

CONCERT ARTISTS ARE SCHEDULED ON ANNUAL CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM

Opening at Winona Lake Set June 28

Former Opera Singer and Harpist Are Among Promised Stars.

The musical and curricular schedule for the forty-second annual Chautauqua season at Winona Lake, scheduled June 28 to Aug. 8, was announced today by James Heston, executive manager of Winona Lake Institutions.

Prominent among the artists scheduled for the concert series is Marion Talley, who has returned to the concert, radio and motion picture fields following her resignation from the New York Metropolitan Opera Co. in 1929.

Other promised features are a concert by Salvi, the harpist, and a string quartet, "The Prodigal Son" and "The Pirates of Penzance," of the Chamber Opera Co., the Kalamazoo Male Chorus, the Studebaker Male Chorus, Rollin Pease, baritone; George Morgan, baritone; the Sicilian Singers, and the Go-Forth Orchestra.

Memorial Services Special observances planned for the summer include a memorial service for the late evangelist, Billy Sunday, on July 26, with Dr. Joseph A. Vance, moderator of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., as principal speaker.

Foundation Day is to be observed Aug. 2, with an address by Dr. J. Raymond Schults of Manchester College. Federation of Women's Clubs Day, on July 30, is to be sponsored by women of the thirteenth district.

Among the schools in session during the summer are the School of Theology, the School of Sacred Music, School of Missions, Indiana University Biological Station, National Photographic School, Christian Choral School, School of Jewish Missions, and the Summer School of Religious Education.

Conventions Set Many conventions already have been scheduled. They include the Pre-Synodical of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, May 28-June 3; Reformed Presbyterian Synod, June 3-12; National Conference of Christian Youth, June 12-19; National Federation of Virginia Asher Bible Councils, July 20-24; Winona Schools Reunion, July 18-19; St. Joseph Conference, U. B. in Christ, Sept. 1-6; National Reform Association, July 27-Aug. 7; No-Tobacco League, Aug. 3-4; Bible Conference, Aug. 12-23; Young People's Christian Conference, Aug. 12-23; the Brethren Church Conference, Aug. 24-30; Eel River Christian Conference, Aug. 25-30.

Several Sunday School excursions to Winona also have been planned. The Winona Lake Institutions are to operate on an "open gate" basis this year, no charge being made for entrance to the grounds.

Sidener's Talk to Be on Radio C. M. B. Leader to Speak Over WFBM.

An address, "What It Takes to Win a Race," is to be given before the Christian Men Builders Class of Third Christian Church tomorrow morning by Merle Sidener, class leader and teacher. The program is to be broadcast by WFBM at 9:30.

A quartet from Burroughs-Jackson College of Music and Fine Arts, comprised of Hugh Mason, James Gilbreth, Fred Martin and John Power, is to provide music. Mrs. Jane Johnson Burroughs is to be accompanist.

For Sunday evening services at Forty-Ninth Street Christian Church, representatives of the C. M. B. public speaking group are to discuss "The Value of a Man." E. F. Ewing is to be chairman of the group. Other speakers are to be Ivan Gwinn, E. G. Phillips, John Crouse and Russell Lovelace.

Church Is to Honor Pastor and Wife

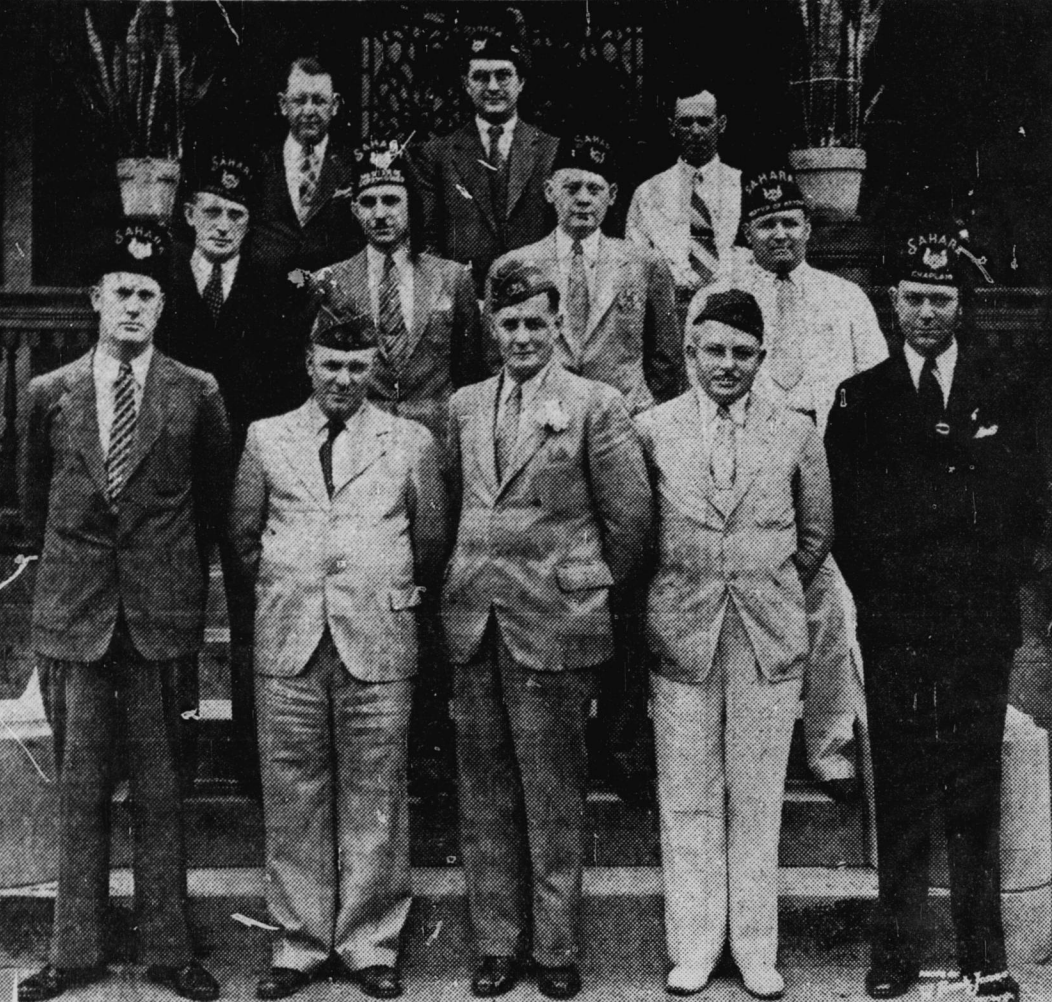

The congregation of the Washington Street Presbyterian Church is to hold a program in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. T. J. Simpson in the church social rooms following the union service tomorrow night. Members of other churches are invited to attend.

Mr. Simpson is to become pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Hammond, next month, after serving 13 years at the Washington Street Church.

Joyous Mars The "Imperial" mass by Franz Josef Haydn is to be sung at 4 tomorrow by the Christ Church 50-voice choir of men and boys, Cheston L. Heath, organist and master of chorists. Miss Elma Igleman, soprano, is to be the guest soloist.

The Haydn masses seldom are heard in liturgical services today because of their operatic character, which Mendelssohn is said to have described as "scandalously gay."

Jesus Is Force in Modern Life, Pastor States

Steadily Making Himself the Master of Men's Minds, Educator Says.

BY DR. THOMAS W. GRAHAM Dean of the Oberlin College School of Theology

There is much evidence that Jesus of Nazareth is steadily making Himself the master of life. His mind is compelling the minds of men. His life is compelling the ways of men.

Two of the most distinctive ideas of Jesus are working powerfully in the lump of contemporary life. As silently, but as pervasively as leaven, His conception of the ultimate value of every individual and his technique for dealing with "enemies" are moving through contemporary life.

That men and women have functional value has always been acknowledged. Since Jesus, more and more men have been compelled to recognize their intrinsic worth. Jesus demands that persons be put before all else. Instinctively life responds to that demand, and that response spells trouble for every individual and organization making of men a means of exploitation.

As surely as human slavery gave way before Jesus' reverence for personality, so surely must those more subtle forms of political, social and economic slavery, which chain men down, give way.

Jesus Showed the Way Man was made for the "fullness of the stature of life." He can be satisfied with nothing less since Jesus showed him his rights and his possibilities.

Much of the present turmoil of the world is rooted in the desire to be what Jesus was and said men could be, and as such, is the growing pains of a more Christian order. For dissonance so rooted the world should be profoundly glad.

So, too, with the growing protest against violence and war, and all that makes for fear, distrust and hatred. When Jesus said, "Love your enemies" he was on the way to turn the world upside down. He knew that vengeance was a foul spirit. Even "an eye for an eye" was a principle leading to the aggravation of social and national ills.

Society Built on Goodwill A satisfying society, according to Jesus, can grow only out of social relationships on the loving desire to share with all men that which is for the common good, and cheerfully as a lover to meet the cost.

History amply justifies Jesus in His claim that no other procedure develops men of proper goodwill, only men of goodwill develop peace. Thus Jesus calls for a thoroughgoing pacifism of a realistic and positive kind.

To His pacifism, because it is one of healing, there is a rapidly growing response. In it more and more men see the one adequate technique through which a distracted world may be born again to peace and power.

'The Holy City' Is to Be Given

Gaul's Oratorio Is to Be Presented Sunday.

Gaul's oratorio, "The Holy City," is to be given at the Irvington Methodist Church tomorrow night. The Rev. Guy O. Carpenter is pastor of the church. J. Russell Paxton is the choir director, and Mrs. Paxton is organist.

Guest soloists for the occasion are to be Mrs. Ruth Sterling Devin, soprano; Mrs. Mildred Moore, contralto; Farrell Scott, tenor, and William Moon, baritone. The following singers are to augment the regular choir: Mrs. Sherrader and Sally Halterman, first sopranos; Maxine Meritz and Gertrude Fox, second sopranos; Vesta Ketterly, Ruth Davis and Nelda Johnson, altos.

Pastor Back From Long Speaking Tour

The Rev. Arthur W. Womack, pastor of the Greater Phillips C. M. E. Temple, has returned from a speaking tour of Tennessee, Alabama, North Carolina, Philadelphia and the A. M. E. General Conference in New York. He is to speak on "Echoes of the General Conference" tomorrow morning, and will give further reports at the afternoon service.

Dr. Womack's subject tomorrow night is to be "Are Conditions Better or Worse for Race Men?" On Monday night the Twenty-fifth Street Baptist choir is to present a program of spirituals and jubilee songs at the Phillips Temple.

Topic Announced

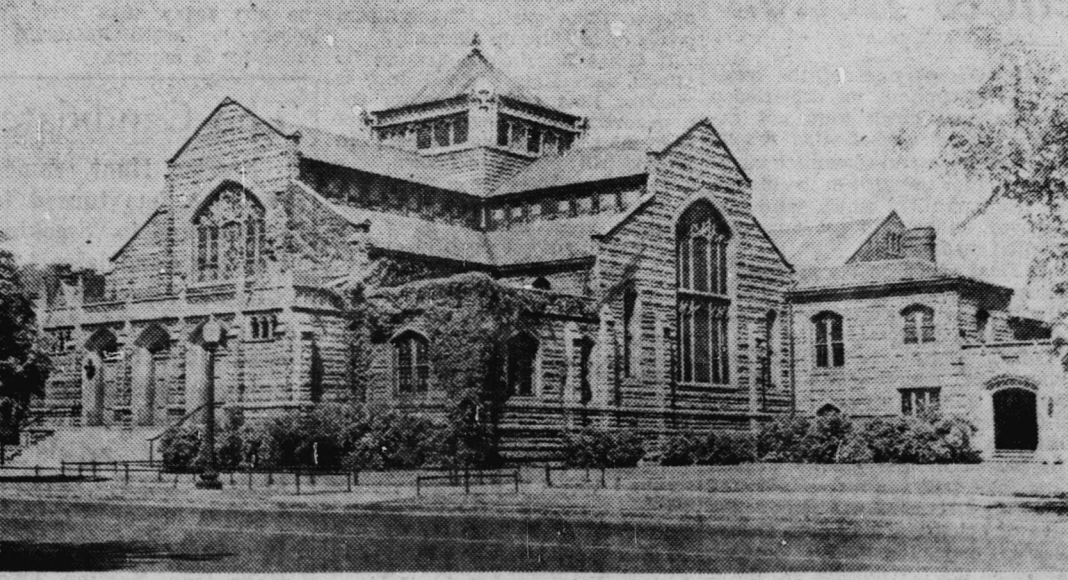

"Temperance" is to be the lesson subject of the Seventh Presbyterian Church's Men's Bible Class at 9:30 tomorrow morning. Samuel E. Garrison is the teacher.

Our Treasures, evening, "Two Bible Rivers."

University Heights-The Rev. Roy H. Taylor, pastor, Morning, "The Kingdom"; night, service in charge of young people.

UNITARIAN All Souls-The Rev. F. S. C. Wicks, pastor, Morning, "So Pleasant to Live With."

CHURCH'S FOURTH BUILDING IN 113 YEARS

The first Presbyterian Church edifice (shown above) was dedicated in October, 1903. It is the fourth building that the church has occupied since its founding 113 years ago, the third, situated at Pennsylvania and New York-sts., having been removed for the erection of the Post Office Building. The church contains a Tiffany window, "Angel of Resurrection," given by Mrs. Benjamin Harrison in memory of her husband, who was an elder of the church from 1861 until his death in 1903.
