license to sell liquors and beer and others pay as high as $1500 a year to the State of Indiana to do the same line of business.

"Is it fair to other hotels and all other taxpayers? Any conscientious person positively knows it is an injustice and all other businesses and home owners who are fighting through to pay taxes and 100 cents on the dollar on obligations, wonder why."

"Representative citizens and government close their eyes and silence their minds to the injustice. Is it justice? It is certainly not equal rights to all and special privilege to none, which should be the American basis for American justice."

"Why should these vast values escape taxes and throw the burden on the homes and businesses of the taxpayers?"

Claims Situation Destructive

"In conclusion, this situation is destructive and at this time when taxes are to be increased, certainly it produces a lack of confidence in politics and thereby impairment of stability. It is high time, in this coming election, in fairness to the voters, that the Democratic candidate for Governor and the Republican candidate for Governor speak openly before elected, where they stand on this situation."

"These facts are stated because it should be the desire of all people through life to pay 100 cents on every dollar of their debts, but the job is made hard to every burdened property owner as we can not have a vigorous investment in new building enterprise so long as property can be bought for half or less than it now would cost to build. High taxes are damaging and thereby cause extreme hardships, and in many cases, confiscation of a life's work and savings."

"I am for exemption of taxes on all religious institutions and schools operated for non-profit, also charities, but not for their capital investment in property to be used otherwise in competition with business or homes of our state. Written without prejudice, and for fair play."

"GEORGE J. MAROTT."

Organization Spokesmen Reply to Charge

Park Akin, Columbia Club secretary-manager, said: "No part of the Columbia Club building is tax exempt. Our club pays regular taxes on the entire building. We have never had the privilege of being tax exempt as other similar organizations."

Charles O. Britton, Antlers Hotel receiver, said that "property is exempt from taxation because it is

DAHLIA GROWERS EXHIBIT BLOSSOMS

My, what pretty flowers—and what a pretty girl, too! The flowers will be on display today and tomorrow at the Brookside Community House in the first annual Indianapolis Dahlia Society show. They are "Miss Indiana" blooms created by Dr. A. E. White.

Dr. White won a certificate of merit at the recent Cincinnati show, where he exhibited 10 blooms. The pretty girl is Miss Ellen Luper, 6201 Park-av.

owned entirely by the Elks Lodge, a benevolent organization."

Gertrude F. McHugh, Indianapolis Athletic Club executive secretary, said the organization pays approximately $6500 a year taxes for the 25 per cent facilities not exempt.

Denies Hotel Competition

"Since other clubs are exempt completely from taxes, we feel we are entitled to a partial exemption," the executive secretary said. "The club does not run in competition with hotels since service is afforded only members or guests of members."

"Our exemption is based on the athletic facilities we provide. We were exempted from tax rolls in 1932."

"We feel our position is well founded," R. H. Hollywood, Odd Fellows Building manager, said. "Whatever profit is made from operation of this building goes to support our home in Greensburg. It costs approximately $60,000 a year to operate. We were paying about $20,000 a year taxes when the property was taken from tax duplicates in 1932."

"If we were to close the institution and let the state operate it, the cost probably would be as high

Denies New Deal Policy Brought Recovery

The New Deal's claims of bringing recovery were challenged by Homer Elliott, Republican Twelfth District congressional candidate, in an address at a G. O. P. meeting in Hawthorne Community House last night.

"Criticism of the New Deal policy of government spending in striving for recovery," Mr. Elliott said, "the best test of whether national recovery has been achieved is to inquire what would happen if the stream of Federal money flowing from the Treasury would be stopped suddenly."

"The money paid to dependent millions naturally finds its way into business, but it is not recovery," he said. "That is only a heart stimulant."

Beveridge Addresses Frankfort G. O. P.

FRANKFORT, Ind., Oct. 3.—Normal recovery has been retarded by regimentation of industry and agriculture, Albert J. Beveridge Jr., Indianapolis, said here last night.

Speaking before the Young Republican organization of Clinton County, Mr. Beveridge said, "Youth wants assurance beyond a mere breathing spell that collectivism is at an end."

Hillis Hails Smith's Political Stand

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 3.—Alfred C. Smith's radio address Thursday night was praised here yesterday by Glen R. Hillis, Kokomo Republican.

"A man's principles come before anything else and Al Smith sounded the death-knell of New Dealism in the most momentous political address of our generation," Mr. Hillis said.

Watson 'Humbugged' Farmers, Charge.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 3.—Results of President Roosevelt's reciprocal trade treaties prove that ex-Senator James Watson "humbugged" Indiana farmers for 20 years with his high tariff theories, M. Clifford Townsend, Democratic candidate for Governor, said here last night.

The Republican tariff war with other nations, he said, "costs Indiana farmers a loss of $3,500,000 a year in exports of lard alone. Roosevelt trade agreements have reversed the order and given Indiana farmers export concessions to 10 foreign countries."

Go and Stop

Down in Memphis lives a man with a single track job. He paints traffic signs . . . and in nine years he's never painted anything but the word "STOP."

"You don't need 'GO' signs," he says. "People go fast enough without them."

We get a lot of STOP signs in our business, too. Many's the time an advertiser will call us to STOP their Times Want Ad because it has produced the desired results.

Here, for instance, is a Times Economy Want Ad that was stopped in one day . . . because it had found a tenant for the apartment:

Pennsylvania, 813 N. Front one-room apartment, adjoining bath. Dec. 1, 1936. Dec. 1, 1936.

EVERYTHING SEEMS ALL RIGHT WITH YOUNG G. O. P.

'Sixty Mayors Club' Formed by G. O. P.

Headquarters of the "Sixty Mayors Club," Republican organization, is to be opened in the Claypool today.

Organized yesterday when Ivan C. Morgan, state Republican chairman, called a meeting to co-ordinate efforts of the state committee, the club is to conduct an intensive organization drive, it was said.

Springer Brings Attack on Taxes to County

In a series of meetings, Raymond S. Springer, Republican nominee for Governor, brought his attack of the gross income tax and the McNutt Administration into Marion County yesterday.

The nominee charged that "in the final analysis the gross income tax is a sales tax" and pledged to reduce the cost of government as a substitute for gross income tax revenue.

The McNutt-Townsend forces are seeking to confuse the public by injecting such questions as, "What will take the place of this tax and that tax and the other tax, when as a matter of fact the people are demanding that some of these taxes be wiped off the statute books," Mr. Springer said.

Tax Reduction Promise

"We are promising a sufficient reduction in the cost of state government that will exceed the amount which has been used from the gross income taxes for such purpose."

The threat of Tammanyism in Indiana transcends even the matter of dollars and cents. It threatens the very soul and character of every person in Indiana. The task of every right thinking citizen is to co-operate vigorously in driving the Tammany lion from the state.

"We will reduce taxes and eliminate graft and favoritism and give the government back to the people and give them economy and efficiency in every detail."

Communists File for Place on Ballots

The Communist Party of Indiana today had filed petitions with Gov. McNutt for a place on the state and national ballots.

The party declared in an affidavit: "We declare that we are not a party of force and violence and do not advocate any of the doctrines prohibited by an act of the General Assembly of Indiana."

State nominees are Wenzel Stokes, Hammond, for Governor; James A. Wood Jr., Anderson, Lieutenant Governor; Hugh Locke, Terre Haute, Secretary of State; Norvin C. Blake, Princeton, State Auditor; and John Goines, 2329 Massachusetts-av, State Treasurer.

The state petition carried 8245 signatures and the national 8133. The Communist Party note for Secretary of State in 1934 was 1323.

Presidential electors named were John Kola, Katherine Baslayan, both of Gary; John Sikora and Stella Stacker, Hammond; John Stearns, Evansville; Taylor and Elsie Kanouse, South Bend; Prashanti Triplet and George C. Hill, Terre Haute, and William Nelson, Louis Nelson, Emma Goines and Mary Heymer, Indianapolis.

Two other parties, Prohibition and Socialist-Labor, filed petition today, bringing the total to eight applicants.

a candle to William Randolph Hearst, the DuPonts and the crooked boards that come to Washington to try to force their legislation on the people."

Breaking down the national deficit of 13 billion dollars, Senator Schwellenbach said all but seven billion represented a deficit carried over from previous administrations, cash on hand, deferred war costs and returnable loans.

"This seven billion dollars represents $50 a person, and if in 1932, some one came to you and asked you to sign a promissory note for $50 to save the nation wouldn't you have done it?"

"Income Has Increased"

"Already the national income has increased $190 a person, so you have recovered and made money on your promissory note. We're going to send Wall Street the bill for that seven billions."

"Since the Roosevelt Administration began its recovery program there has been a 42 billion dollar stock market increase. The new Federal tax bill will collect from those who can pay."

"The 1936 tax bill will prevent $600,000,000 in tax evasions. National taxes are necessary to keep the big boys from leaving states where taxes are steeper. Hearst fled from California to evade taxes."

Senator Schwellenbach said President Roosevelt saved the United States from fascism and communism.

"There is only one remedy which a democracy can use to stamp out the spread of communism. That is for the government to recognize its responsibility to its people and to give to them a reasonable assurance of economic security," he said.

Ripe for Communism in 1932

"America was ripe for communism in 1932. During the Hoover Administration the attitude of the government toward the economic needs of the people paralleled precisely the attitude of the blind and ignorant leaders of the European nations which have resulted in revolution and dictatorship."

Circuit Judge Earl R. Cox said, "There is no one in the hall so far as to as to betray the party if he were offered the presidency of the Empire State Building. If there are any Al Smith Democrats here, let them take their walk now."

The audience applauded.

Former Mayor Reginald H. Sullivan said that of the proposed 23 cent increase in the local tax rate, only 2 cents was attributable to Democratic office holders.

are Democratic, Socialist, Socialist Party of Indiana, Inc., and Union Party.

The Republican Party has not filed its petition at noon today. The deadline is midnight tonight.

The state election commissioners, W. W. Spencer, Fred C. Gause and Gov. McNutt, are to convene Monday to discuss the ballot listings. There is room on the ballot for only seven parties. When the Republican file there will be eight applicants.

SUPREME COURT JURISTS GATHER

Vital Decisions on Social Laws Due in Term Opening Monday.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—New questions affecting the power of Congress and of the states to meet vital social and economic problems were before the Supreme Court today as it gathered in preparation for the 1936-37 term opening Monday.

Many of the cases which the court will decide before it recesses in June have not been filed, but the 450 on hand indicate a term of great significance if not as important as the last two.

Several questions affecting the New Deal's policies are still to come before the court which, in the past, has outlawed NRA, AAA, the Guffey coal act, railroad pensions, state minimum wage legislation and many other emergency laws.

In its present term the court will turn to the Administration's policy of making power loans and grants to the states, the railway labor and the Wagner labor acts, state minimum wage legislation and state fair trade practice acts.

Reflecting recent moves to keep the United States out of any future war, the court also will be asked to rule on certain phases of neutrality legislation.
