

SUGGESTED CAR LINE ABANDONED FOR SOUTH SIDE

Definite Information Sought on Alternate Route by Those Affected.

South Side residents today demanded more definite information on plans of the Indianapolis Railways, Inc., to provide the Minnesota-Ringgold section with trackless trolley service.

The proposed merger route for trackless trolleys on Minnesota and Ringgold-sts and Pleasant Run-blvd has been withdrawn from the trackless trolley franchise now pending before the City Council, the Works Board reported last night.

In the resolution approved by the Works Board yesterday, the trolley firm agreed to reroute cars over streets "more practical for the purpose," but did not present an alternate route.

City Engineer Henry B. Steeg, who brought the proposal before the Council last night, said he knew nothing of the plans for a new route. Approved early yesterday by the Works Board, a resolution was not made public until considered by the council.

More than 40 South Side residents who appeared to protest the route on Ringgold-st knew nothing about the development, they said. Edward Eckstein, South Side Civic Clubs, Inc. president, said they wanted more definite information on the proposed alternate route.

South Side residents had protested the Minnesota-Ringgold-sts section of the proposed agreement several times during the last few months.

Several proposed alternate routes would be agreed to then, according to Mr. Eckstein, who said his group wanted information on the route before they would be satisfied with the ordinance.

The Council Committee on Public Safety, which has been studying the agreement asked more time to confer with the Works Board before bringing the ordinance up for vote.

Attempt to Force Vote

After Dr. Thorpe Cable, committee chairman, told the council his committee was not prepared to act, Councilman Edward Keating attempted to force a vote by an informal poll. Council President Edward E. Raub agreed to the plan, and members that further consultation with the Works Board was advisable.

Mr. Keating objected to continued

Dionne Water Babies Head for Big Splash

Let that old sun beat down on them; the Dionne quintuplets don't care—not at this moment, anyway. For this is the most glorious part of the day for them, as they set out for the little wading pool in their playground adjoining the nursery. Clutching her sand pail in the pudgy hand held by Nurse Noel, Marie can't wait to start excavating in her sand pit. Annette, at left, is impatient, too. Those huge rubber balls seem quite a burden for Emilie and Cecile, but, oh, what fun they're going to have with them! Meanwhile, Dr. Dafee looks to see if Nurse Leroux, leading Yvonne, has forgotten anything.

delay on the street railway agreement.

"Next meeting it will be the same thing again," he said. "I think now is the time to bring it out."

The ordinance is to be held by the Committee on Public Safety until a solution for serving the South Side patrons is reached, it was decided.

Parking Meters Exhibited

Parking meters were demonstrated by a factory representative but no action was taken. Chief Morrissey said he favored adoption of the meters, but that many objections, including an opinion from the city legal department had been raised against them.

The meters would be installed in 20-foot spaces downtown. Allowing an hour for 5 cents, the machines would indicate overtime parking.

The meters could be purchased from the parking revenue, no cash outlay being asked by the company. The plan calls for 85 per cent of the revenue for the company and 15 per cent for the city until the purchase price is paid.

Held in committee for another two weeks were the ordinances for raising salaries of police and firemen and the anti-picketing repeal measure.

The Council passed under suspension of rules, ordinances approving a $125,000 temporary loan to the Health Department and another for sale of $20,000 in bonds from the Snow-Butler estate for the Flower Mission Hospital. The latter permits purchase of equipment to finish the hospital unit.

23 Oil Companies Are Indicted on Anti-Trust Law Complaints

58 Individuals Accused of Participating in Gasoline Price Fixing in Midwest, Including Indiana.

BY WILLARD R. SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 4.—Twenty-three major oil companies, 58 individuals and three publications were accused by a Federal Grand Jury today of violating the Sherman anti-trust law by pooling gasoline prices.

United States District Attorney John J. Boyle announced a general indictment of the 24 defendants by the grand jury summoned by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings last May to conduct a national investigation of the oil industry.

The indictment followed a partial report by the grand jury to Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone last week. Mr. Boyle said. The jury will resume its investigations Aug. 19.

Heading the list of those indicted were the nation's major oil firms, including Standard Oil of Indiana, Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., Cities Service, Continental Oil, Gulf Oil, Pure Oil Co., Shell Petroleum, Sinclair Refining, Texas Co., Tide-Water Oil, Mid-Continent Petroleum, Phillips Petroleum, Skelly Oil, Barnsdall Refining and the Globe Oil and Refining Co.

Three Globe Oil companies were named, Globe of Oklahoma, Globe of Illinois and Globe of Kansas. Also named were Deep Rock Oil Corp., Cities Service Export Oil Co., Empire Oil and Refining Co., Louisiana Oil Refining Co., Gulf Refining Co. and Wadsworth Oil Co.

The three trade papers, named in the indictment were the Chicago Journal of Commerce, Platt's Oilgram and the National Petroleum News.

Warrants have been issued for arrest of the individuals.

The defendants were accused specifically of combining and conspiring, beginning in February, 1935, to raise and fix prices of gasoline sold in interstate commerce, principally in 10 Middle Western states.

These activities, Mr. Boyle said, affected 4000 jobbers in Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas. Indirectly, through increased tank car prices, they affected retail prices to consumers, he said.

The indictment declared that gasoline prices were raised and fixed by means of two "concerted buying programs or pools." One was said to have operated in East Texas, the other in the Oklahoma and Mid-Continent fields.

FRIENDS SEEK END OF ASTOR CUSTODY SUIT

Hope for Settlement Out of Court; Adjournment Is Ordered.

BY LEO BARON

United Press Staff Correspondent
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—New efforts to settle the public battle of Mary Astor and her former husband, Dr. Franklin Thorpe, quietly and out of court, began today.

Trial of Miss Astor's suit to obtain custody of their 4-year-old daughter, Marilyn, was in adjournment until Monday after she had admitted a love affair with George Kaufman while living with Dr. Thorpe.

Her friends, friends of Dr. Thorpe, and, particularly, executives of the motion picture industry, always sensitive to any thing bearing on the moral tone of the industry or the box office values of leading players, hoped the trial would not be resumed.

There was no confirmation of wide-spread reports that the industry had intervened to obtain the adjournment and would exert all possible pressure to effect an amicable settlement.

Needed in Picture

The adjournment was ordered by Judge Goodwin J. Knight at the request of Samuel Goldwyn, head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, who told the judge that Miss Astor was needed on the lot for her current starring picture.

Judge Knight impounded Miss Astor's diary and told Thorpe's attorney to deliver to him two pages which he had withheld. The diary recounted in purple phrases her feelings toward Kaufman, and according to intimations of her former husband's legal staff, involved the names of some six men prominent in the movie world.

Kaufman, several times a millionaire from his earnings as a producer of Broadway stage successes and a long series of Hollywood scenarios, was not in court while Miss Astor discussed their friendship, though his subpoena called for his presence.

Asked to comment on the testimony, he said:

"I am not even interested in anything Miss Astor may have testified to."

WPA TO CLEAR PARKS

Removal of Drought-Killed Trees and Shrubs to Start.

A crew of Works Progress Administration employees is to begin removal this week of drought-killed trees and shrubs in city parks, according to Andrew Miller, park horticulturist. Mr. Miller said emergency measures which were taken during the extreme hot weather saved many trees.

Her view of the traffic light obstructed by a utility pole, according to her story to police, Mrs. Naomi Metzger, 28, of Perryville, Ind., ran a red light at 16th and Montcalm-sts last night and struck a truck.

The truck was driven by Joe Hill, 54, Negro, 925 Indiana-av. Mrs. Metzger's mother, Mrs. Mary Metzger, 68, was treated for an ankle injury.

No charge was made against Mrs. Metzger.

As a result of an automobile collision in the 2800 block on N. Capitol-av last night, Michael E. McGuire, 51, of 4013 College-av, today faced charges of drunkenness, operating a vehicle while under the influence of liquor and reckless driving.

His automobile is alleged to have struck one driven by Don Herr, 3229 Washington-blvd.

stationary while factory consumption is governed by the amount of activity, officials said.

Widely spaced reports today indicated that recovery is moving on sturdier legs in Indiana.

These reports include: Skilled labor shortages in industrial centers.

Housing shortages in the Calumet area.

Increases in number of building permits issued the first six months of 1936 in large cities.

Increases in factory employment and pay rolls.

Increases in pay rolls and employment in non-manufacturing activities.

Gary, whose small industries have tripled 1929 employment figures from 691 to 2267, noticeably is lacking in skilled labor.

Experienced automobile mechanics and body workers are hard to find, notwithstanding attractive pay scales, according to Charles E. Farmer, State and Federal Employment Service district manager.

WALTON LEAGUE LOCAL CHAPTER NAMES LEADER

Leo C. Emmelmann to Head Activities of White River Group.

Leo C. Emmelmann, Em-Roe Sporting Goods Co. president, today assumed the presidency of the White River Chapter, Isaac Walton League.

Mr. Emmelmann was elected last night at a meeting in the Indianapolis Athletic Club. Raymond W. Frost was named secretary.

Mr. Emmelmann was to appoint a special committee today to stake out tentative lines marking the first strip along White River in connection with the Riverside strip-forest recreation-conservation project. The land was offered by William Haggood.

A legal survey of the property, located southwest of Indianapolis, is to be made next week by Department of Conservation.

After deeds are drawn, the site is to be turned over to the White River Chapter, and is to be held until 12 miles of river front land is acquired to be decided to the state.

Mr. Frost announced that Arthur L. Gilliom and Fred Gause, attorneys, have offered their services in preparing necessary deeds after the legal survey is made.

Three Trails Suggested

The eventual establishment of a bicycle path in addition to bridge and foot trails as part of recreational facilities to be undertaken by the state was suggested by D. McCall White.

James D. Adams, State Highway Commission chairman, and Mr. Haggood were taken in as charter members of the League. Other members who attended the meeting were William F. Collins, state president; Dr. Charles R. Sowders, Fred Gable, James Vandenberg, Dr. James T. Peabody and Virgil Simmons, state conservation director.
