

MILITARY RITES FOR FECHTMAN TO BE PRIVATE

National Guard Officers of 38th Division to Act as Pallbearers.

Lieut. Col. Paul W. Fechtman, Indiana National Guard, who was found dead in his home yesterday, is to be buried in Concordia Cemetery tomorrow following private military rites in the Vechling Funeral Home at 2:30 p. m.

Staff officers of the Thirty-eighth Division, of which Col. Fechtman was a member, are to serve as pallbearers. A volley of shots and playing of "taps" are to follow the private services.

Col. Fechtman, who was 46, shot himself in the head, police said. Members of his family and police said he had appeared despondent over ill health, unemployment and the ending of a friendship with a woman.

Served on Mexican Border
He shot himself with an Army service automatic in his home, 642 Buchanan-st., police reported, a few minutes after he had lunch with his 16-year-old son, Robert.

Col. Fechtman, who had been an Indiana National Guard member since he was 18, served on the Mexican border in 1916, and with the One Hundred Fifty-fifth Field Artillery in every important engagement in France during the World War.

Miss Ada Fechtman, a sister, had been living with Col. Fechtman, since he was divorced from his wife in 1933.

In 1922 he organized the headquarters company of the Thirty-eighth Division and in the same year was appointed lieutenant colonel and assigned to the division staff.

On several occasions, he had served with the guard on strike duty.

Recommendation for Col. Fechtman's promotion to the rank of full colonel already had been made by Maj. Gen. Robert H. Tyndall, Thirty-eighth Division commander, according to Adj. Gen. Elmer Straub.

The son and sister are the only immediate survivors.

BATTLING RUDY

PUNCHES WRONG MAN AT DANCE

Learns Victim Is Popular Socialite; He's Sorry Now, He Says.

By United Press

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 1.—Rudy Valle, who knocked down a man he believed threw an empty whisky bottle at him as he directed his orchestra here, was charged by police, a city official and the public today.

It was learned that the victim of Valle's left hook was Moffett Dunlap, son of Mrs. D. A. Dunlap, who donated the great Dunlop Observatory outside Toronto last year. The family is among Toronto's most wealthy and socially prominent.

Mrs. Dunlap, reached by telephone, said no action against Valle was contemplated. It also was reported, but not confirmed, that Valle was a guest at Donato Farms, the magnificent Dunlop estate, where he was said to be attempting to straighten out the misunderstanding.

Members of Valle's orchestra pointed Dunlap out to Rudy as the culprit, but the orchestra leader subsequently learned he was mistaken. Police Inspector Robert Alexander said today Valle's punch-throwing was an "unwarranted assault." He also criticized Canadian National Exhibition employees who threw Dunlap out of the ballroom. Inspector Alexander said no action could be taken against Valle. "Unless Mr. Dunlap chooses to lay a charge."

City Controller Ralph Day, who was present during the affair, said he formally would protest the "unjustified rough treatment" given Dunlap by exhibition employees. Valle, much disturbed by the whole affair, said "I greatly regret the whole affair, and am sorry it ever happened."

SENATOR DAVIS BARS POLITICS ON VISIT HERE

Refuses Comment on Labor Dispute Also; Attends Moose Parley.

Refusing to discuss politics or labor's internal dispute until he had completed his work with the Loyal Order of the Moose here, James J. Davis, United States Senator from Pennsylvania and a former Hoosier, today talked fraternalism with members of the lodge's supreme council.

Tonight Mr. Davis is to speak at installation ceremonies for William A. Anderson, Indianapolis, supreme dictator, at a banquet at 135 N. Delaware-st.

In a discussion today of fraternalism with members of the lodge and newspaper men, Mr. Davis cited how the lodge was committed to peace "like the United States government."

He attacked the problem of the "reckless automobile driver" and termed it a war where "more people are killed since the signing of the Armistice than our nation lost in all wars up to the World War."

Attacks Communism

He praised newspapers for their activity in safety campaigns and urged lodge members to interest themselves in safety campaigns.

Mr. Davis attacked subversive elements in the nation "who ridicule everything connected with religion and religious worship" and "propose to lay a tax upon all education and religious properties."

Communism was discussed by Mr. Davis as he pointed out the failure of Communism to gain control in the United States.

"The Constitution of the United States is an instrument, not of a man or a small clique of men, but an instrument of the entire people," he said.

Approves Neutrality Law

Mr. Davis approved the neutrality law and said: "Those who are interested solely in foreign trade may raise the cry that we shall lose millions of dollars through the law, but who would be so short-sighted as to let the loss in trade have any weight in the scale against the billions that the last war cost the nation, not to mention the lives of our young men which were sacrificed."

A campaign to bring 100,000 new members into the lodge was considered at today's sessions in the Hotel Washington.

Mr. Anderson said Indianapolis was to be headquarters of the drive. Plans also have been launched for raising $120,000 for a building program at Mooseheart, national home for members' children.

200 to Be Initiated

Council sessions are to be climaxed tonight when 200 candidates are to be initiated.

Mr. Anderson said Indianapolis members of the lodge will go to Cleveland next week seeking to bring the 1938 national convention to Indianapolis.

Among the prominent Moose leaders attending the council sessions were Senator Davis, Malcom R. Giles of Mooseheart, supreme secretary; Albert H. Lader, Philadelphia, attorney general; William Egan, Newark, vice dictator; Roy Williams, Sandusky, O., supreme prelate; John C. Meikel, Washington, governor of Mooseheart; Walter S. Ruff, Canton, O., retiring dictator; John Turner, St. Louis, William Smith, Rochester, N. Y.; William F. Brown, Baltimore, Md.; Isaac Feld, Cincinnati, members of the council.

City Council to Slash Budget Requests for 1937, Is Report

G. O. P. Members Seek to Hold Tax Rate to Current $1.11.

The City Council, scheduled to meet in executive session this afternoon, was understood today to be preparing to make drastic reductions in a 1937 budget calling for expenditures of almost $7,500,000.

Minority Republican members indicated they intend to cut every possible item in an attempt to bring the proposed $1,248 rate to the city's current rate of $1.11.

In the last departmental hearing yesterday, the council heard Nish Dienhart, airport superintendent, explain his request for $20,984, which he estimated was $4900 more than the anticipated revenues for next year.

City Controller Walter C. Boetcher said he doubted that the airport would pay its own way for many more years. No allowance was made in the budget for retirement of $740,000 of bonds nor for interest payment totaling approximately $34,000 annually. Both are paid from the City's General Sinking Fund, according to law. The airport was conceived as a self-liquidating project, said Edward Raub, council president.

Councilman Silas J. Carr and John Schumacher questioned Mr. Dienhart on possible increased revenues from concessions at the airport.

"The people of Indianapolis are to be paying almost $5000 next year to let people out there run the concessions," said Dr. Carr.

Rumors Bring Laugh
Councilman Adolph Fritz asked Mr. Raub if "ugly rumors" about an out-of-town council meeting to study budget cuts were true. Mr. Raub laughed outright at the question, and said that the council budget itself might be enlarged to include a "communication and transportation" item.

The meeting today was scheduled for City Hall.

CLARA BOW ILL

By United Press

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1.—Clara Bow, the screen's onetime "It Girl," today was recovering from an acute attack of pneumonia poisoning, her physician reported upon his return from Nevada where he treated her.

The physician, Dr. H. H. Blodgett, raced to her bedside by airplane and automobile after Miss Bow's husband, Rex Bell, asked him to come immediately.

Dr. Blodgett reported Miss Bow is recovering.

CULT INCLUDES HIGH OFFICIALS

One-Man Grand Jury Reports City State, County Aid in Black Legion.

PONTIAC, Mich., Sept. 1.—Oakland County's one-man grand jury investigating the widespread activities of the Black Legion reported today that 86 persons, the majority officials of city, county and state government, had been affiliated with the night riding, terrorist band.

Circuit Judge George B. Harlick, in a lengthy report of his three months' investigation of the subversive order, named the Oakland County prosecutor, a state representative, two chiefs of police, and a fire captain as among the men who took the oath to fight Catholicism, Jewry, communism and other "un-American" forces.

The court characterized most of the officials named as honest and efficient in their official duties, and found nothing to criticize beyond the matter of their membership in the subversive order.

At Lansing, Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald advised that state employees, including the Pontiac manager of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, were members, reiterated his order that the "state fire every employee who belongs to the Black Legion."

In nearby Detroit, trial of 12 members of the Black Legion for the wanton slaying of Charles A. Poole got under way with the questioning of prospective jurors.

The defendants, including "Col." Harvey Davis, alleged ringleader in the Poole slaying, were brought early to Circuit Judge Joseph A. Moynihan's courtroom where they are charged with shooting Poole to death May 12 because neighborhood gossip termed him a "wife beater."

FATHER, DAUGHTER TO END SEPARATION

Anderson, Sept. 1.—Guy Shafer, who has not seen his daughter for 21 years, is to meet her in Cincinnati today.

Shafer, established through Lincoln, plans for fall and winter activities are to be made, according to Mrs. Florence Swope, temple queen.

exposed positions, to be killed, if possible, by the fire of their own guns.

From Irun, Bilbao and Burgos in the north to Malaga in the south, the cruel work went on. From everywhere came reports of the mass slaughter of rebel and Loyalist prisoners. Some were condemned by court-martial and shot. Others, apparently, were merely lined up in batches and moved down.

The military situation was unchanged and there was no indication of a definite break for either side. Irun, after a week-of siege, was in a desperate way and its fall appeared probable.
