

LOW TAX RATE AVAILABLE FOR TIMBER AREAS

$1-an-Acre Rate Offered to Owners Applying This Month.

Indiana landowners who have areas suitable for timber production and wish to take advantage of the state's forest land classification law should file applications with the forestry division this month, Virgil M. Simmons, Conservation Department commissioner, said today.

There are approximately 120,000 acres of privately-owned, classified forest land in Indiana while applications for the classification of an additional 10,000 acres are already on file, Mr. Simmons reported.

Each tract submitted for classification must be inspected by a representative of the forestry division before it can be accepted and certified to the auditor of the county in which it is located.

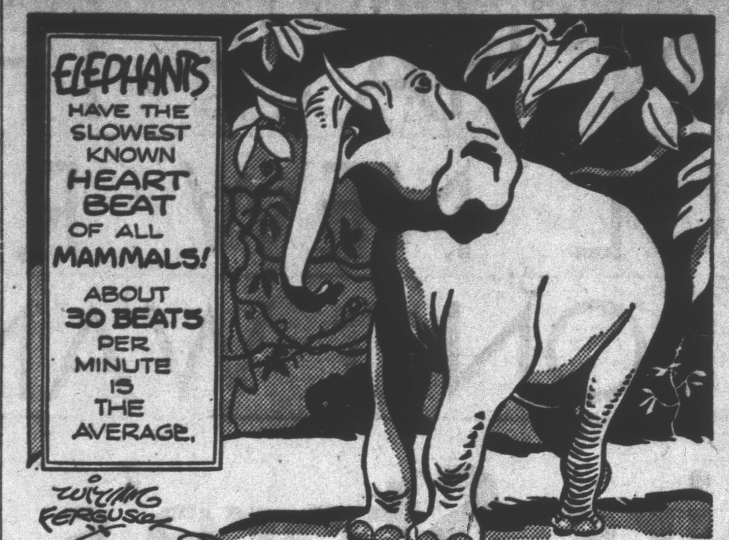

Indiana's forest land classification law, enacted in 1921, seeks to encourage reforestation and timber production throughout the state by listing such classified areas for taxation at a valuation of $1 per acre, he said.

In return for this low rate of taxation, the owner agrees to make such forestry plantings as may be required, to protect the area from forest fire, and to keep grazing stock out of the area. No tract of less than three acres can be accepted for classification.

One or more tracts of classified forest land are located in each county with the major acreage in sections of southern Indiana where soil and other conditions make agriculture unprofitable.

Owners of land which might be acceptable for classification as forest land, can obtain applications and other information by addressing the Division of Forestry, Department of Conservation, State Library Building, Indianapolis, Mr. Simmons said.

Elephants have a heart beat rate less than half that of humans, and contrary to the findings with all other animals, an elephant's heart beats faster when he is lying down than when he is standing up. One elephant examined was found to have a heart that beat only 22 times per minute.

ZONING BOARD APPROVES SIX PERMIT PLEAS

Two of Applicants Granted Temporary Permission to Operate Stores.

Four variances in city zoning regulations and two temporary permits were granted yesterday at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Board of Zoning Appeals. Another petition was held over until the next meeting on June 22.

Petitioners and requests granted were: Denny Motor Transfer Co., north of 302 W. McCarty-st., permission to install a 12,000-gallon gasoline tank for private use providing the firm complies with regulations of the state fire marshal's office; Ernest Weaver, 310 E. St. Clair-st., permission to operate an ice delivery station and to erect a sign against the house; J. F. Farmer, 1812 Beville-av., permission to erect an addition between the existing house and garage; Wiley C. Perry, southwest corner of Delaware and Raymond-sts., permission to erect a single house to within two feet of the property line of Delaware-st.

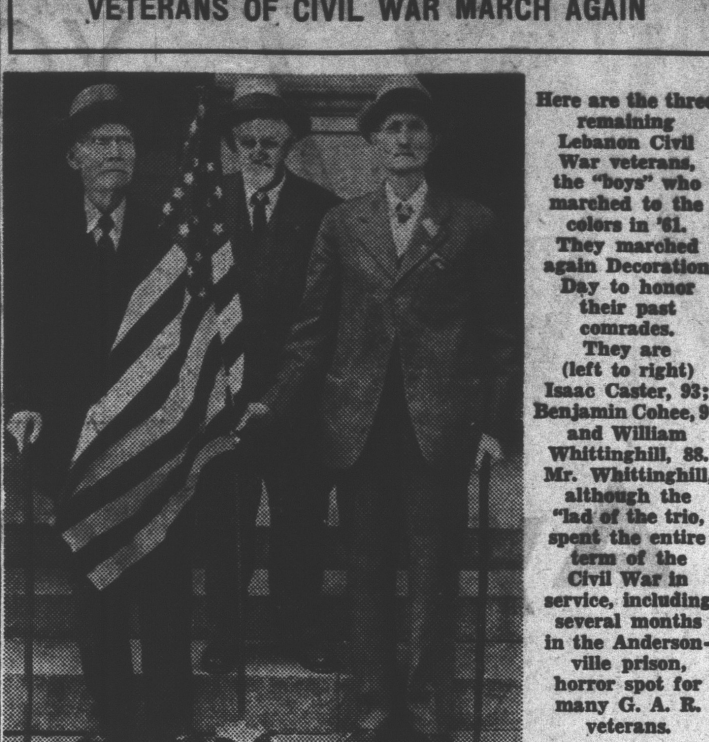

Six-month temporary permits were granted to Carson Mayfield Hutton, 3018 Newton-av., to operate a confectionery business in the front room of the house, and to William and Ellen C. McVey, 831 Laurel-st., to operate a confectionery store in his home.

Action on the petition of Henry M. Coombs, southeast corner of 26th-st. and Sherman-dr., to use the premises as an automobile wrecking lot, was postponed until the next hearing.

VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR MARCH AGAIN

Here are the three remaining Lebanon Civil War veterans, the "boys" who marched to the colors in '61. They marched again Decoration Day to honor their past comrades. They are (left to right) Isaac Casler, 93; Benjamin Collee, 94, and William Whittinghill, 88. Mr. Whittinghill, although the "lad of the trio," spent the entire term of the Civil War in service, including several months in the Andersonville prison, horror spot for many G. A. R. veterans.
