

SEASON'S FIRST CIRCUS ARRIVES IN INDIANAPOLIS

Youngsters Crowd Old Ball Park to Watch Show Pitch Tents.

the show, with its three long red and silver coated trains, arrived here from Muncie on the Big Four Railroad, the elephants were the first animals rousted out.

Tug Heavy Wagons
For three hours they tugged heavy wagons over the old W. Washington-st. ball diamond. Then hooked together trunk to tail, they led a parade through downtown streets.

At 2 this afternoon and 8 tonight and the same show tomorrow afternoon and night, they will take part in the "big show." When the circus pulls stakes, the elephants will be the last animals to get on the trains. They will have to grunt and push until all the wagons are aboard. They do this just for a couple of bales of hay a day.

Jumbo the Second, an African elephant, is the aristocrat of the five "bull" herds. He doesn't have a high forehead or the intelligence of his Indian cousin, but he does have tusks with gilded tips.

They're All Showmen

Circus people know how to play on people's imaginations. Even the canvasmen and laborers are showmen. Six Negro stake drivers, working together as a team, circled the stakes and drove them in with rhythm. Each man got his sledge hammer out of the way before the man to his right hit his lick. When they had an audience, the rhythm sounded like a burst of machine gun fire.

The big bosses rode horses. Their assistants, who talked and acted like second mates on windjammers, were on foot.

As soon as the train stopped, they began rounding up dirty-faced, bright-eyed little boys to help. These lads toiled stakes longer than themselves to get passes to the show.

Old Circus Phrase

As the boys began to spread the canvas on the ground, the old circus cry, "Shake it, boy, shake it," was heard. Soon everyone picked it up and began to chant the phrase.

When it was spread out, and up the loud-mouthed boss bellowed, "Tie 'er on, bullocks, tie 'er on."

As they "tied 'er on" the Negroes hummed a strange melody. The unloading was over then, and the parade was formed.

Clyde Beatty Is Star

Clyde Beatty, who can make restless lions say "that's all," is the star of the show. His wife, Mrs. Harrison Beatty, who is making her first appearance in the steel ring this year, presents a display in which an elephant, tiger and lion are featured.

Then there is the Zoupe family of acrobats from Spain, the Geron troupe of highwire stars, Harold Barnes, juvenile tightrope performer; Mile. Cyse Odell, aerial gymnast, and Esma Wilson, "pin-wheel" girl.

From the flying trapezes the Flying Harolds and the Peerless Tiltations perform. Al Powell, the "human comet," and the Ernestos and Clarksons, bare back riding stars, are in the show.

But the little boys go to see the elephants.

CHURCHMEN TO CONFER ON BISHOP VACANCIES

Retirement of 7 M. E. Leaders Is Recommended to Conference.

By United Press
COLUMBUS, O., May 9.—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church prepared today to act on a recommendation to retire seven bishops and appoint others partially to fill the vacancies.

The recommendation was made by the Episcopacy committee despite opinion favoring little or no change because of the pending merger with the Southern Methodist and Methodist Protestant churches.

Two of the bishops who would be retired—Frederick D. Leete of Omaha, Neb., and George A. Miller of Ancon, Canal Zone—asked to be relieved of their duties. The other five have passed the retirement age of 70. They are: Frederick T. Keeney, Atlanta, Ga.; Matthew W. Clair, Covington, Ky.; Herbert Welch, Aanghai, China; Eren S. Johnson, Capetown, South Africa, and John L. Robinson, Delhi, India.

TORNADO, RAIN, SNOW HIT WESTERN STATES

Benefits and Damage Brought by Varied Weather.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 9.—A tornado, heavy rains, flood threats and a snowstorm benefits and damage to the Southwest and Rocky Mountain region in the past 24 hours.

Farmers in Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Texas were elated by the best general rains this spring that gave them hopes of producing good crops. A blizzard lashed Southern Colorado and Northern New Mexico, blanketing some sections with a 15-inch snowfall.

A tornado ripped through the village of Hanna, Okla., and injured more than a score of persons, six seriously. Damage was estimated at more than $40,000.

Whisky Loot Is Recovered

Police today had recovered whisky valued at $50 from a vacant house on W. Merrill-st. Melvin Spitz, 420 N. Bradley-av, agent for the Eastern Trucking Lines, told police at 243 W. Merrill-st. told police two men were seen to break into the building and carry two cases of whisky to the vacant house last night.

supply its own needs in the future, it was learned. Ten apprentices are being trained at present.

Requests for persons to fill the following positions are on file now at the state employment service office, according to Malcom H. Kennedy, job clearance officer:

Machinists, machine repair men, engine lathe operators, tool die makers, steel etchers (men or women), structural iron riggers, horizontal and vertical boring mill operators, automatic screw machine operators, and milling machine operators.

These jobs, mostly with Indianapolis firms, pay from 60 to 95 cents an hour.

"We can use as many of these types of workers as we can get," Mr. Kennedy said. "Men who were formerly expert in these lines either moved away, took up other kinds of work, or grew too old during the depression, and no apprentices have been trained to follow them."

Other available positions include an artist and designer for neon and electric signs, $25 to $35 a week; an industrial draftsman-designer for shoes, $110 to $135 a month; an expert linoleum and carpet layer, $20 a week, and three lead burners to burn lead on steel, $1.10 an hour.

Glass Blowers in Demand
Two glass blowers used to working in hard glass, pyrex or nonex, and who can operate the lathe type of glass machine are wanted also. The employer is willing to teach men who can qualify, and the pay is $30 to $35 a week with bonuses, Mr. Kennedy said.

Other types of workers of which there is a shortage in Indiana are bench assemblers, circular shear operators, die designers, die makers, draftsmen (machine), Elliott Fisher billing machine operators, male stenographers, metal finishers, set-up men (shop machine), torch solderers, trimmers, upfitters, bituminous mixer operators, bituminous rakers and spreaders, ball filler operators, caulkers (water and gas mains), compressor operators.

Also concrete batch plant operators, crane and shovel operators, diesel engineers, paving machine operators, stiff leg operators, tile layers (sewer), Keystone trench machine operators and Barber-Greene trench machine operators.

NAMING TRAMMEL SUCCESSOR DELAYED
Florida Governor to Wait Until After Funeral.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, May 9.—Gov. Dave Sholtz of Florida today delayed consideration of a successor to Senator Park Trammell (D. Fla.), who died last night, until after the funeral early next week.

Trammell was serving his fourth term in the Senate when he died of cerebral hemorrhage at his home. He had been absent from the Senate for six weeks, but had been seriously ill for only two weeks. His term would have expired in 1941.

Funeral arrangements have not been made, but Gov. Sholtz said he believed Trammell's body would be taken to his Lakeland, Fla. home for burial. He expects to accompany the body to Florida.

Trammell, who was 60, was known best in Congress as an advocate of American preparedness. He was chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee and co-author of the Vinson-Trammell "Big Navy" bill enacted last session.

He died a few hours after the Senate passed the record peacetime $529,000,000 navy bill.

PARLEY BEGUN BY SCHOOLMEN'S CLUB
Prof. Bartlett of De Pauw Addresses Group.

Meeting of the Indiana Schoolmen's Club opened today with a business meeting in the Claypool, followed by an address by Prof. Edward R. Bartlett, De Pauw University.

Prof. Bartlett spoke on "Personality Factors in Delinquency." Another forenoon speaker was to be Floyd I. McMurry, state public instruction superintendent.

After luncheon, Mrs. Chic Jackson is to give a reading; Billy Jolly, banjo selections, and Rollo Walter Brown, author, an address on "The Creative Spirit—A Philosophy of Living."

Guest day is being observed at the sessions.
