

M'KINNEY DEMANDS LIQUOR AND POLITICS BE DIVORCED; OARP BOARD TO PICK SLATE

Candidate Carries Fight to Lake County in Talk at Gary.

GARY, Ind., April 9.—Lake County Democrats today debated E. Kirk McKinney's demand for complete divorce of liquor control from politics following an address by the Democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination before the Gary Wilson Club last night.

Stressing what he claimed were dangers to the party and to the government if liquor interests get the upper hand, Mr. McKinney said: "It would take no seer with a crystal ball to predict the return of prohibition if the sale of liquor is a political commodity. A party or government should control liquor traffic, and liquor traffic should not control a party or its government."

He urged cessation of "family rows" in the Democratic party and requested every voter to become "issue-minded."

"Not that I fear that any of our following will be lured away from us by such clap-trap as that disseminated by Herbert Hoover in his Fort Wayne address," he said.

Mr. McKinney also discussed what he termed "inequalities" in the gross income tax law.

"I am hopeful enough to believe that practically my entire platform will be a part of the Democratic party's, although I am making no pretense of trying to write the platform of our party. The state convention will do that," he concluded.

FILM SHOWS BAKERS FOOD VALUE OF BREAD

Benefits to Children Pointed Out at Meeting Here.

Indianapolis bakers were advised today that bread is a bone and muscle builder and is very beneficial to children.

A motion picture demonstrating ingredients used in this food staple was shown last night at a meeting of the Indianapolis Retail Bakers' Association in the Claypool. Speakers were James Sletto, Minneapolis, Minn., and L. L. Shoemaker, of Dayton, O.

Seventeen drivers of the Purity Bakeries Corporation, 957 W. New York-st., who have operated their trucks from one to eight years without an accident, received safety awards from the company, it was announced today.

DENTAL WORK BREAKS AND LODGES IN THROAT

Doctors to Attempt Its Removal at City Hospital.

City Hospital physicians today are to attempt removal of half a lower dental plate swallowed accidentally yesterday by Mrs. Lucille Brenton, 50, of 816 E. St. Clair-st. She was visiting friends at 421 E. New York-st. when the plate suddenly divided and a half became lodged in her throat. If the dental work enters the stomach an abdominal operation probably will be necessary, doctors said.

OFFICIAL WEATHER

United States Weather Bureau.

Sunrise 6:18 Sunset 6:17

TEMPERATURE

April 9, 1935

7 a. m. 37 1 p. m. 43

8 a. m. 41 10 a. m. 41

9 a. m. 42 11 a. m. 41

10 a. m. 42 12 (noon) 44

11 a. m. 41

BAROMETER

7 a. m. 30.18

Precipitation 24 hrs. ending 7 a. m. 0

Total precipitation since Jan. 1 8.08

Deficiency since Jan. 1 2.75

OTHER CITIES AT 7 A. M.

Station Weather Bar. Temp.

Amarillo, Tex. Cloudy 29.84 48

Bismarck, N. D. Clear 30.22 28

Butte, Mont. Clear 30.16 38

Chicago, Ill. Clear 30.16 38

Cincinnati, Ohio Clear 30.16 38

Denver, Colo. Clear 30.16 38

Dodge City, Kas. Clear 30.16 38

Helena, Mont. Clear 30.16 38

Jacksonville, Fla. Clear 30.16 38

Kansas City, Mo. Clear 30.16 38

Little Rock, Ark. Clear 30.16 38

Los Angeles, Calif. Clear 30.16 38

Miami, Fla. Clear 30.16 38

Minneapolis, Minn. Clear 30.16 38

Mobile, Ala. Clear 30.16 38

New Orleans, La. Clear 30.16 38

New York, N. Y. Clear 30.16 38

Oklahoma City, Okla. Clear 30.16 38

Omaha, Neb. Clear 30.16 38

Pittsburgh, Pa. Clear 30.16 38

Portland, Ore. Clear 30.16 38

San Antonio, Tex. Clear 30.16 38

San Francisco, Calif. Clear 30.16 38

St. Louis, Mo. Clear 30.16 38

Tampa, Fla. Clear 30.16 38

Washington, D. C. Clear 30.16 38

SEVILLE

"Enough is enough," says George. "This (1/2 portion for 1/2 price for the kids) idea at Seville... sure is kind to my pocket. Saves my wife a lot of bother on Sundays."

COMPLETE TOWNE DINNER

Adults .....50c

Children .....25c

Served Every Evening and Sunday

7 N. Meridian

Surrender of Gen. Lee Retold by City Veteran

Joseph B. Henninger, 88, Tells of Appomattox 71 Years Ago Today.

BY WILLIAM ROHR JR.

The "white flag of truce" which Gen. Robert E. Lee ordered raised above his exhausted Confederate troops, ending the Civil War 71 years ago today, was the "back out of the only white shirt in the Confederate army."

This was revealed by Joseph B. Henninger, 88-year-old Civil War veteran of Indianapolis, one of the few soldiers yet living who were with Gen. U. S. Grant when Lee was brought to bay at the little village of Appomattox Courthouse in Virginia.

The surrender made a war veteran of Mr. Henninger at the age of 17. He now is assistant adjutant general of the Indiana G. A. R. with an office in the Statehouse.

Battles Leave Scars

Although knocked unconscious by the explosion of a bomb beside him, nicked in the right shoulder by a sniper's bullet, and given one year to live by his physician, because he suffered from tuberculosis, Mr. Henninger is spry and active today.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

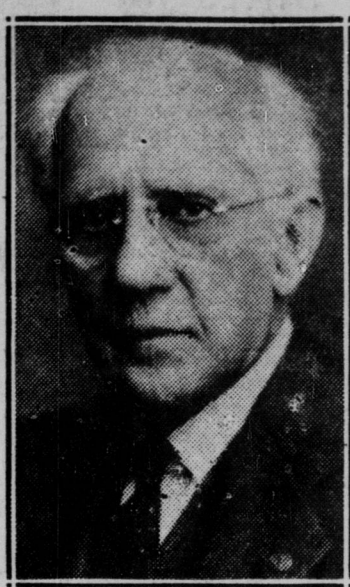

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

He crouched low on the ground beside his brother to avoid the enemy fire, a 16-pound shot fell beside them and exploded. He was unconscious for two days.

Refusing to retire, Mr. Henninger came to the G. A. R. office in the Statehouse five years ago. He was then 83. He lives at 1902 Ruckle-st.

Joseph B. Henninger

PROFESSORS TO DIG FOR LINTON METEOR

'Fallen Star' to Be Farmer's Property, if Found.

Times Special

BLOOMINGTON, April 9.—On the chance that the meteor which fell near Linton last week may be buried in the ground and in one piece, Prof. W. A. Cogshall and

Prof. A. C. Malott of Indiana University, plan to start digging in the crater within the next few days.

If they find this "fallen star" it will be the property of Fred

Strettlemeier, owner of the farm on which it landed, Prof. Cogshall said today.

"I haven't any idea what he would do with it," he added. "Our school doesn't have an appropriation to buy meteors, but he might be able to sell it to some museum.

The last time I heard, meteors were quoted at about $1 a pound."

It was believed first the meteor may have exploded when it hit the ground. Yesterday a piece of iron about the size of a man's fist was found near the crater, leading scientists to believe the meteor still may be buried.

"A horseman dashed into the Union camp, waving his hat and shouting, 'The war is over.'"

"It was like being raised from hell to heaven," the veteran said, describing his own reactions.

Mr. Henninger enlisted in the Union Army before he was 15 years old.

"With six brothers in the war, I was pretty much alone at home. So

I packed up and joined the colors, too," Mr. Henninger said. His home was in Lockhaven, Pa.

Lee was occupying Richmond with about 40,000 men as Grant advanced upon it with 100,000 troops eager to end the war.

Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, received news of the impending attack as he attended devotions in St. Paul's church Sunday, April 2. That night Davis fled with his cabinet to North Carolina.

Lee evacuated Richmond the same night. Grant followed, overtaking him at Appomattox.

Of the year he spent in the war,

the visit of President Lincoln and the explosion of a 16-pound shot beside him stand out in his memory.

The first taste of battle which the young private experienced occurred in the Wilderness on the evening of May 4, 1864.

"The men shouted, swore, and some of them prayed. Others fired their guns."

"Nineteen of my comrades fell mortally wounded when a group of Confederates fired from ambush," he said.

"The next day in the Battle of the Wilderness Lee attempted to halt

Grant's advance into the South. The Union army lost 17,666 men."

In March, 1865, Lincoln visited the Army of the Potomac. Mr.

Henninger saw the President, "in a tall silk hat that made him two feet taller than any man there."

It was in a particularly hot encounter with the rebels that Henninger had his narrowest escape. As

CITY TO PAUSE IN OBSERVANCE OF CRUCIFIXION

Good Friday Services to Begin at Noon in Churches and Theaters.

(Continued From Page One)

clergy choir. The "Way of the Cross" is to begin at 2:30.

Lutheran churches are to hold joint services at noon in Trinity Church, Ohio and East-sts. Prof.

Theodore Hoyer, Concordia Seminary, is to preach on "Watchers

Under the Cross," and music is to be furnished by the Lutheran Bach chorus.

Services from noon to 3 at the

Wheeler City Rescue Mission, 245

N. Delaware-st., are to be directed by the Rev. Herbert E. Eberhardt.