$43,000,000 TAX CUT IS CLAIMED

McNutt Cites County Levies in Defending Gross Income Law.

Reductions in real property levies in Indiana during the last four years amounted to $43,000,000, Gov. McNutt said last night in his weekly radio address in which he defended the gross income tax.

"From tabulations just completed," he said, "we can see there have been property tax cuts in every county in the state with an average reduction of 30 per cent or more for the 92 counties. Some counties have reduced them more than 50 per cent."

The Governor insisted that the administration's pledge to "reduce the oppressive tax burden on property" has been carried out through levying of the gross income tax.

"The tax has made it possible for us to keep our schools open and to go ahead with our share of the social security act," Gov. McNutt said.

The Governor cited figures to show that the state reached a new high of nearly $86,000,000 in distribution of money collected by the state to all local units of government. He said the sum is nearly $2,000,000 greater than last year and almost three times the amount for 1932-33.
