

DOG AND PONY SHOW, CHILDREN'S DELIGHT, TO BE ON STAGE

Rivoli Books Henry Gentry for Saturday

Two Movies to Complete Bill, Management Announces.

BY JOHN W. THOMPSON
That old standby of the dog and monkey business, the Gentry Brothers animal show, is to play matinee and night performances on the Rivoli stage Saturday, according to Joe Cantor, manager.

More than 55 years ago, the genial Henry B. Gentry, then a country lad of 16, gathered together some of his trained dogs, all kinds and sizes, and started out to make his fortune showing the pups to the public.

Polks liked Henry's show because his dogs weren't show dogs but just common everyday canines which were much harder to train. Many a lad went home from a Gentry exhibition to try to get his own trixie to jump through a hoop or count with her paws.

Mr. Gentry's shows were so popular by 1916 that he had four on the road at the same time. Deciding his own show days were about over, that the time had come to take life easy, Mr. Gentry sold his four shows for well over a million dollars. But show blood was in his veins, and in answer to hundreds of requests Mr. Gentry "came back" with his dog and pony choruses in 1931. He bought up all his old equipment, he could find, toured the country until 1934, then again sold out to other showmen.

Show Is Back Again

Even this last retirement didn't take, because Mr. Gentry is back again. The 71-year-old trickster left no stone unturned in an effort to rebuild his current offering along lines that made his former exhibits popular.

All the old stars are to be here, according to Mr. Gentry, including "Mr. and Mrs. Snyder," the coach and four, drawn by the coach dogs; the fire department, manned by chattering monkeys, and the leaping greynounds.

As movie attractions to accompany the stage show at the Rivoli Saturday, Mr. Cantor is to present "The Princess Comes Across," with Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray, and "Border Flight," with John Howard and Frances Farmer.

SCENES FROM MOVIES, OLD AND NEW, TO OPEN FRIDAY

1.—The gentleman with his tie askew is Pat O'Brien, whose movie popularity has jumped perceptibly during the last year. With him is Margaret Lindsay. They both appear in "Public Enemy's Wife," a new type of G-man story which opens at the Apollo Friday.

2.—Fans who made acquaintance with Henry Armetta when he appeared in person at the Lyric, are to get a chance to see him with the new boy star, Bobby Breen, in "Let's Sing Again," at the Circle Friday.

3.—This advance photo of Fred Astaire in his new film, "Swing Time," typifies the way he leaped to fame in "Dancing Lady," which, starring Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone, is one of two revivals which is to occupy Loew's screen Friday, along with the Times-Leon's local movie, "It Happened in Indianapolis." The other revival is "The Big House," starring Chester Morris and Wallace Beery.

4.—Following the success of "Love on a Bet," in which Gene Raymond had Wendy Barrie for a leading lady, his producers decided he should do more movies of the same type. So they cast him with Barbara Stanwyck in "The Bride Walks Out," which is the other Circle film for Friday.

Miss Gish Gets 'Hamlet' Role

Former Film Star to Play With John Gielgud.

Times Special
NEW YORK, July 8.—Guthrie McClintock, now in London, has completed negotiations for Lillian Gish to act the role of Ophelia in Shakespeare's "Hamlet" with John Gielgud in New York next October. Judith Anderson, star of "The Old Maid," is to play the queen in this production, which will introduce Mr. Gielgud to the American theater in the same role which made him famous in Europe.

Miss Gish, a star in silent movies, has made brief appearances in stage productions, including "Camille" and "Uncle Vanya." Mr. McClintock is directing "Ante Room" in London, of which Diana Wynyard is the star.

Actor May Grow Real Mustache

Times Special
HOLLYWOOD, July 8.—For the first time on or off the screen, Gene Raymond wears a mustache in his current movie, "Count Peto." The advent of the upper lip adornment caused much controversy on the set where the blond star is working. Some girls liked it, some didn't. Gene says if the public votes approval, he will grow a mustache when "Count Peto" is finished.

After experimenting with a number of artificial mustache styles, a small, upturned wisp, with slightly waxed ends, was chosen for the actor to wear in the film.

Gets English Film Part
Hedda Hopper, sophisticated screen actress who has a role in "Bunker Bean," soon is to leave for England to appear in an Alexander Korda production.

Ambassador Shows 'Fatal Lady' Starring Singer Mary Ellis

Actress Has Three Songs in Complicated Mystery Movie Which Is on Bill With 'Human Cargo.'

Mary Ellis, possessor of one of the screen's loveliest operatic voices, is to be heard today at the Ambassador in a film called "Fatal Lady." Miss Ellis, whom we haven't seen and heard in movies since "All the Kings Horses," performs excellently in the new picture.

The plot of "Fatal Lady" is involved. Shocked when she is accused of complicity in the strange death of a man who once had been her admirer, Marion Stuart (Miss Ellis) loses her voice at her operatic debut. Cleared of the alleged crime, she takes refuge singing with a traveling opera troupe in South America.

With her name changed to Mario Delasano, and cheered on by Melba York and her husband, the sad young singer gets a little comfort from praise lavished on her by the troupe maestro, Feodor Glinka.

In Brazil, Philip Roberts, younger brother of David Roberts, wealthy coffee merchant, becomes infatuated, follows her from city to city. Another victim of her charms is Umberto Malla, wealthy Brazilian, who in turn introduces his friend, Martin Pontes, who lavishes orchids on the pretty singer.

David Roberts, thinking Philip is being hoodwinked, into marrying Mario, comes to rescue his brother. Malla entertains the troupe, and when he and Mario burlesque an operatic scene, one stabs Malla to death from behind a curtain. Police spurred on by accusations of David Roberts, accuse Mario. Pontes gets her acquittal, but plays the role of the murderer. Excellent performances are given by Alan Mowbray and John Halliday.

The Ambassador's second feature

WHERE, WHAT, WHEN

APOLLO
"The White Angel," with Kay Francis and Ian Hunter, at 11:30, 1:31, 3:32, 5:33, 7:34 and 9:35.

CIRCLE
"Hearts Divided," with Marion Davies, Dick Powell and Charlie Ruggles, at 12:30, 2:45, 5:10, 7:40 and 9:35. Also Max Schmeling-Joe Louis fight pictures, at 11:46, 2:10, 4:40, 7:07 and 9:35.

LOEWS
"San Francisco," with Jeanette MacDonald, Charles O'Brien and Spencer Tracy, at 11:45, 2:10, 4:40, 7:10 and 9:50.

KEITH'S
"The Campbells Are Coming," featuring Chester Morris and Madge Evans. Also "Border Flight," with John Howard.

LYRIC
Vaudeville on stage at 12:37, 2:51, 4:45 and 9:35. "The Big Noise," with Guy Kibbee, on the screen at 11:45, 2:30, 5:33, 8:27 and 10:40.

ALAMO
"Moonlight Murder," featuring Chester Morris and Madge Evans. Also "Border Flight," with John Howard.

AMBAADOR
"Human Cargo," with Brian Donlevy and Claire Trevor (first run). Also "Fatal Lady," with Mary Ellis and Walter Pidgeon.

OHIO
"A Connecticut Yankee," with the late Will Rogers (a revival). Also "Road Gang."

is "Human Cargo," a melodramatic story about transportation of aliens to American labor markets. Brian Donlevy does fairly well as an enterprising reporter who cleans up the racket, but Claire Trevor is unconvincing as a social butterfly who seeks thrills. It's fairly diverting. (By J. W. T.)

Cooper Plays Harmonica
Gary Cooper, starring in "The General Died at Dawn," likes to get by himself and play his harmonica, on which he is very proficient.

Circus Features Acrobatic Acts

Lydia Romeo Headliner of Ringling Show.

When Ringling Bros.-Barnum and Bailey bring their "Biggest Show on Earth" to the W. Washington grounds on July 14, local circus fans are to have their first look at seven European acrobatic acts, newly imported for this season's performances.

Among the headliners is Lydia Romeo, "the girl from Riga," who starred in the Continental opera, "The Circus Princess." Though coming from a long line of circus aerialists, Miss Romeo made her first hit in Vienna, Berlin and Copenhagen musical shows. She returned to her flying trapeze in the opera.

and has pursued the ancestral career ever since.

Another prominent act is that of the Six Maschinos, one of whose husky members holds the others at arm's length, pyramided three-high above him. The remaining featured Europeans are the Walkmirs, Antaleks, Buemrangs, Willos and Torrence-Dolores.

The circus also advertises a menagerie of more than 1000 animals. Performances are to begin at 2 and 8.
