

PROPOSED FAIR SITE IS CHOSEN, MANAGER SAYS

May 30, '39, to Be Opening Date for Indianapolis Exposition.

Plans for the 1939-1940 Crossroads of America World's Fair in Indianapolis were reported moving toward reality today with announcement that a 1400-acre site northwest of the city has been chosen.

Report of progress of the proposed fair was made by W. A. McCurry, treasurer and general manager, who yesterday opened offices in the Lincoln Hotel. He said leases for the site are being drawn, and that architects have been selected.

Mr. McCurry, who said he had enlisted the aid of Rufus Dawes, Chicago, as financial adviser, said that articles of incorporation were received July 8, and that local business men have been contacted for organization of a board of trustees.

He said the financial plan of the proposed exposition is to be modeled after that devised by Mr. Dawes for the Century of Progress Exposition.

Officers Are Named

Officers are Herman J. Kelley, Indianapolis Power and Light Company credit manager, president; William H. Sheaffer, former municipal judge, secretary, and Mr. McCurry, manager.

Tentative plans, according to Mr. McCurry call primarily for an educational and scientific exhibit, and construction of one of the largest amphitheaters in the country. Operas, featuring prominent stars, are to be booked from Chicago, he said.

Buildings Outlined

A large swimming pool, horse show building and industrial units, together with a midway equaling that of the Chicago fair, are to be included in the exposition building program, Mr. McCurry claimed.

The architects who now are drawing the general plans are Virgil C. Hoagland and M. Carlton Smith, he said.

The amphitheater is to have a seating capacity of 25,000, Mr. McCurry said.

Opening Day Set

The proposed fair is scheduled to open at 3 p. m. May 30, 1939 after the finish of the Memorial Day 500-mile race.

Mr. McCurry predicted the Indianapolis exposition would compete successfully with those in New York and San Francisco which are to be staged at the same time.
