

HOME OF RILEY ADDED TO PARK AT GREENFIELD

Purchase of Indiana Poet's Residence Made by City Council.

Times Special
GREENFIELD, Ind., July 17.—The City of Greenfield has bought the home of James Whitcomb Riley and has added it to Riley Memorial Park.

Purchase, made possible by a city ordinance, was announced yesterday by Mayor James L. Allen. The price was $3500.

The city park board is to maintain the property but restoration to its original state is to be undertaken by the Riley Old Home Society with assistance of civic, literary, social and historical clubs.

Born in Log Cabin

Riley, the poet, was born in a log cabin on the site of the present Riley home on Oct. 7, 1849. When he was a month old the family moved into the present home and lived there until Capt. Rouben Riley, father, returned from war. The property had been acquired by Riley in 1846.

Eventually the property passed from the hands of the poet's family. In 1900, Riley purchased it, furnished it, and made it a home for his brother, John A. Riley, who lived there until his death. Until last summer, his widow retained the house as her home but gave it up to live in California.

The Riley heirs agreed to sell the property only on the condition that it would always remain in the custody of the city and the provision was incorporated in the ordinance for purchase.

Interesting Features

Interesting features of the old home are the beautiful old walnut stairs in the reception room built by Capt. Riley, a man skilled in the use of tools; the side porch where Orphan Annie "shooed the chickens" and "brushed the crumbs away"; the "cubby hole and press" where the parents searched for the little boy who wouldn't say his prayers in the poem. "The Goblins'll Git You If You Don't Watch Out."

Restoration is to start at once. Riley Memorial Park now includes the Riley home, the Old Summer Hole, the Mandoline and other haunts of the beloved Indiana poet.

YEGGMEN LOOT SAFE OF CHARITY SOCIETY

Steal $1338 From Family
Welfare's Strongbox.

Yeggs cracked the safe at the Family Welfare Society offices, 333 N. Pennsylvania-st last night and took $1338.

Miss Louis Kiersted, Spink Arms Hotel clerk in charge of the Welfare headquarters, said that entry was gained by forcing the front door and the safe combination was apparently knocked off with a hammer and punch. The loss was covered fully by insurance, she said.

Detectives said the method of opening the safe was the same used by two yeggs who have been operating in Indianapolis since the first of the year. Detectives sought fingerprints on the safe and about the premises. The safe was located on the second floor.

HOOSIER POET'S HOME TO BE RESTORED

THE INDIANAPOLIS TIMES

FEWER PERMITS ARE ISSUED FOR CONSTRUCTION

Building and Repairs Worth
$398,233 Now Being Made in City.

Building slowed up during the last week of hot weather. Building Commissioner George Popp's records showed today.

More than 200 permits have been issued during the month for a valuation of $398,233, increasing to 2475 the total jobs of building and repairing already this year.

Valuation on work during July last year was only $139,376. Seventeen dwellings have been started this month, with valuation of approximately $107,300.

Only 102 permits were issued during the last week, compared with 137 during a corresponding period in June. Repairs and alterations valued at $25,345 are being made this month, and new signs valued at $10,800 have been erected.

SUMMARIES DUE IN PENNY CASE

Closing Arguments in Case
Scheduled to Begin at 1 Today.

(Continued from Page One)

when William Mahan, official court reporter, took the witness stand.

Mr. Mahan wrote the questions and his own answers into the record.

He testified he had taken in shorthand a confession from Haygood, April 24, in the Indianapolis Athletic Club.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

MAYOR BANGS LOSES PLEA FOR FREEDOM

Judge Denies Writs of Habeas Corpus for Three.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Judge Summer Kenner yesterday afternoon denied the pleas of Bangs, Mayor C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.

Bangs and his aids went to jail July 5 when the Mayor refused to disconnect municipal power service lines in defiance of an injunction obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co.

JUDGE DENIES WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR THREE.

Times Special
HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 17.—

Robert C. W. H. Bangs today appeared to be facing an indefinite stay in jail unless he orders disconnection of municipal power lines serving 600 customers.