

Local Women Golfers Prepare Program for State Tournament at Indianapolis Country Club

130 Entries Expected from All Sections of Hoosierdom for Five-Day Event Opening July 13.

Indianapolis women golfers are preparing to entertain guests from all sections of Indiana when the state championship women's golf tournament is held at the Indianapolis Country Club, July 13 to 17.

Local women have been appointed to the committee in charge of tournament details. A dinner honoring out-of-town women guests is to be given at the country club the night preceding the tournament's opening flight. Mrs. Ben Olsen is dinner committee chairman, and is to be assisted by Mrs. MacGregor Morris and Miss Dorothy Ellis.

Registration is to be under direction of Mrs. J. S. White, chairman; Mrs. Dudley Gallahe and Mrs. Vern Ray.

Foursome Committee Named
The committee in charge of the two-ball mixed foursome is to be headed by Mrs. A. L. Piel. Other members are to include: Mesdames Olsen, Marjorie Kahn, William Hutchinson, Ben Stone, Miss Dorothy Ellis, Glen Howe, William Diddle, Caleb Lodge, Bernie Lehman, Roy Smith and Paul Frame.

Hostesses are to include Mesdames Morris, Herbert Piel, William Sparks, E. M. Chamberlin, I. C. Dehaven, E. F. Dean, George Fordy, Cleon Nafe, Pat Atkins, J. S. White and Charles Latham.

Mrs. Ben Parks is to be chairman for the putting contest, to be held Wednesday afternoon, immediately following the matches. She is to be assisted by Mrs. Robert Fleischer and Mrs. Henry Davis.

Events scheduled for the tournament begin with the qualifying round Monday. The annual business meeting and banquet are scheduled that evening at the club.

First Round Tuesday
First-round matches are to be Tuesday. Second-round matches, consolation flights for Tuesday losers and the putting contest are arranged for Wednesday. Third-round matches are to be held Thursday, and are to be followed by a two-ball mixed foursome.

A dinner and dance are to be given at the club Thursday night, and the final championship match is to be held Friday, to be followed by the awarding of trophies.

Approximately 70 prizes to be awarded are to be on display at the club next Friday. There are to be trophies for each flight, second-day losers, putting, the two-ball foursomes, semi-finalist and medalist.

Approximately 130 women are expected to enter the tournament, and arrangements are being made to accommodate a large gallery.

A large delegation of women from South Bend is expected here for the tournament. It is to include Mrs. T. G. Skiller, Mrs. K. T. Knode, Miss Dorothy Gustafson, Mrs. H. L. Cooper, Mrs. W. B. Clevenger, Mrs. Calvert Shorb, Mrs. Everett Baldorf and Miss Margaret Kliner.

Columbus Entries Expected
From the newly organized club at Columbus, Ind., tournament officials are expecting Misses Cornelia Snider, Bernadine Erickson and Hazel Lienberger.

Other out-of-town entries are expected to include Mrs. Charles Fulton, Anderson; Miss Florence Hunsicker, West Lafayette; Miss Natalie Barnes, Renaissair; Mrs. Victor Schleyer, Anderson; Mrs. W. R. Deal, Mrs. Bennett Bobbitt and Miss Nelle Coxen, Kokomo; Miss Alma Centivire and Mrs. William S. O'Rourke Jr., Fort Wayne; and Mrs. L. S. Sams, Elkhart.

Also Mrs. Thomas J. Doherty and Miss Helen Benbridge, Terre Haute; Mrs. W. E. Murchie, Warsaw; Mrs. Jeanne Nabor and Miss Kathleen Kelly, Leesburg.

Mesdames O. L. Harrell, D. B. Jenkins, John Sommerburg, J. K. Meera and R. B. Neal, and Misses Josephine Sturdevant and Grace McConnell, Noblesville.

CHEER IS ADDED BY BRIGHT COLORS
The room that does not get much sunlight can be made more cheerful by the decorative scheme of the room.

The owners of a home which had a dining room facing north decided on the use of a pictorial paper to make the room appear brighter.

A wainscoting paper had been used above this, making a charming background for the family's furniture but creating a gloomy atmosphere. A pictorial paper, done in light colors, depicting grassy slopes and gay flowers, was chosen. The woodwork was repainted in its original ivory color. This was the only change made in the room, but the difference was unbelievable.

A green carpet was laid on the grassy effect. Side curtains of a dull orange reflected sunlight in the room, harmonizing with the mahogany furniture. Instead of a dull dining room, the glory of a June day was permanently reflected.

Pineapple Juice Drink
When unexpected company arrives, nothing does more to liven up an ordinary meal than a tasty appetizer. Canned, unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice provides an ideal emergency appetizer for such occasions. Serve ice cold with a marshmallow, or a sprig of mint if available in each glass.

Shelf Over Fireplace
In place of the usual mirror or painting generally found above the fireplace in the average home, one housewife used the space for built-in shelves, in which pieces of an old china collection were displayed.

Plants for Curtains
If you have a window that you do not want to cover with side curtains, but still want the colorful effect in your room, try a series of small shelves up each side of the window, holding potted plants.

Three Principals in Engagement and Wedding Announcements of the Month

St. Patrick's Scene of Davey-Braun Marriage Rites

Miss Catherine Anne Davey, daughter of Dr. Hugh Davey, was married this morning to Bernard W. Braun, son of Charles F. Braun Sr., at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with the Rev. John P. O'Connell officiating.

The bride wore a white satin gown, princess style, with a long train and a standing collar outlined in pearls. Her tulle veil fell from a coronet outlined in pearls, and she carried Johanna Hill roses.

Miss Cecelia Davey, her sister, was bridesmaid. She wore cornflower blue lace with pink accessories, and carried an arm bouquet of Briarcliff roses. Miss Roseann Davey, another sister, was maid of honor. She wore pink lace with blue accessories and carried Talisman roses and delphinium.

Ushers were Gerald P. Davey, brother of the bride, and Joseph Braun, brother of the bridegroom. Leo Braun, another brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a breakfast was served for the bridal party at Cliffl's. The couple is to be at home in Columbus, O., following a short wedding trip.

Brief Boiling Prevents Waste

Despite an early spring promise of a bumper fruit crop, current agricultural reports disclose that the yield is to be lighter this season than usual. To make fruits and berries go as far as possible, the National Jelly Making Institute advises jam and jelly makers to use pectin in replenishing their jam cupboards.

"There is little likelihood there will be any serious shortage of fruits," the Institute reports. "But fruits are a little higher in price than usual at this time of year, so it behooves the housewife to use them intelligently. It is an indisputable fact that by using pectin in making jellies and jams, the boiling time is cut down and less juice is wasted in evaporation. Therefore, the yield in glasses is greater."

Recommended by the Institute for jelly making are these quick-boil recipes:

Raspberry-Strawberry Jelly
4 cups (2 lbs.) juice
8 cups (3 1/2 lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare juice, crush thoroughly or grind about 1 1/2 quarts each fully ripe raspberries and strawberries. Combine fruits, place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire, and boil hard 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Then add bottled fruit pectin, bring again to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 11 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Sweet Cherry Conserve
4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
Grated lemon rind
1/2 cup lemon juice
7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar
1/2 pound chopped seeded raisins
1 cup finely chopped nut meats
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, pit about two and one-half pounds fully ripe sweet cherries. Crush thoroughly or grind. Add one-quarter cup water, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 15 minutes. (For stronger cherry flavor, add one-quarter teaspoon almond extract before pouring.) Grate rind and squeeze juice from two lemons. Measure sugar and prepared fruit, add lemon juice, and mix well, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Add lemon rind and juice, raisins, and nut meats, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard five minutes. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just five minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 11 glasses (six fluid ounces each).

Frances Bey Wed in Church Chapel

Marriage services for Miss Frances Esther Bey and W. Kenneth Vandivier were read this morning in the Blessed Sacrament Chapel of St. Peter and Paul Cathedral.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton W. Bey, Vincennes, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Vandivier of Indianapolis.

The bride wore white silk net and a small net turban with a veil to the shoulders and carried lilies of the valley and white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Ann Bey, her sister, wore a peach organza redingote with blue accessories, and a large picture hat, and carried delphinium and Briarcliff roses.

J. Carl Vandivier, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride is a graduate of Vincennes High School, and has lived in Indianapolis the last four years. The bridegroom is a graduate of Butler University, and Indiana Law School, and a member of Delta Theta Phi legal fraternity.

Following a wedding trip, the couple is to be at home in Indianapolis.

Business Women Quickly May Erase Signs of Work

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

Facial pick-me-ups and other quick methods of making the business girl look like a new, rested person in less time than it takes to tell it are a personal boon. Ways and means to change easily from a tired-looking career woman to a glamor girl of whom he will be proud are important bits of knowledge to one who works.

A bath, preferably a leisurely one in a tub of perfumed water, is the first step, of course. Clean your face and throat thoroughly. Then cover them with rich cream or a good mask before you step into the tub. The cream will be absorbed or the mask will have a chance to dry while you are scrubbing back, shoulders and legs and freshening up your fingernails.

Since time is at a premium, business women generally find commercially prepared masks handier than homemade types. One especially good mask, made by a reputable company and designed to do its freshening-up work in 15 minutes, looks and smells like fresh strawberries in whipped cream. You simply wash with soap and water, smooth on the mask, take your bath or lie down for a quarter of an hour, then remove it. If you have a dry complexion, use cream after the final rinsing. Your skin will look fresh and rested, and ready to receive evening makeup.

New Suntan Makeup
The company that makes the strawberry mask also features special suntan makeup for the girl who likes her skin to be a deep copper shade during the summer months. There is a carnelian cream rouge which is heat-resistant, a reddish-brown lipstick to match; also a harmonizing dry rouge to put on during the evening when you haven't time to apply the cream again, or for a quick touch-up after tennis. The finishing lotion is a new suntan shade which accents the natural, darkened tone of the skin.

If, while on vacation, you eliminate stockings, try the finishing lotion.

Too much bidding, perhaps, but very fine play.

Monarch of Salads

Probably the monarch of all salads is a calavo half shell, filled with juicy sections of grapefruit over which has been poured a judicious amount of tart, thin French dressing. A few slices of stuffed green olives give an unusual flavor.

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Miss Martha Rodgers, her only attendant, wore pink crepe with a pink hat and a rose corsage. Kenneth Schilling, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, 570 E. Fall Creek-blvd. Following a wedding trip, the couple is to be at home at 1129 N. Alabama-st.

Personals
Mrs. Harvey J. Elam and her daughter, Miss Mary Elam, and son, James, are to spend the summer at Torch Lake. Miss Elam is to be among guests of Miss Helen Taggart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Taggart, at a house party this weekend, at Higgins Lake for her schoolmates at Gulf Park College.

Miss Alice Tinney, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Tinney, left yesterday for an extended cruise, during which she is to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Purcell, at Gibraltar, Ann Arbor, Mich. Mothers who insistently tell boys and girls

Miss Mary Tharp Becomes Bride of Myron Thomas

Mr. and Mrs. Myron H. Thomas are on a wedding trip in the Cumberland Mountains.

The marriage of Miss Mary Virginia Tharp, daughter of Mrs. Ernestine Tharp, and Mr. Myron Thomas, son of Mrs. Jessie Thomas, was solemnized last night at the future home of the couple, 4317 E. Washington-st.

The Rev. James Parsons, uncle of the bridegroom, read the ceremony in the presence of immediate families and intimate friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother Jack, wore a white sharkskin tailored suit with blue accessories and carried the lace handkerchief which her paternal grandmother carried at her wedding 62 years ago.

SHOWER IS GIVEN FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Elizabeth Leneham, whose marriage to Edward V. Moriarty is to take place July 18, was honored guest at a handkerchief shower given by Mrs. Verna Randall, 713 W. 31st-st.

Favors and decorations were in the bridal colors of peach, blue, yellow and white.

The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Frank Sawyer.

Miss Mary Tharp, who is a graduate of the University of Chicago, is a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Tharp are expecting a child in the fall.

Average Mother, Daughter Pay More for 'Beauty' Than Health
BY HELEN WELSHIMER
A wise doctor made a remark the other day that is well worth the quoting. Dr. Morris Fishbein, eminent medical authority, who edits the Journal of the American Medical Association and writes the health column for NEA Service and The Times, gave a challenge to the women of the nation.

He said: "In the average family, with a mother and a daughter, more is spent for the care of the women's feet, including cutting, waving, setting and permanent waving, than is spent on medical care for the whole family. The appeal of fashion is greater than the appeal of health, in other words."

"Doctors must educate the public, study the situation and experiment in new forms of selling and paying for medical service, just as was done by those with cars and radios to sell. It is purely an economic question."

Women who would not miss the regular date for a wave, cheerfully paying the price of transient beauty, completely neglect to budget towards health.

"How do you know that I will ever need an appendectomy?" they ask.

Well, how do you know that you won't? Isn't the peace of mind which comes when your health is insured worth the few dollars which make up a health budget? Isn't it more important to be able to have an operation when it is needed than to have a marcel the day of the literary club meeting?

Isn't it more sensible to know that your dental work is taken care of than to apply toothache medicine to a decayed molar while skillful fingers try to erase wrinkles?

Certainly beauty is its own excuse for being. When it is a synthetic product, bought at the cost of health, however, it is as flimsy and fragile as a piece of cellophane.

Any one can see through it! Without a sound health basis, there can be no beauty.

"But maybe I will never need medical aid! In that case, my saved money will never help me!" you may say.

It will bear dividends, never fear. Dividends in peace of mind that will obliterate wrinkles and brighten eyes. Then, too, you will have the necessary physical and dental examinations, at regular intervals, when your budget permits them. You will not be taken unawares, some day, by a swift, sure pain which necessitates a critical operation that could have been decreased in danger or avoided if the disease had been caught in time. You will be playing safe, not on a margin.

Budgeting for health should be as much a part of the distribution of the family income as budgeting for rent and food and fuel. Mothers who insistently tell boys and girls

Husband, Wife Are Helped by Understanding

Family Peace Requires Forgiveness, Writer Points Out.

(Dr. Morris Fishbein discusses infant health. Page 10.)

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

There must be peace in family life if nothing else. It takes character to remember this, and to act accordingly.

Nothing is so contagious as a bad temper, nothing so depressing as complaint. How useless both are, and how childish!

It would be a grand thing if every mother and father could change places once a week. But even this would hardly help to a better understanding of each other's difficulties, because it is impossible to hop into another's shoes and feel like him. All of us develop obsessions about our work that even our partners could not understand in a thousand years.

Mary Feels Neglected
Mary has been up half the night with the baby. She gets up to another hot, hard day. John, she thinks bitterly, has had a full night's sleep and off in that office thinks he's working when he adds up a few figures. He comes home at 6, expects his dinner, and then doesn't help with the dishes. He won't even take her to a movie.

When John goes to work, he has a feeling, however, that he has left Mary secure in a house fairly comfortable. She will have food and at least some conveniences. She will be busy, yes, and tired, too, poor girl, but if she's desperately tired, the way he feels so much of the time, she can get her head on a pillow for a few minutes once in a while.

Maybe the work will have to wait, but once in a corner Mary can let it go at that and get some rest. Moreover, she's her own boss. Nobody to crack a whip over her head if he is so mentally and spiritually fogged a carpet beater, or even a dish cloth, irritates him further.

Mary says the installment man was there the other day. The buggy is off, she's had a headache and for all he cares she could die and good riddance.

Must Make Allowances
John, seething inside all day over the mess and nagging of the office manager, the wheeling and dealing if he didn't both Mary and the baby would starve, now turns on her and lets her go the blast. An explosion is necessary to relieve his tortured feelings, so Mary seethes and rubs salt in the wound, although she doesn't guess, gets the broadside.

Maybe it has to be this way. Character is one thing and limit of endurance is another. Both are finite. Each thinks the other does not give them credit; life is no bed of roses and looks as black as the bottom of a dry river bed.

But Mary should try to remember that John is pegging away at a distasteful job day after day to give her a certain security and independence. John, that Mary is fighting her way every hour under the pressure of a dozen annoyances and discouragements, rearing his child as well as hers and being as brave about it as a woman of Mary's undeveloped type can be. He must give Mary time to cultivate emotional strength and be as patient as he can.

Not until husband and wife learn to respect each other's troubles and allow for them, forgive special failings and understand the battles each is fighting alone, can there be peace. And there should be peace.

SERVES 14 YEARS AT HOOSIER A. C.

Miss Flora Kinder, Hoosier Athletic Club swimming instructor, completes her fourteenth year as a club auxiliary Tuesday night.

Approximately 400 persons have been taught to swim by Miss Kinder, she estimates.

Miss Kinder, who gives instruction to women and children, has taught several infants less than 2 years old. Her oldest pupil was a woman more than 75.

According to Miss Kinder, children of 7 are the best pupils. This year's new generations, all pupils of Miss Kinder's are members of her swimming class. They are Mrs. O. C. Herdick, mother; Mrs. William Hopkins, daughter, and Donald Hopkins, grandson.

WILSON-FROMM WEDDING TO BE THIS AFTERNOON

Miss Martha Jane Fromm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Fromm, 5939 Guilford-av, is to be married this afternoon to W. Earl Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wilson.

The wedding is to take place in the home of her parents with the Rev. Frederick A. Davies of the Zion Evangelical Church officiating.

The bride is to wear a pink chiffon afternoon dress. She is to carry a white lace Bible, from which she is to be streamers of white satin ribbon studded with sweetheart roses.

Miss Wilma Engel Hart, Pontiac, Mich., her attendant, is to wear yellow chiffon, and carry Joanna Hill roses, baby's breath and delphinium. Helen Fromm, Chillicothe, O., flower girl, is to wear white, and is to carry a basket of garden flowers.

The bride is to be given in marriage by her father before an altar backed with palms and ferns. Her mother is to wear white crepe suit, and the mother of the bridegroom is to wear a pink crepe suit.

Out-of-town guests are to include grandmothers of the bride and bridegroom, Mrs. L. G. Dugan, St. Louis, and Mrs. Sarah Wilson, New Palestine, Ind. Others are to be Messrs. and Mesdames C. A. Fromm, Chillicothe; F. J. Prendergast, St. Louis; C. E. Fromm, Toledo; R. S. Fitzgerald, Anderson; Dr. and Mrs. William H. Larabee, New Palestine.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Fitzgerald is to play "I Love You Truly." During the ceremony Mrs. Fitzgerald is to play "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony, the couple is to leave on a short wedding trip. After July 30 they are to be at home at 3530 Salem-av.
