in the ballroom, where windows are draped with American beauty satin hangings.

VISITS SCHOOLS DURING VACATION

Hillis L. Howie, Orchard School headmaster, is visiting in the East during the school spring vacation. He is to stop at Dalton School in New York and visit other progressive educational institutions. He also is to contact prospects for the Children's Museum Prairie Trek, which he is to lead next summer.

Mrs. Howie and their sons, John and Hillis Jr., are visiting in Columbus, O.

Mrs. Owens, faculty member of the South Bend Conservatory of Music, studied three years in the Vincennes Conservatory of Music.

Indianapolis theatergoers are offered a double theatrical attraction for April 18. Civic Theater is to open "Accent on Youth." 1—Mrs. Lyman S. Ayres is to and the Prelude Club of Tudor Hall is to present "H. M. S. Pinafore," by Gilbert and Sullivan, at 8:15 in the school auditorium. 2—Miss Jane Carrington, Chicago, will have a solo part in the Tudor Hall production.

3—Mrs. John McEwen, formerly of Chicago, also is to have a leading role in the Civic play. 4—Friends of Miss Lucina Ball, Muncie, are to attend the Gilbert and Sullivan show, in which she has a part.

MY DAY

By Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Wednesday—It is a long trip by train from Reedsville and you arrive in Washington at 11:25 p. m. However, during the entire trip the three gentlemen with us never stopped talking about their interest in education and the work going on at Arthurdale. After a while I took to reading some of the things I had in my briefcase, but even then I listened with one ear and marveled at the almost passionate interest these men had in their work.

I was glad to be able to fall into bed a little after midnight, but only one glance at my desk revealed it completely covered with mail to sign, and books, pamphlets and letters of every description to read. I love my personal letters and am deeply interested in much of my mail, but when I see it in a mass I would sometimes like to run away. In this case, I just closed my eyes and went to bed. Eight-thirty breakfast and the usual morning routine, then a press conference at 11 and the District of Columbia League of Women Voters' breakfast at 12. They put on four skits dramatizing the bills for which they are working.

The skits were all exceedingly good, but the last one seemed to me a work of art. I do not know how the other women felt, but I shall never think of the Kerr-Coolidge without seeing the Italian woman pleading for her right to stay in this country with her American-born children, because she was not a criminal.

Leaving there I paid two calls and came back to see a woman who wished to talk to me about a youth project she had in mind, and then Miss Josephine Brown of the Works Progress Administration came in for an hour with her regional directors. From these groups you get a really remarkable picture of the country as a whole. I am always grateful to them when they take time to have a cup of tea with me and tell me a little about their work.

Then Mrs. Lucille McMillin of the Civil Service Commission, came to present me with a formal invitation to attend the commencement at Wesleyan College in Georgia. There were also three ladies from Syracuse, N. Y., Miss Ada Bittner, Mrs. Cyrus Bittner and Mrs. Anna Seidel, for tea, and then I finished with a hurried visit to the new headquarters of the Women's Democratic Council.

IT'S JANE! SHE SAYS BILL WANTS TO MEET ME!

USE powder and rouge all you wish! But don't risk cosmetic skin—dull, enlarged pores, tiny blemishes. Use gentle Lux Toilet Soap. Its ACTIVE lather removes cosmetics thoroughly so they won't choke your pores... keeps skin soft and clear.

"Claret" is the heady new shade in Berkshire Hosiery destined to couple smartly with Foot Savers' white buck shoe trimmed in dark brown. "Of all things?" you say. Well, see for yourself... see if it isn't about the last word in color interest. And with gray this "Claret" is stunning! SKINNER'S INC., 35 Monument Circle... has mastered the art of colorful footwear... actually selecting your shoes and the hose with a thought for harmony. Their "Middy Blue" is an enchanting shade for navy fabric shoes... either white or patent trimmed. These exquisite Berkshire hose are 75c to $1.49... with sizes to 11.

Not just because Vogue and its shop-hound set forth exotic ideas for spring brides... but because I've had real inspirations for wedding gifts right here at VONNEGUT'S. It's such a highly esteemed store and just the kind in which to buy lasting gifts of "beautifuly." Today I saw the new Chest O' Dreams of Rogers 1847 ultra fine plate in the attractive open work pattern called "Love-lace." You know Rogers is "treasured for five generations." And any silver as lovely as "Love-lace" is a beautiful tribute even to the orange blossom decoration to the most fastidious bride. Another gift which VONNEGUT'S heartily recommends is the fine glass Coffee Brewer—the Cory. Every well-ordered household will soon be making more delicious coffee by this new and better method. Prices range from $4.95 to $5.95. Now I can't explain here the process, but VONNEGUT'S will gladly tell you. This is just one of the electric appliances always in good taste for wedding gifts. You can always rely on VONNEGUT'S for the best in quality... so just as soon as you hear wedding bells... get out your Vogue... and let's go shopping around to VONNEGUT'S.

Ecstasy! In a word... that's MRS. RENICK'S GIFT SHOP. For seldom do you see such wonderland as this. Accessories to Easter tables... accents to costumes... literally turned out for spring from the tiniest Easter greeting You'll bless this reminder—15 E. 34th St. H.A. 1610.

Beautiful tailoring... designing... intricate alterations... re-modeling of favorite frocks—LETITIA F. MERRILL does all of this work in an exceptional fine manner. And still her prices are moderate! Take your spring sewing to 401 Kresge Bldg.

Almost Easter and I haven't reminded you of my pet idea—Easter Eggs that are filled with confetti after the Old Spanish custom. Call for details about making this novelty.

Chocolate eggs with MARTHA WASHINGTON'S famous rich cream centers convey deliciously the Easter greeting. Exciting Easter baskets and boxes are ready filled to please the hearts of children and their grown-ups. Stop by 2301 N. Meridian or 5 N. Meridian and take home MARTHA WASHINGTON Easter candies of "honest quality." (Ta. 1827 for delivery.)

Phone BERTERMANN'S... send flowers... and make Easter a glad day of rejoicing! Gorgeous rose plants are choice now. And corsages of orchids, violets, and gardenias are the height of fashion when sent from BERTERMANN'S. Whatever you do, send flowers, too. (RI. 7535—241 Mar. Ave.)
