

Museum Guild Members Await New Season's Activities; Busy Now With Plans, Suggestions

24 Women Donate Services to Children's Enterprise to Help Popularize Its Work; Speakers' Bureau to Be Continued.

Twenty-four young women are marking time until September when their philanthropic work at the Children's Museum, 1150 N. Meridian-st., is to be resumed.

Although activities have ceased, they are concerned with a number of ideas and suggestions on how to better "aid the Children's Museum with service and funds," as set out by their charter.

The Guild is three years old and its Irvington branch has been organized two years. The active membership of each is 12 persons.

The units work independently, with separate officers, organization and functions. Each, however, contributes to stimulation of interest of both adults and children in the museum.

"A plan whereby Guild members will escort children through the museum, explaining exhibits, is uppermost in our minds," said Miss Marjorie McDuffee, Guild president, today.

Children Stimulated

"We endeavor to interest more children in possibilities of the museum," she said. "But we also want it known that the museum is of value and interest to adults as well as to children."

A lecture bureau, organized last year under guidance of Miss McDuffee, is to be continued this fall on a much larger scale.

A chairman for the bureau is to be named before the first meeting, scheduled for Sept. 3.

The Guild's organization resulted from a suggestion of the museum's senior board of trustees. Misses Joanne Dissette, Anne Ayres, Ruth Zimm and Melissa Wadley comprised the original group. Miss Dissette was its first president. She was succeeded the second year by Mrs. Frank Sisson.

The purpose was to aid with secretarial work. This work includes cutting and mounting pictures for exhibits and for the use by teachers in both public and private schools; filing, addressing letters, clipping and gathering magazines.

Services Donated

Each member donates her services, working one morning every other week.

The Guild also assists with money-making projects.

It worked with the annual glass shows to which persons in Indianapolis and other cities contributed valuable articles of interest to the public.

The Guild also assisted with the sponsorship of Shakespearean plays by the Old Globe Players last year at Caleb Mills Hall.

Other officers with Miss McDuffee are Miss Catherine LaPenta, vice president; Miss Jane Moore, secretary; and Miss Ruth Hodges, treasurer.

The Irvington group, headed this year by Mrs. James Denny, forms a nucleus for museum work in Irvington.

The members take groups of children of that community to the museum and assist with various museum projects.

Mrs. Robert Mannfield was the first president. Present officers are Mrs. Denny, Mrs. Edgar Rennoe, secretary, and Mrs. George Kingsbury, treasurer.

Mrs. L. G. Sturdivant and daughter Agnes, Decatur, Ala., are visiting Mrs. Sturdivant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Harris.

A reception at the home is to follow the ceremony. After a wedding trip to New York, the couple is to be at home in Indianapolis.

Change Make-Up Once in a While, Writer Advises

BY ALICIA HART

Times Special Writer

The woman who has worn her hair one certain way since she can remember, has been buying the same shade of rouge and lipstick for years and years and, as far as beauty is concerned, has been getting deeper and deeper into a rut, should take a tip from screen stars and photographers' models.

Famous beauties change their coiffures, make-up and type of clothes frequently and, by so doing, keep their public from getting tired of their faces.

How about your own public? It may be infinitesimal as compared with Greta Garbo's or one of the famous cigarette advertising girls, but, since it is made up of your family, co-workers and best friends, it is just as important to you as Garbo's is to her.

Did it ever occur to you that your good-natured husband might be weary of that bun on the back of your neck? Of course he doesn't say so, the poor darling. He's so used to it that he probably doesn't even know he's tired of it.

But brush your hair upward one day soon, eliminate the bun, arrange a flat chignon high on the crown of your head and see how he reacts. Or let your hairdresser cut it and shape it to show the good lines you have been hiding with layers of hair.

If you have had extremely short locks since the beginning of the dot-dare-to-cut-my-hair era, let it grow a little longer. Try rather low, soft curls for daytime and curled about the neck effects for evening.

Girls who have stuck to one shade and one brand of rouge since they were 18 ought really to look at some of the new types. The rich, purplish tones that flattered the skin of the co-ed often make the complexion of the mature woman look old and gray.

One who has ignored copperlip lipstick and suntan powder will do well to try them this summer. The chances are ten to one that friends who haven't given your face a second thought in ten years will start saying how nice you look. You will, too, because you'll feel like a new person.

Never underestimate the psychological importance of a change in beauty routines. Just the minute you feel well groomed and have a hot well-I-stand-out-from-the-crowd attitude, you radiate more charm and beauty.

The woman with a new hat always looks prettier than she actually is. You, with a different hairdressing, a new shade of nail polish, rouge and lipstick, will look younger and prettier, too.

Smart Sports Outfit

Anne Shirley, co-starred with John Beal in "Mitts," wears a cool and smart active sports outfit consisting of French blue linen culottes and a white linen peasant blouse. With it she wears a printed cotton kerchief around her head, peasant style.

Mrs. Adam Gerlach is general chairman of a lotto party to be held at 8:30 p. m. Monday. Mrs. Daniel Foley heads the arrangements committee for a card party scheduled for 8:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Meridian Hills Club Members Have Sports Program, Picnic to Celebrate Anniversary

Organization's Eleventh Birthday Party Attracts Youngsters and Elders for Swimming, Golf, Motion Picture Program.

BY BEATRICE BURGAN

Society Editor

Meridian Hills Country Club's annual anniversary party causes as much stir among members as an only son's coming-of-age celebration. The anniversary always is far more than a mere date recorded in the club's official history. Members turn the grounds into a sports arena, match skill in games, and climax the program with cutting of a huge birthday cake.

Members and guests today are taking account of the club's 11 years of activity. A six-man golf team was to oppose a team from Highland Golf and Country Club this afternoon. Donald Ellis, William Diddel, Ben Cohee, Frank Shields, I. W. Sturgeon and Robert Rhodelamel practiced this week in anticipation of the tournament.

Miss Dorothy Ellis, who shot par golf in the women's state tournament this week at the Indianapolis Country Club, is to manage the women's putting contest late this afternoon.

Meet for Children

Young swimmers have looked forward to bobbing for toots and swimming with balloons in the novelty meet, to be conducted at 4 p. m. by Kenneth Walker, instructor. Winners are to receive points toward year-end awards.

Several senior swimmers, including Audrey Montrose, Cordelia Hayes, Joan Binkley and Constance Miller, and juniors, including Julia Ann Foreman, Rex Hayes, Robert Little, Phil Sheridan and Bill Binkley, are to appear in an exhibition.

Mrs. Cohee, children's entertainment committee chairman, and Madams A. V. Stackhouse, Charles F. Arensman and Herbert Wilson are to serve refreshments after the meet to the young guests.

Cake to Be Cut

Cutting of the birthday cake is an annual ceremony performed by the club president's wife following the picnic supper. Mrs. Earl Beck this year is to officiate at the ceremony.

The birthday cake will remind diners of last winter's sports, for the coconut-covered balls of icing resemble a mound of snowballs.

A water color motion picture and a reel of club scenes is to close the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Montgomery, entertainment chairman, made reservations, as did Mr. and Mrs. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Baker Sr., Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Howard, Mr. Frank H. Streightoff and Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Morse.

Miss Mary Buckler, Lebanon, whose marriage to Arnold L. Royer is to take place July 31 at the McKee Chapel, Tabernacle Presbyterian Church, is being honored with a series of showers.

Miss Joan McDonnell, 2504 N. New Jersey-st., entertained at her home last night with a kitchen shower. Miss Mary Anderson and Mrs. James Perkins, Lebanon, entertained recently with a miscellaneous shower at the Ulen Country Club.

Miss Gerry Johnson, 3154 Broadway, is to give a miscellaneous shower Friday. Several friends are to entertain July 28. The party is to be a dinner and personal shower at the Ulen Country Club.

Mrs. F. Allison Preston and daughter Judy are visiting in Boston. They visited with Mrs. Allison's sister, Mrs. J. K. Lilly, and Mr. Lilly, before they sailed recently on the Aquitania for England.

During 1936, Home Information Service, in charge of Dorothy Doyle, is issuing a series of bulletins dealing with home making problems as well as the cost analysis figures, plans and description of the various houses being erected in the "best built village" of the Purdue Housing Research Project.

She lists hints on how to select wall colors, the safe handling of various materials and other problems that confront the average housewife when faced with the problem of decorating the walls of any house.

The latter emphasizes the need for keeping the wall treatments in harmony with the architectural character of the house and the necessity of studying furnishings, curtains and floor coverings when deciding upon the wall treatments. Miss Goepfinger states that the use of the room also is important in this connection.
