

MOST CITIZENS HELD IGNORANT ON GOVERNMENT

Average Man Knows Little of Administration, I. U. Group Told.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., May 14.—The average citizen's ignorance of public administration is appalling, seniors of Indiana University's school of business administration were told last night.

The assertion that a vast majority of Indiana's citizens have no conception of the state's business was made by Edward Brennan, state budget director.

"The knowledge of how public revenue is obtained and the sources from which it is collected is blank to 90 per cent of the people, but their demands are all-embracing," the speaker declared.

"If the public would measure its demands on the public treasury with the yard stick of revenue," he stated, "the tax question would be far less perplexing. The demands are made cheerfully, but the payments are made most reluctantly."

"These Things Are Human"

"All of these things are human," he added, "and to err is human. Therefore the individual who seeks to remedy these errors through the accounting profession must be cultured to the point of being responsive to human feeling, possessed of an analytical mind and endowed with sufficient imagination to picture the future in the light of the past."

Mr. Brennan pointed that the ac-

CHURCH CIRCUS IS SET FOR TOMORROW NIGHT

Tenth Annual Affair to Be Held in Central-Av. Hall.

The tenth annual community circus of the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church recreational department is to be held at 7:30 tomorrow night in the church hall, 34th-st and Central-av.

The 10 acts with 100 performers are to include clowns, a dog act, acrobatic dancers, jug and accordion bands, tumblers, fencers, novelty skaters and a parade.

counting profession is one that makes experience a prerequisite to the granting of a degree. The reasons, he said, are obvious. The pitfalls are numerous and varied and it is only by experience that they can be avoided.

"An analytical mind is an important prerequisite," he reiterated to the graduating group.

"A person who does not find delight in studying things in such fashion is not cut out for the work."

"An accountant," he summarized, "must have what is called a philosophic mind, a mind which finds pleasure in discovering what things really are as contrasted with what they appear to be."
