PROTECTION FOR STATE'S SINKING FUND IS SOUGHT

Teckemeyer Proposes New Insurance Plan to Guard Deposits.

Times Special
WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Indiana's sinking fund for protection of state deposits in banks may be preserved through a new insurance plan outlined here today by Ross Teckemeyer, secretary of the sinking fund and examiner of the State Board of Accounts.

The plan must be approved by the Federal Reserve Board of Mr. Teckemeyer, said, and he came here to get such approval. It already has been approved by the Federal Deposit Insurance officials, he declared.

Under the Indiana sinking fund law, passed in 1922, the interest on bank deposits of public funds goes into the sinking fund and any losses are paid therefrom. This eliminated the surety bonds formerly required of the banks.

The new Federal Reserve Act forbids banks paying interest on such funds and the only way in which the sinking fund can be preserved is by making an assessment for insurance of such funds to replace the interest payments, Mr. Teckemeyer explained.

There is $1,000,000 in the fund now, all losses have been paid and no claims are outstanding, Mr. Teckemeyer reported.
