

Varied Ideas Reflected by Summer Fun

Choice of 'Vacation Spots'

SOCIETY travels to many scattered points for summer vacations. Most persons enjoy the same winter activities, but tastes vary when vacation hideaways are selected.

Mrs. Oscar Torian and daughter, Miss Ann Torian, never fail to select Sewanee, Tenn., for their summer rest. They enjoy the peaceful college town where flagstone and gravel walks and winding paths replace the hot pavements to which they are accustomed.

Mrs. Torian is well acquainted with the history and traditions of the town, for she helped compile a booklet preserving anecdotes of the picturesque home of Sewanee University.

Dr. Torian attended Sewanee University and consequently the entire family takes special pride in the school and its Oxford customs.

The first procession of college students in America wearing the Oxford cap and gown passed through Sewanee's walks, and since that day no junior or senior, no faculty member or graduate student has been in the classrooms or chapel without his academic robe.

Just mention the great American custom, dude ranching, to the Sylvester Johnsons and you'll hear of snow-capped peaks rising against Western skies, of the round-up fire and the smell of sagebrush and spruce.

Mrs. Johnson with their children, Mary and Sylvester, are to leave July 28 for the Homestead Ranch, Pitchfork, Wyo.

Ranching is their annual summer pastime. They have outgrown the dude class, for they have visited Charles J. Belden, of Pitchfork Ranch, so many times that ranch life doesn't hold many secrets for them.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Hathaway Simmons and their children, Jillson and Hathaway, are to leave with Mrs. Johnson in her station wagon, and are to pick up William McCoy, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Johnson's other son Nelson is delaying his visit to the ranch until after the boys' national tennis tournament at Culver Military Academy, which ends Aug. 8. John Alderice, William Stout and Jack Evans are to make the trip with him. Mr. Johnson is to join his family late in August.

Daughter Visits Here

Mrs. Kurt Pantzer's brother, Robert Ferriday Jr., with Mrs. Ferriday and their daughter, Katharine, left for Wilmington, Del., to see Mr. Ferriday's family.

Mrs. Addison Parry joined the throng of Hoosiers who migrate to Michigan for vacations. She is with Mrs. Robert C. Winslow and Mrs. Winslow's mother, Mrs. Henry Hornbrook.

Summer Colonists Out in Force For Boat Races at Lake Maxinkuckee

BY JANE ADAMS
Times Special Writer

LAKE MAXINKUCKEE, July 20.

In spite of the calm lake the Yacht Club race yesterday provided excitement for those on shore as they watched a complete change of position in the Class E race. Stephen Hord, Lake Forest, Ill., finished 11 minutes ahead of the Culver Military Academy's fastest E boat.

The wind, however, made no change in the C boat race, for again the academy's speedy "cat" boat gained first place, and for the third consecutive time, Miss Eleanor Winslow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walker Winslow, Indianapolis, eased into second place.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Johnson with their children, Sylvester, Nelson and Mary were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Holliday. The Johnsons and Mrs. Holliday watched Mr. Holliday sail his new boat, the Ruth H.

Mr. and Mrs. William Munk were with the Winslows for the weekend and Mrs. Munk and Mrs. Francis Dunn, composed the crew for one of the craft. Mr. Winslow was in the race with his daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wallerich followed the race from the pier of Mr. and Mrs. John Sloan Kittle's cottage, where they were visitors.

Mrs. Richard Edwards, Peru; Mrs. Walter Greenough, Mrs. Virginia Moorhead Mannon and Mrs. S. W. Campbell, all members of the Indiana League of Women Voters, interrupted their study of league problems at Mrs. Edwards' cottage to enjoy the race.

Mrs. Mae Perry was at the lake and looked on with her son, Norman Perry Jr., who is spending his vacation at one of the academy camps. Norman is an academy alumnus.

Bythe Hendricks was at the lake and enjoyed the race with his brother, Thomas A. Hendricks, Mrs. Hendricks and their daughter, Cynthia and Mrs. John Hendricks.

Mrs. Mary Jane Mogg, Delavan, Wis., watched her three sons, J. Owen Mogg, Plano, Ind., Clayton and Millard Mogg, both of Indianapolis, sail together. She has been a sailing enthusiast for many seasons at Lake Geneva and has seen her sons win many events there.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kots and their son, Herman Jr., were at the lake visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clemens O. Mueller. John M. Judah had his granddaughter, Miss Barbara Brandon, as a guest. John J. Peckham's nephew, Laurence O. Schmidt, was one of the visitors.

Miss Peggy Chapin and Bud Penstermaker are expected to return to the lake Wednesday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Axtell, who entertained them last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bliss and daughter, Miss Peggy Bliss, were entertained by Mrs. H. R. Bliss, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nickell and family were with Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hollowell.

Sour Cherry Pie Favorite of Americans

Lola Horton Today Offers
Tempting Recipe From New England

BY LOLA HORTON

Today I'm going to give you a favorite New England recipe for a sour cherry pie. After all, no one can make fruit pies the way we Americans do.

Sour Cherry Pie

1 cup ripe sour cherries
1 egg yolk
3 tablespoons cream
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Wash, stem and stone cherries.

Make a pie crust (my favorite one is 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup shortening and about 4 tablespoons of ice water. Chill before rolling) and cover the bottom of a pie plate with half of the rolled dough.

Sprinkle this bottom crust with finely ground cracker crumbs so it won't get soggy.

Spread the cherries over the crust evenly.

Sprinkle with sugar and 1 teaspoon of cinnamon.

Beat the yolk well, add the cream to it and pour over the cherries. Bake in a moderate (350) oven 35 to 40 minutes.

Brush the top crust with a little melted butter to make it nice and brown.

SORORITY HOLDS THEATER PARTY

Members of Beta Chapter, Omega Phi Tau Sorority, entertained recently with a theater party. Mrs. John L. Simpson was arrangements committee chairman, assisted by Mrs. Lew Ella Hickman.

Those attending were Misses Marie Gwynn, Martha Currie, Bethel and Florida Monical, Stella Merriman, Mildred Galding, Ruby Brooks, Mary Arnold, Louise Coran, Loraine Laslay, Edith Pippin, Ruth Drake, Louis Van Remmen, Mary Frances Stuckey, Dorothea Thompson, Eleanor Griffey, Leona Kuhn, Martha Cain, Ruth Boggs, Mildred Martin, Margaret Brock, Frances Mieten, Francis High, Emma Smith, Marjorie Pierce, Mrs. Vernon Vogle, Mrs. Donald Engleman and Mrs. Carl Bacon.

Today's Pattern

IT'S amazing what a becoming dress will do to send the mercury down. No. 8807 is just such a dress—cool because it's cut comfortably, with the sleeves falling loosely in a capelet, and also flattering to most figures. Rickrack braid, which has staged a fashion comeback, trims the jabot. Patterns are sizes 34 to 46. Size 36 requires 4-1-3 yards of 36 inch material, with 3-4 yards contrasting and 2-3 yards of edging for trimming.

Ginger Was Essential
Powdered ginger was once as essential to a well-appointed bar as cocktail shakers are today. During the early days of the tavern, a shaker of ginger was always at hand so that the customer could spice his porter.
