

English Tour Arranged by City Student

Rodney Albright, Friend to Go Sight-Seeing on Bicycles.

BY BEATRICE BURGAN

EVERY youth dreams of throwing a knapsack over his shoulders and starting out on a travel adventure without benefit of parental guidance.

Rodney Albright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Albright, has made his dream come true. He is leaving Dartmouth College next month with a classmate, John Gaunt, London, to join a former Culver Military classmate, Fred Sutton, Kingston, N. C., at Boston before sailing for England June 11.

After a two-weeks' visit with Mr. Gaunt at his home, Rodney and Fred are to make a bicycle tour through England and Scotland.

They aren't going to waste any time pedaling through country which lacks attractions; they will board a day coach and go on to more interesting grounds.

Rodney and Fred shared adventurous ideas before they left Culver. Fred is studying at North Carolina University. They expect to return in August.

Last summer Rodney toured Europe with a group of friends.

The Albrights, with their daughter, Mary Jo, will go to their Lake Maxinkuckee summer home late in June.

Memorial Day signals to the country clubs that it is time to open up facilities for all the summer pastimes.

Meridian Hills Country Club is making its pool ready for opening on the holiday, and Kenneth Walker, swimming instructor, is considering the swimming program with the committee, E. S. Pearce, Mrs. George V. Underwood and Howard R. Meeker.

Women of the club approved the swimming classes arranged for them in other seasons, and they are desiring them to new members.

"If you have any fear of water or if you think your strokes are clumsy, join our classes and you'll tell a different story at the end of the season," they say.

Members have been playing tennis since warm weather began. Fred Grunau, Dan Flickinger, Robert Mueller and Lucile Jamieson round up members interested in the game.

Swim Classes Start June 9

Swimming classes are to begin June 9, the same day that the women are to hold a luncheon and bridge party.

Mrs. Rex A. Hayes, bridge chairman, has invited Mrs. Frank Langenkamp to arrange the party. Mrs. Roy Snyder is assisting and she is accepting reservations for members and their guests.

Walter H. Montgomery is arousing curiosity with an announcement of a party to be held the same night. He is calling it a V. V. V. party and he is inviting members to solve the secret of the initials.

A guessing contest is to be conducted during the evening and the member submitting the funniest answer is to receive a prize.

The evening is to end with dancing and bridge.

COUPLE TO MAKE HOME IN SULLIVAN

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Curtis, who were married May 13, are to make their home in Sullivan, Ind.

The wedding took place at the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Carlton W. Atwater officiating. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Christianson, Indianapolis.

Mrs. Curtis, who before her marriage was Miss Ruth Loveall, daughter of Mrs. Ada Loveall, is the sister of Mrs. Earl R. Moore, 3340 N. Meridian-st. Mr. Curtis is the son of Mrs. Maria Curtis.

Mrs. Curtis formerly taught in the Dugger schools, and is a graduate of State Teachers College, Terre Haute, and a member of Mu Zeta and Kappa Delta Phi sororities. Mr. Curtis attended Millikin University, Decatur, Ill.

DINNER PLANNED AT RIVIERA CLUB

The summer social and recreational program for young people at Riviera Club is to be arranged at a dinner meeting at the club Sunday, which is to be attended by officers and committee members of the Riviera Royal Revelers Club.

Attending the dinner are to be Misses Dorothy Schilling, Ella Marie Ruddle, Olava Feist, Betty Jane Gleichman, Louise Rhodhamel, Judy Peeler, Virginia Boys, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Nagley, Paul R. Pike, Harvey Rogers Jr., Richard Bridges, Theodore Weakley, Thomas Wright and Charles Zalac.

Dinner is to be served on the club veranda, and is to be followed by an entertainment.

SHOWER GIVEN FOR ENGAGED COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Katterhenry entertained recently with a miscellaneous shower for Miss Mary Frey and Russell Barton, whose marriage is to take place June 13 in the Kee Chapel of the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church.

Guests included Miss Mildred Frey, Herman Frey, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Stayton, Dr. and Mrs. V. D. Keiser, Messrs. and Mesdames Frank Billeter, A. K. Cox, Frank Krause, Clifton Hirschman, Russell Hirschman, Ralph Scheidler, A. R. Chapman, L. H. Beach, Emerson Smith, Charles Walsh, Frank Hirschman, Albert Hirschman and Emmanuel Buckler and Mrs. Harry Schauf, Miss Frieda Bonke, Reid Chapman and A. Y. Beaumont.

THE LINEN STORE

11th ANNIVERSARY
ALL MERCHANDISE
GREATLY REDUCED!

Committee Is to Greet Former Classmates at Party

DETROIT, May 22.—The National Society of New England Women concluded their annual convention here with presentation of resolutions and the induction of seven new officials to office.

During the semi-final session a legislative report included a recommendation that the Boulder Dam be renamed Hoover Dam "in honor of the ablest and most honest man in politics."

Mrs. Edward A. Strong, San Marino, Cal., chairman of the legislative committee, in commenting on the proposal, said: "If Mr. Hoover caused the depression, he wouldn't have been able to keep it going so long after he got out of office."

"We suggest that Mr. Roosevelt read his oath of office. Allocation of relief funds under the New Deal constitutes a campaign fund for the Democratic Party. We should get back to the government of law under the Constitution our fathers gave us."

In a partial election of officers yesterday the society, founded in 1895 and comprising membership of direct descendants of New England pioneers, naming the following for induction into office:

Mrs. George Howard, New York, first vice president; Miss Bird Aller, Los Angeles, third vice president; Mrs. Harold G. White, White Plains, N. Y., secretary; Mrs. George L. Palmer, Washington, D. C., registrar; Mrs. William H. Huffstader, Buffalo, N. Y., chaplain; and Mrs. Edward A. Strong, San Marino, Cal., and Mrs. George P. Pruitt, Kansas City, Mo., trustees.

She has had the advantage of the Poetry Forum held there Sunday night, guests of the hotel being invited. The poets represented were Kipling, Joyce Kilmer and Rupert Brooks, interpreted in dances by the French terpsichorean novelty artiste, Alexandra.

"I also spent a week at the Barnetts," said Mrs. Hess yesterday. "On Saturday I went to the Breakness. This week I will visit my friends in Bronxville, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Tripp, formerly of Indianapolis. I have enjoyed the plays and the select restaurants. I plan to return home this coming week."

Mrs. Hess hopes to be here for the Garden Tour on Tuesday, if she is not delayed in Bronxville. The tour is to be open for the National Student Association, which is to visit the estate of Mrs. John T. Pratt, Glen Cove. Mrs. Herbert Pratt's summer home, Welwyn, is adjoining, and also is visited by guests for the benefit of the Long Island Wayside Home for Girls, which was one of the philanthropies of the late Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt.

The hostesses were assisted by Miss Carpenter's mother, Mrs. E. L. Carpenter.

Mary Eppler to Be Honored by Parties Tonight and Tomorrow

Miss Mary Alice Eppler, who is to be married June 12 in the Irvington Presbyterian Church to Prof. Alton D. Taylor, Oxford, Miss., is being honored with a number of pre-marital parties.

Mrs. Maurice W. Pickett is to entertain tonight with a bridge and dinner shower for Miss Eppler. She is to be assisted by her mother, Mrs. William A. McBride. Decorations are to be in rainbow shades.

Guests with Miss Eppler are to include her mother and sister, Mrs. William Boyer, and Misses Abbie Boone, Frances Rohrig, Lydia Hoyer, Alma Cripe, Katherine Ferrer, Ruth Ashley and Julia Schumacher.

Guests with Miss Eppler are to be her mother, Mrs. O. P. Eppler; her sister, Mrs. John McPheters, and Mesdames Celia Rice, Robert Moor, Fred Stilz, Norwood Eppler, James Imacher.

Let Cry-Baby Solve Own Problems, Parents Told

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Can you cure the cry-baby? I don't believe you can. How about yourself? When you have to, you cry, don't you? The only difference that is you don't have to, often. You have other ways of expressing distress. But once you feel tears coming, they come, that is all.

"Don't you dare to cry," says mother, stamping her foot. Johnny stops and sniffles, perhaps. The reason is that fear has stepped in and jolted the other sad emotion out of the way. Then he begins to hold up. If, on the other hand, you had kept silent or walked away, leaving him to his own strength, he might have mastered the impulse by tremendous effort.

Feelings Easily Scrapped

There are tears of rage and tears of sorrow. The easy-weeper seldom cries from anger. He just carries his feelings on his sleeve, that's all, and they are easily scraped. As time goes on, he will increase his world and be so busy that the crying episodes will diminish. He, or she, may always cry easily; many people do. But control comes with the years, or at least a substitution for control.

The tendency may be partly inherited. It may be the result of one or more mysterious events early in life, unsuspected at the time. There may be only one such child in a family of five and all have had the same training and experiences, or apparently so. Therefore it is hard to understand. But don't be impatient with the one whose lacrimal glands over-produce. Neither pet him nor scold him. Indeed the less accent put on his weakness the better. He will cure himself to a certain extent, if his life is normally happy and busy, that is.

(Copyright, 1936, NEA)

FELTMAN & CURME

Guild Expansion Is Discussed at National Parley

By United Press

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Discussion of plans to expand activities of the Needwork Guild of America into areas where it is not now active today occupied delegates to the national convention here.

Business details and election of various executives dominated yesterday's session.

Mrs. Thomas J. Preston Jr., national president, announced the appointment of Mrs. Raymond Collins, for 11 years president of the Whittier (Cal.) branch of the Guild, as a member of the national board. Serving with her will be Mrs. Harry F. Fitzgerald, Pontiac, Mich., and Mrs. W. E. Tunnicliff, West Palm Beach, Fla.

The executive committee, customarily made up of women who live near national headquarters in Philadelphia, includes Mrs. John A. Hooper, York, Pa.; Mrs. H. T. Moore, Logan, Pa.; Mrs. Mahlon J. Bye, Primros, Pa.; Mrs. W. B. Woolley, Woodbury, N. J., and Mrs. James H. Mecum, Salem, N. J.

Others Are Re-Elected

Other national committee members and chairmen were re-elected, except Mrs. Clement B. Webster, who resigned as chairman of the revision committee. Miss Frances M. Dickinson, Trenton, N. J., was appointed to succeed her.

Mrs. Preston, a former first lady of the United States, is presiding over the convention.

Mrs. Preston, widow of the late President Grover Cleveland, told assembled delegates at the Fairmont Hotel that "every woman who is not on relief should belong to the Needwork Guild."

Among prominent women who registered yesterday were Mrs. Oliver S. Keely, Philadelphia, a member of the advisory board; Mrs.

C. H. Otersen and Mrs. H. F. Quick, Rockaway, Long Island; Mrs. C. J. Walker and Mrs. S. Walker, Bellmore, L. I.; Mrs. D. V. Bellejeau, Trenton, N. J.; Mrs. Blaine Truestell, Omaha; Mrs. James A. Dickson, St. Louis; Mrs. Stuart Cramer, Charlotte, N. C., and Mrs. R. Hartley Sherwood, Indianapolis.

Stouts' FACTORY

COOL

Shoes to Romp and Playin!

Children's Barefoot SANDALS

Sizes 5 1/2 to 8 79c

Sizes 8 1/2 to 11 89c

Sizes 11 1/2 to 2 $1

Sizes 2 1/2 to 8 $1.29

MADE IN WHITE, BROWN OR SMOKED ELK SANDALS

COMPOSITION SOLES INSURE GOOD WEAR

Stouts' Stores

318-332 Mass. Ave. (Second Block)

352-354 W. Wash. St.

STOUTS' STORES OPEN 8 A. M.

CLOSE WEEK DAYS, 5:30 P. M.; SATURDAY, 9 P. M.

SHOE STORES

Women's Group Urges Hoover's Name for Dam

DETROIT, May 22.—The National Society of New England Women concluded their annual convention here with presentation of resolutions and the induction of seven new officials to office.

During the semi-final session a legislative report included a recommendation that the Boulder Dam be renamed Hoover Dam "in honor of the ablest and most honest man in politics."

Mrs. Edward A. Strong, San Marino, Cal., chairman of the legislative committee, in commenting on the proposal, said: "If Mr. Hoover caused the depression, he wouldn't have been able to keep it going so long after he got out of office."

"We suggest that Mr. Roosevelt read his oath of office. Allocation of relief funds under the New Deal constitutes a campaign fund for the Democratic Party. We should get back to the government of law under the Constitution our fathers gave us."

In a partial election of officers yesterday the society, founded in 1895 and comprising membership of direct descendants of New England pioneers, naming the following for induction into office:

Mrs. George Howard, New York, first vice president; Miss Bird Aller, Los Angeles, third vice president; Mrs. Harold G. White, White Plains, N. Y., secretary; Mrs. George L. Palmer, Washington, D. C., registrar; Mrs. William H. Huffstader, Buffalo, N. Y., chaplain; and Mrs. Edward A. Strong, San Marino, Cal., and Mrs. George P. Pruitt, Kansas City, Mo., trustees.

She has had the advantage of the Poetry Forum held there Sunday night, guests of the hotel being invited. The poets represented were Kipling, Joyce Kilmer and Rupert Brooks, interpreted in dances by the French terpsichorean novelty artiste, Alexandra.

"I also spent a week at the Barnetts," said Mrs. Hess yesterday. "On Saturday I went to the Breakness. This week I will visit my friends in Bronxville, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Tripp, formerly of Indianapolis. I have enjoyed the plays and the select restaurants. I plan to return home this coming week."

Mrs. Hess hopes to be here for the Garden Tour on Tuesday, if she is not delayed in Bronxville. The tour is to be open for the National Student Association, which is to visit the estate of Mrs. John T. Pratt, Glen Cove. Mrs. Herbert Pratt's summer home, Welwyn, is adjoining, and also is visited by guests for the benefit of the Long Island Wayside Home for Girls, which was one of the philanthropies of the late Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt.

The hostesses were assisted by Miss Carpenter's mother, Mrs. E. L. Carpenter.

Appointments were in the bride's colors, rose and green, and roses were used to decorate the house.

Guests with Miss Bradford included her mother and Misses Evelyn Sickels, Scott, Zella Spence, Bess Garter, Maryanne Baker, Irene Ohr, Elizabeth Ohr, Mary Cain, Helen Jacobs, Katherine Hodapp, Jean Vestal and Mabel Hunt.

Others were Misses Helen Barber, Elizabeth Carpenter, Harriet Barkalow, and Mesdames Robert Lanham, William Marschke, Raymond J. Kane, Ralph McMullen, William J. Kaeber and Cecil S. Smith.

The hostesses were assisted by Miss Carpenter's mother, Mrs. E. L. Carpenter.

Appointments were in the bride's colors, rose and green, and roses were used to decorate the house.

Guests with Miss Bradford included her mother and Misses Evelyn Sickels, Scott, Zella Spence, Bess Garter, Maryanne Baker, Irene Ohr, Elizabeth Ohr, Mary Cain, Helen Jacobs, Katherine Hodapp, Jean Vestal and Mabel Hunt.

Others were Misses Helen Barber, Elizabeth Carpenter, Harriet Barkalow, and Mesdames Robert Lanham, William Marschke, Raymond J. Kane, Ralph McMullen, William J. Kaeber and Cecil S. Smith.

The hostesses were assisted by Miss Carpenter's mother, Mrs. E. L. Carpenter.

<p