

STATE LEADERS OF SOCIALISTS TO MAP DRIVE

Convention to Be Held Here May 20; 6 to Attend Cleveland Parley.

Indiana Socialists prepared for the November election today with plans for a state convention on May 30 and 31 in the Dearborn Hotel. Six delegates were to leave tomorrow for the party's national convention in Cleveland.

The Cleveland delegates are to be Powers Hapgood and Mrs. Mary Donovan Hapgood, his wife, Indianapolis; L. S. Halvorsen, Evansville; Mario Tomisch, Gary attorney; Hugo Rasmussen, Terre Haute, and Herbert Kimmell, Sullivan.

Alternates are Eugene Cooney, Merrill Jackson, Charles Rogers, Forrest Rogers, state secretary, Marjory Matson, Louis Freeman and W. H. Richards.

Expect 75 at Convention

It is estimated that approximately 75 party workers will attend the state convention. Thirty-two delegates are apportioned in counties and cities of the state. Marion County's quota is four.

A full state ticket is to be named Mr. Hapgood and Mr. Tomisch are discussed as gubernatorial candidates.

Large industrial counties are to put county tickets in the field, according to Mr. Rogers.

Polled 21,000 Votes

Socialists polled 21,000 votes in the last presidential election. Leaders hope to boost that total this year. Prospects for a "third party" this year are termed hopeless but Socialists believe a coalition of all liberal groups into a strong fusion ticket may result in 1938 and 1940, leaders said.

Mr. Hapgood, organizer for the United Mine Workers, is discussed as a possible running-mate of Norman Thomas. Mr. Thomas is to be offered the presidential nomination without opposition at the Cleveland convention, party leaders say.
