laid on experience as a requisite for employment.

W. R. Faulkes, Wisconsin supervisor of vocational rehabilitation, and B. H. Thompson, Milwaukee office manager, Wisconsin State Employment Service, spoke on handicapped jobless at the second day session.

Jerome Hubbard of the United States Employment Service spoke on "Intra and Inter-State Clearance."

Mr. Thompson said, "The type of position or job in which an applicant is placed depends upon the applicant himself and the manner in which he responds to the training given by the Rehabilitation Department. There are no set rules for placements. The type work depends entirely upon the applicant."

This afternoon the delegates were to make an inspection tour of the Real Silk Hosiery and Eli Lilly & Co. plants. The annual banquet is to be held tonight at 7 at the Claypool.

Principal speakers at the banquet are to be Clarence A. Jackson, director of the State Unemployment Compensation Division, who is to talk on "Unemployment Insurance in Indiana," and R. Gordon Wagoner, director of Unemployment Compensation of the Federal Social Security Board, who is to speak on "Unemployment Insurance in the United States."

Ayres Official Is Speaker

"More jobs will be open for the right people in the next year than have been available for the last five or ten years," W. Rowland Allen, S. Ayres & Co. personnel manager, said in an address yesterday afternoon.

"Adaptability, the talent of working with others, is the new standard employers use in choosing workers," he said. "What business expects from the public employment service is the right person right away for the job, and it wants people who fit the jobs, not people who need jobs."

He charged that business men are not co-operating as they should with the public service. Instead of communicating their probable future needs to the service, they always "want a man yesterday," Mr. Allen declared.

"A person out of a job is in an unnatural state of mind," Mr. Allen said. "He feels that he no longer belongs in society. It is a dangerous attitude, and as England found out, if it goes on too long the jobless person becomes unemployable."

R. C. Atkinson of the Social Science Research Council, spoke on the council's study of the public employment service and unemployment insurance.

The objectives of the study are to determine major problems of the service, successful methods of handling these problems, and standards of organization, personnel, procedure and costs," Mr. Atkinson said.

Committees Are Named

The following committee appointments were announced at the afternoon session by Martin F. Carpenter, association president. Resolutions, James H. McGinnis, chairman; A. H. Atwood, P. J. Charlet, H. C. Hudson and Miss Claire Lewis. Credentials, Mrs. M. L. West, chairman; Charles L. Hodge and Harry Lippart.

Front Row—Victoria Sollman, 2617 E. Michigan-st.; Virginia Thomann, 2442 Central-av.; Iona Lou Schlueter, 909 East-dr, Woodruff Place; Maxine Shrader, 6128 Lowell-av; Florence Adams, 1226 N. Wallace-st.

Rear Row—Dorothea Graber, 830 Iowa-st; John Nihoff, 571 N. Highland-av; Martha Schreiber, 2915 N. Pennsylvania-st; and Pauline Toombs, 653 Beville-av.

Any one between the ages of 16 and 22 is eligible to try out for a role in the forthcoming picture. Registrations will be accepted daily through Saturday.

Code for Tenants Adopted by Local Apartment Owners

'BLACK LEGION' PROBED HERE

Prosecutor and G-Men to Investigate Following Times Disclosures.

preceded the word "Rank." The other note bore the number "610X7." Last of all, at the bottom, appeared "Black Legion-611X7." The other note's number was "610X7."

Inside was a piece of cheap white paper, about the same size, upon which was typed the following message:

"Comrade: We must reorganize quickly! We suffered a shock that has broke our stride but we will get back to our feet and race on through the night and show them how (apparently typing error) it is done."

"The Chief has given the order: 'Follow comrades we must not give up. We must make the symbol of the skull and cross-bones the terror of the world.' We must and will take the law in our own hands by August."

"Please sign up now! A Lieutenant will call at your house soon (at night in robe). Give your membership to him. He will be your leader and you will get all information from him."

"MAJOR 29K1."

On each document was the imprint of a stamp in purple ink. The design had 16 points connected by seven circles. Indianapolis rubber stamp manufacturers said they believed no such stamp was manufactured and suggested that it may have been cut from cork.

The imprint, they said, did not appear to have been made by rubber.

The two pieces of paper were folded lengthwise and fastened by what appeared to be gummed paper tape similar to that used in groceries.

The occupant of an apartment at which one of the notes was left denied all knowledge of it. He said he knew of no one who would have sent it either in earnest or jest.

At the same time, Lima (O.) authorities disclosed that records of the Black Legion in their possession indicate that the organization went by various names in the different states, and were designated as "Red Legs" in parts of Indiana, and "The Black Brigade" in West Virginia.

From Fort Wayne came information that an organization there believed to be closely connected with "The Black Legion" was called "The Black Snakes."

Playing of Radios After 11 at Night Barred in New Rules.

The Indianapolis Apartment owners' Association today announced the adoption of a code of uniform rules and regulations to govern all tenants of property controlled by association members.

The code was drafted by the rules committee headed by J. Allen Dawson at a luncheon meeting in the Washington yesterday.

It provides that all tenants must sign rental contracts providing for 30 days written notice to vacate except in cases of written leases; all rents to be paid monthly in advance; immediate possession will take place if rent is not paid when due; tenants must deposit $1 on keys; dogs and cats are not to be permitted.

The rules also forbid the use of radios before 7:30 a. m. or after 11 p. m. and warn that "no unnecessary noise will be countenanced at any time."

In apartments where limited electric current is furnished tenants are to be billed for any excess consumption over the contract. Tenants are not to be permitted to install or remove fixtures without the consent of the agent. Neither agents, or owners are to be held responsible for damage, loss or theft of tenants' property.

The association claimed that the rules are for the benefit of the tenant as well as the landlord and "a strict adherence to same will eliminate misunderstanding."

COURT FREES FUND TO EQUIP NEW HOSPITAL

$22,985.43 Grant Second to Be Released From Butler Estate.

Funds for the completion of the Indianapolis Flower Mission Memorial Hospital and the John Maurice Butler Dispensary and Aid to the Sick Poor of Indianapolis today had been authorized by Probate Judge Smiley N. Chambers.

The grant of $22,985.43 is the second from the trust funds established by the late Mrs. Susan W. Butler and Mrs. Margaret Butler Snow in commemoration of John Maurice Butler.

The amount necessary to complete the hospital units is $38,543.28. A Federal grant of $11,262.98 and a balance of $4294.87 left from the erection of the building, along with the funds from the trust, is to be used for the purpose, Judge Chambers said.

Hospital Building Completed

The hospital has been erected for some time but has not been equipped. It was built for indigent persons suffering from advanced cases of tuberculosis, according to Dr. Charles W. Myers, superintendent of City Hospital, of which the Memorial Hospital is to become a unit.

The building was erected at a cost of approximately $170,000, of which amount $48,000 came from the trust fund, Judge Chambers said.

"The additional money is to be used to complete a small part of the building program such as painting interior walls and work on exterior walks and drives. Most of it is to be used for buying hospital equipment," Dr. Myers said. "This equipment, which includes everything necessary for a modern hospital, is to cost about $32,653."

It is expected that the hospital can be opened in about 60 days, according to Dr. Myers.

"After that our big problem will be to find funds to maintain it," he said.

A budget for the hospital is to be presented this fall to the City Council. It will include these funds, he said. If it is turned down the money must be raised by some other method, he said.

Special attention is directed to high school students as the story is based on high school activities.

his superior officer, with the suggestion that he should be reprimanded for his derogatory statements of a government's constructive program for the protection of society through the rehabilitation of persons who have been found guilty of a crime against the state."

Conference leaders today said that the election of Philip Lutz Jr., Indiana attorney general, as the new president of the Central States Conference could be expected this afternoon.

Dr. Lutz served as chairman of the general arrangements committee for the conference here.

Mr. Scully said that he would also make recommendations to the conference that a system of inter-state co-operation be effected by those states having compact or those states having a centralized parole system.

The constantly increasing amount of crime directly traceable to "repeaters" is sufficient evidence that penal methods designed to exact revenge do not protect society against crime, but serve rather to add to its menace, J. Bruce Airey, Alabama Parole Board member, said today.

Mr. Airey stated that "the protection of society is the purpose of punishment for crime and all methods and procedures for determining and administering punishment must be judged accordingly."

Others who spoke on the morning program were Mrs. Marion Gallup, Indiana Woman's Prison superintendent; John J. Grosch, New Orleans, (La.) chief of detectives; Col. John J. Hannon, Wisconsin State Board of Control president; and Leland S. Dougan, Ohio Parole Board chairman.

Opposes Too Much Leniency

He said that any parole supervision should be so conceived, designed and executed as to deter the potential criminal.

"Parole work should not be so toned down with the element of leniency as to fail in the reformation of the actual criminal," he said.

Mr. Airey added that the vast majority of prisoners should remain within prison walls.

There is tremendous significance to the fact that we are working with those with whom the several developing and ennobling agencies of civilization have failed. The home, the school and society have failed for any one of a number of reasons to bring to normal development the minds and hearts of our prisoners, or else we would not have them within the prison walls today," he said.

Annual Banquet Tonight

The annual banquet and ball is to be held tonight. Gov. McNutt is to deliver the principal address. William Fortune, Indianapolis Red Cross chairman, is to be toastmaster.

Mrs. Gallup said that successful parole work with women should function in two directions. "It should keep the repeated recidivist, who seems unable to make any satisfactory adjustment, institutionalized; at the same time it should help the accidental offender to regain her self-confidence, to readjust her sense of values and relationships aimed to build life anew, motivated by a more intelligent understanding and socialized point of view," she said.

The principal address at the closing session tomorrow is to be given by Sanford Bates, Washington, Federal prisons director.
