SHOOTING SHADOW GOES ABROAD
TRIBE BASEBALL SCHOOL FACTS

THE Chicago White Sox defeated the Philadelphia Athletics Saturday, 21 to 14. . . Three touchdowns to two. . . Both teams kicking the extra points after touchdown. . . Jesse Owens' correct name is John Cleveland Owens. . . He's another star that fell on Alabama. . . In the South, where he started to school, it's customary to call Negro lads by their initials. . . And "J. C." eventually became Jesse after the Owens family moved to Cleveland.

Johnny Woodruff, University of Pittsburgh Negro en route to Berlin to represent America in the 800 meters event, is known on the campus as the Shooting Shadow. . . He stands 6 feet 3 inches and is full of run. . . When meeting the Tigers, the New York Yankees change their signs. . . Del Baker, Detroit coach, is a sign stealer and pitcher reader of the first order and most of the Tigers rely on his tips.

BASEBALL school is to open at Perry Stadium Wednesday and the first session will be from 9 a. m. until 3 p. m. . . Manager Killefer and all Tribe players are to serve as instructors. . . It's a tryout school for boys between the ages of 16 and 21. If you think you have diamond talent, ask a friend to write a letter of recommendation to the ball club officials. . . If they decide you merit a tryout, a letter of invitation will reach you by return mail.

Each aspirant is requested to bring his own glove, shoes and uniform. . . Nominations have been received from Indianapolis, over the state and from Illinois, Michigan and Kentucky.

One came from Chuck Klein, hometown slugger with the Philly Nationals. . . In some communities fans have organized "training expenses" for players they wish to see given a chance in professional ball. . . The school will have two sessions, the second on Thursday during the same hours as on Wednesday.

The Indians are sure to thrive on that new soda fountain concoction today—Lucky Mondae. . . They don't have to play. . . At any rate, their trip through the western half of the circuit wasn't a total bust. . . One victory and 14 defeats. . . Percentage, .067.

THE searing heat wave affected the Hoosiers as well as their opponents, but their opponents were more accustomed to playing day ball under the rays of Old Sol. . . The Redskins spent nearly all of the month of June playing night ball at Perry Stadium, and there were very few warm nights. . . That's as good as any explanation until a better one comes along.

Manager Killefer said the slender Otis Bluege lost 14 pounds, and that every day he breathes through his shortstop would blow out of the park.

THE St. Louis Cardinals have been ordered to cut out wrestling as a playful sport in clubhouse, dugout and lawn. . . Manager Frisch issued the edict. . . It seems as though the Gas House Gang is so full of vigor that the boys just won't stay put. . . Fear of injuries led the Cardinal chief to ban grappling as a side issue. . . His club has been beset with bruises from too many other causes.

Anything to separate the public from its hard-earned dollars. . . An English promoter is planning to experiment with cat racing and says he has 50 pussies trained to chase mechanical mice. . . "If dogs are silly enough to chase mechanical rabbits, I don't see anything wrong with my scheme," the Britisher explains.

WHITEY WILSHIRE, former Indiana University pitcher, has caught on with the galloping Chicago White Sox. . . His third major league club this season. . . Released by the Athletics, Whitey tried out with the Yankees only to draw a second blue envelope. . . He injured his wing last year after making a grand start with Mackmen.

Mae West has a new chauffeur. . . He is Speedy Dado, Filipino, a former top-flight boxer. . . Speedy earned a fortune during his ring career, but tossed it off putting on a front in the gay spots.

TWENTY-FIVE years ago Ty Cobb was the shining light of baseball. . . In one game he walked, pilfered second, third and home. . . And later in the same game he scored from second on a sacrifice. . . Moreover, the Georgia Peach monopolized the statistics, leading in hits, runs, runs batted in, total bases and stolen bases. . . Ty's batting average at this period of the 1911 American League season was .336 and he had stolen 44 bases.

PLEDGING itself to work until Olympic athletes had been reimbursed for their expenses to compete for America in the Berlin games, the New York Olympic Committee has made a nation-wide plea for funds. . . The committee does not believe that America as a nation should boast of its Olympic team, the largest and strongest in history, "until as a nation, America has done its part." The statement was made by Admiral Richmond P. Hobson, committee chairman, who added: "I therefore issue this appeal to patriotic Americans to send their donations payable to the New York Olympic Committee, 14 Wall-st, New York."

STRAFACI EARLY PUBLIC LINKS LEADER

Champ Starts Title Defense in Fast Style

Hoosier Linksman Turn In Steady Scores for Trial Round.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY United Press Staff Correspondent

FARMINGDALE, N. Y., July 20.—Frank Strafaci, 20-year-old defending champion of Brooklyn, shot a 73, three over par, on the Red course at Bethpage State Park today to take an early lead in the first 18-holes of the 36-hole qualifying round of the national public links golf championship.

Scores mounted on the much tougher, par 72 Blue course, where Don Smith, St. Joseph, Mo., was the early leader with a 75, three over par. Bob Wingate, Jacksonville, Fla., champion in 1930, shot an 82 for his first round over the Blue course. Hoosier contenders were among low scorers on the early finishing 1st. Harold Cork, Noblesville, fired an 80 on the Blue course. William Walsh, also of Noblesville, carded an 82, and Harry Link, Fort Wayne, turned in an 83 on the Red course.

78 by Nichols

Clayton Nichols, young Indianapolis entrant, fired a flashy 37 on the out nine of the Blue course, then took 41 to come in for a 78.

Twenty-two states in addition to Hawaii and the District of Columbia are represented in the record-breaking field of 223, which exceeds by ten the largest previous entry list which competed at Louisville, Ky., in 1932.

The first 18-holes of the 36-hole qualifying round was on today's schedule. After the second 18-holes tomorrow, the field will be reduced to the low 64 scorers and will play the match play rounds. Two rounds, 18 holes each, will be played Wednesday. Another pair of 18-hole rounds will be played Thursday, reducing the field to four for the 36-hole semi-final Friday. The 36-hole final will take place Saturday.

Beats Indianapolis Mark The team championship battle is combined with the qualifying round, with 48 teams of four players each entered. This is also a record entry list, exceeding the previous high of 45 set last year at Indianapolis. San Antonio, Tex., is the defending team champion. New York state has the most teams entered with 11. California, Pennsylvania and Connecticut have four teams each.

Leading contenders for the individual title are the defending champion, Frank Strafaci, Brooklyn, and three former titleholders from widely scattered sections of the country. They are Carl F. Kuffman, Pittsburgh, champion in 1927-28; Charlie Ferrera, San Francisco, titleholder in 1931 and 1933, and Robert Wingate, Jacksonville, Fla., who triumphed in 1930.

Play on Red, Blue Courses Competition is limited to amateur golfers who have not been members of or enjoyed the privileges of a private club maintaining its own golf course.

The field is so large that the qualifying rounds will be played over two courses, the Red and Blue. Half the field will play one course today and the other half the other, then they'll switch courses tomorrow.

Indianapolis entrants ready to start today were Bill Reed Jr., the Hoosier Capital champion, who is competing in his third national event; Bob Dale, pechabean in his second national tourney; Mike Pollak and Clayton Nichols.

Warning Given U. S. Athletes

Brundage 'Cracks Down' After Adverse Reports Spread on Board Ship.

By HENRY MLEMORE United Press Staff Correspondent

ABOARD S. S. MANHATTAN, AT SEA, July 20.—One sharp, drastic warning was enough to restore discipline to the United States athletes, en route to the Olympic Games at Berlin, and today all was serene once more on board ship.

Threatened with dismissal from the team, the athletes who were mentioned in the reports of gambling, drinking and carousing after hours, quickly heeded the warning of Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee. "Without exception the young men and women have fallen right into line," Brundage said. "And I do not expect any more trouble in this matter of discipline."

Stage Amateur Show

The curfew was extended from 10 p. m. to midnight Saturday night because of a dinner given by Captain Harry Manning of the Manhattan, and again last night because of a lengthy show entitled, "Mayor Woe's Amateur Hour," put on by the athletes.

Dozens of the boys and girls sang, danced, yodelled, impersonated and monologued. Despite these two parties, there was no misbehavior, no interfering about the bar, no gambling or no late-outers.

The members of the field hockey, fencing and women's swimming teams were mentioned as participants in violations of training rules. The rumors of their actions spread fast throughout the ship and threatened to disrupt the morale of the entire team. Brundage, in a general warning to the entire team, said that any future offenders would be dropped from the team and left at the first port of call, Cohn, Ireland.
