

AWARDS LISTED FOR PROFICIENT CAMP RECRUITS

Patriotic Groups to Honor Outstanding C. M. T. C. Enrollees.

(Picture, Page 8)

Gold medals are to be awarded to outstanding Fort Harrison Citizens' Military Training Camp recruits by the National Patriotic Council.

A gold medal, according to Mrs. Noble, Newport Potts, Washington, council president, is to be awarded to the candidate who submits the best essay on "Why Is National Defense Essential?" Mrs. W. S. Norris, Frankfort, American War Mothers' state president, is to make the presentation at the close of the camp period.

A second gold medal is to be presented to the first-year candidate making the best record in general military efficiency. The medal is to be awarded by Miss Lucille Williams, Indianapolis, on behalf of the Daughters of '38 and the council.

Veterans' Donate Award

The most proficient first-year candidate, based on physical ability, amenability to discipline, leadership and citizenship, is to be awarded a medal by Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The outstanding Indiana first-year cadet is to receive a medal donated by the Military Order of Foreign Wars, Indiana Commandery. A cup, donated by F. M. Kirkpatrick, photographer, also is to be given the outstanding Hoosier candidate.

Soldierly bearing and leadership is to determine the winner of a medal to be given by Sons of Revolution, Indiana, chapters.

Other Honors Listed

Citizenship awards also are to be made in each company by the camp commander. The 33rd Infantry is to give a cup for the outstanding C. M. T. C. company. Other awards, medals and ribbons are to be given for athletic prowess, company excellence, and proficiency in hygiene and first-aid.

Indiana congressmen have accepted an invitation of Col. George V. Strong, camp commander, to attend visitors' day ceremonies Aug. 22.

Representatives who expect to attend are Mrs. Virginia E. Jencks, Pinly H. Gray, John W. Boehne Jr., Eugene B. Crowe and Dr. William H. Larabee. Congressmen John M. Robison and Andrew J. May, both of Kentucky, also are expected to attend the ceremonies.

PEACE AGAIN REIGNS IN MALONE DOMICILE

By United Press

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 13.—All was peaceful again today in the home of Polly Moran and Pat Malone after a judge dismissed charges of assault with a deadly weapon against Malone and heard him plead guilty to a charge of flourishing a gun.

Polly appeared happy and affectionate as the court ordered her hubby in to court Aug. 22 for sentence. She was considerably huffy when he was arrested in July for chasing her into the street after some one banteringly called him "Mr. Polly Moran."

CONTROLS TWO FIRMS

Louis G. Speropoulos announced today that he had purchased controlling interest in both the Lemcke Service Shop, 108 E. Market-st., and the Indiana Service Shop, 145 W. Washington-st.

Both are valet service firms. George Tony is to be associated with Mr. Speropoulos in management of the Indiana shop.

HOW TO TREAT IVY POISONING

Ivy poisoning may be caused by three plants—poison ivy, primrose or poison oak. The first thing to do is to prickle with a sterile needle and drain the blisters. Then wash the area thoroughly with a thick lather of Resinol Soap. Always wash toward the affected parts, so as not to carry the poison to the healthy skin.

When there are no more blisters, apply Resinol Ointment liberally, and protect the part with a light gauze bandage. Use Resinol morning and night—it relieves itching and burning promptly, tends to counteract the poison, and promotes healing.

Buy a jar of Resinol or a cake of Resinol Soap from any druggist. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 7, Baltimore, Md.—Advertisement.

Roller Skates Keep Wheels of Telegraph Industry Moving Along at Rapid Pace Here

ROLLER SKATING for a living and "figure-eighting" to keep their skulls intact is all in a night's work for the dozen lads who are instrumental in keeping the local Western Union traffic department moving at its high rate of speed.

Their "rink" is the 80-by-50-foot ninth floor of the Guaranty Building, 20 North Meridian-st., where all Western Union telegraph messages are routed.

Their task is to speed messages from the route-center on one side of the room to the operators of the various perforating machines located in different parts of the office.

The boys are good—they have to be. Whizzing down an eight-foot aisle, weaving in and out of stationary equipment and dodging one another as well as their numerous wheel-less co-workers requires foot-worthiness of a ballet artist.

MESSENGERS meet at the same place at the same time, one would imagine, something would happen. But it is all very simple. They just grasp one another by the arms, whirl clockwise for one complete revolution and then resume their respective journeys in their original directions.

THEIR skates are exactly like the the kind one can get free with so many news wrappers or soap-box tops. But each "check-boy" as he is called in the office, is very particular about his individual pair of skates. He has his own locker where he keeps his skates and no one else is allowed to touch them when he is off duty.

Do they have any accidents? H. L. Horner, night traffic manager, can recall only one mishap since the night check-boys were put on skates back in 1923. That one, ironically enough, occurred after one of the boys had spent an especially strenuous few minutes and was standing still resting. His feet slid out from under him and he was slightly injured as he fell against a table corner.

When two of these high-speed messengers meet at the same place at the same time, one would imagine something would happen. But it is all very simple. They just grasp one another by the arms, whirl clockwise for one complete revolution and then resume their respective journeys in their original directions.

NO, it's not hard to get competent skaters to be check-boys," Horner said. "The trouble is keeping them—they want to take a whack at vaudeville after they're here a while."

BOY NEARLY DROWNS

William Duval, 8, 1328 N. Nordyke-av., narrowly escaped drowning in a wading pool at Riley Park yesterday when he became ill and fell unconscious in the water.

John Thurston, 201 Carrollton-av., pool instructor, rescued the boy and took him home. A Fire Department rescue squad revived the boy, who later was taken to Riley Hospital.

G. O. P. TO NAME DIVISION CHIEFS IN NEAR FUTURE

State Committee Selects Gates to Head War Veterans' Drive.

Ivan Morgan, Republican state chairman, today said heads for divisions of farmers, labor and Negroes of the Republican State Committee may be named at a late August or early September meeting of the committee.

Mr. Morgan held in abeyance the naming of a successor to James Tucker, Paul Young Republican organization director. Mr. Tucker has accepted a position as assistant to the Republicans' national chairman.

At a meeting of the state committee in the Claypool yesterday a closed session ended in the naming of Ralph Gates, Columbia City, former state American Legion commander, as head of the war veterans' bureau to direct a campaign among service men.

Mr. Gates said he would operate with the Republican Veterans' Bureau of Indiana, Inc., in the drive.

Lord Heads Speakers

The committee named Chester Lord, New Albany attorney, the committee's new speakers' bureau head.

The committee worked throughout the afternoon over an attempt to obtain reconsideration of the Allen County chairmanship.

Dan C. Flanagan was named county chairman following a contested election with Homer J. Kelsey, former county chairman. A special committee, chosen by the state committee, declared Mr. Flanagan the chairman shortly after the May primary.

Joseph Hutzell, Allen County Republican leader, sought to have the committee reconsider its action. He is purported to have said he desired to have Mr. Flanagan re-elected so that he could be re-elected unanimously.

Adjournment Action

Both Mr. Hutzell and Mr. Flanagan appeared before the committee.

A motion to adjourn the meeting ended action on reconsidering the chairmanship.

Ross Lee Laird, Chicago attorney, and assistant to John D. M. Hamilton, Republican national chairman, explained methods whereby the party hopes to organize volunteer workers for service in the campaign and at the polls.

Mr. Laird is to be in active charge of the Indiana congressional districts in organizing for the fall campaign.

JURY OFFICIALS RECEIVE OATHS TO END DEBATE

Judge Cox Clears Way for Court Cases Despite Own Views.

A truce was declared today in the legal battle centering around constitutional oaths which Attorney T. Ernest Maholm claimed should be administered by jury commissioners.

Declaring emphatically that he believed constitutional oaths were not necessary, Circuit Judge Earl R. Cox yesterday afternoon administered the additional oaths to Commissioners Ralph Edgerly and Theodore Weiss.

Earlier yesterday Mr. Edgerly refused to take the oath pronounced by Criminal Court Judge Frank P. Baker, because, Mr. Edgerly said, Judge Cox alone had jurisdiction over the commissioners.

Judge Cox said he would give the constitutional oaths merely to unmask the legal tangle which threatened to tie up Criminal Court.
