

PARENTS RECITE WITH PUPILS AS SPECIAL EVENT

Public Schools Celebrate Education Week With Open House.

Oldsters, several thousand strong, went back to school today.

Sitting with their children in classrooms, they reviewed geography, arithmetic and grammar. Conferred with teachers, they discussed problems peculiar to their own situations.

Thus 43 public schools observed American Education Week today. This afternoon and tonight a number of them are to present programs with special speakers.

Tracing the development of education from ancient Greece to the present time, Manual Training High School pupils presented a dramatic skit written by Miss Jessie Moore, faculty member.

Sideline Talks to Pupils
Merle Sidener, school board member, told Washington High School pupils that graduates returning to their communities to live are the greatest interpreters of the school system to the public. Training High School, this afternoon are to dramatize "The Work of the Sun." Tonight, Grover VanDyke, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, is to speak at School 2, 700 N. Delaware-st.

Board Member to Speak
Members of the Parent-Teacher Association of School 4, 630 W. Michigan-st., are to hear an address by Mrs. Clayton Ridge, member of the Board of School Commissioners, at 3:30 p. m. At School 14, 1229 E. Ohio-st., four speakers are to join in a discussion of "The Place of the Modern City School in the Local Health Program." The speakers are Dr. Herman G. Morgan, Dr. Walter Stoefler, Miss Ethel Snodgrass, R. N., and Emil Rath, director of health and physical education.

Speakers at School 17, 1102 N. West-st., tonight are to be the Rev. R. S. Mosbey and Russell Nugent, of the Marion County Juvenile Court. Pupils are to present a play, "Thanks to Horace Mann." The Rev. J. H. Lawrence is to speak this afternoon at School 23, 401 W. 13th-st.

Demonstrations Scheduled
Miss Agnes Mahoney, principal, is to speak at a Parent-Teacher Association meeting of School 9, Fulton and Vermont-sts., this afternoon. Demonstration classes in social studies, mathematics, physical education and music are to be held.

A forum discussion of pupil and school problems is to be conducted this afternoon by teachers of School 20, 1125 Spruce-st., for benefit of parents. The Rev. R. M. Dordill is to give an illustrated lecture at School 21, 2815 English-av., tonight. Ralph W. Wright, public schools director of music, is to lead the audience in "song fest."

"Modern Trends in Education" is to be discussed by Miss Gertrude Thumler, dean of girls, Arsenal Technical High School, before members of the Parent-Teacher Association of School 22, 1230 S. Illinois-st., this afternoon. The Jewish Veterans of Foreign Wars are to present 15 flags to the school.

Training in correct introductions is to be a feature of the open house meeting at School 24, 1410 Wacker-st., at 7:30 tonight. Three assemblies this afternoon, to be followed by a special program tonight are to be offered visitors at School 42, 1002 W. 25th-st.

HIGH SCHOOL COMMUNITY FUND VOLUNTEERS

Young orators from public speaking classes of Indianapolis high schools assisted in "paving the way" for volunteer solicitors in the annual Indianapolis Community Fund campaign, now under way.

Beginning last summer, these pupils visited summer camps of fund agencies and made a tour of the welfare and relief agencies. After school opened, the pupils spoke before student groups, churches and civic organizations and spread the fund message throughout the city.

'Sod House to Senate' Sums Up Story of Costigan's Successor

Edwin C. Johnson, Former Colorado Governor, Born in Kansas.
BY GEORGE SANFORD HOLMES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—"From sod house to Senate" sums up the story of Gov. Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, newly elected to the seat which Senator Edward P. Costigan is relinquishing because of ill health. The Governor has had his eye on the Senate for years. He was contemplating a race against Costigan in the Democratic primary when Costigan announced last spring that he would not run. Johnson easily won a three-cornered race for the nomination, and still more easily whipped Ray L. Sauter, Republican, on Nov. 3.

Johnson is 52, tall, raw-boned, prairie born and bred. He still carries a union card in the Order of Railroad Telegraphers.

He does not belong to the progressive Costigan wing of the party in Colorado. He is a "regular" Democrat, imbued with orthodox party doctrines, brought up in the school of party conformity.

His candidacy was supported by conservative business interests in Colorado as well as by the Democratic rank and file. He ran on a New Deal platform of political faith, but with reservations against the reciprocal trade treaties and tariff policies of the Roosevelt Administration.

There is a Hoarlike Alger tinge to his personal history. He was born of Swedish stock in Kansas in 1884, lived with his parents in a sod house in Nebraska during his youth, obtained a high school education while punching cattle on the Nebraska plains, became a railroad section-hand, later a baggageman and then a telegrapher. Eventually he moved to Colorado to recover his health.

That Colorado's dry air effected a complete restoration is revealed by his brawny physique of today. He is a giant of a man, 6 feet 2 and weighing more than 200 pounds.

Took Up Homestead
His health regained, he and his wife and daughter took up a homestead in Moffat County, high in the Continental range and 100 miles from a railroad. In spare time he drove a freight team and taught school, and he prospered to such an extent that neighboring farmers asked him to manage a co-operative grain elevator at Craig, Colo. He still heads this undertaking.

In 1920 he was elected to the Legislature. He became House leader, secretary to Gov. William H. Adams, then Lieutenant Governor and finally Governor. He is now completing his second term.

Probably no man in Colorado is as well known through the state as Gov. Johnson. His widespread individual contacts have contributed greatly to his political success.

LABOR LAWS OF STATE AWARDED 3 MERIT BADGES

Frances Perkins Presents Medals to Indiana Men at Conference.

BY DANIEL M. KIDNEY
Times Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Indiana has three merit badges to boast of today because of labor legislation passed in the state since 1934. These included ratification of the child labor amendment, adoption of unemployment compensation, and establishment of a Federal-state employment service.

These awards were made by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins at a dinner last night of the third national conference on state labor legislation.

Indiana is represented at the meeting by Alex Gordon, personal representative of Gov. McNutt; Chairman Ira M. Snouffer of the Indiana Industrial Board, and President Carl Mullen of the State Federation of Labor.

Mr. Gordon is chairman of the committee dealing with social security and expected today to bring in a resolution for adoption by the state which would act to remove the employment payments in old age retirement insurance.

Long active in Railway Brotherhood and organized labor affairs in Indiana, Mr. Gordon predicted that the state will act to remove the employment payments at the next session of the Legislature.

Organized Labor Objected
"Organized labor objected to the employment payments when the Social Security bill was drafted," Mr. Gordon declared, "the vicious manner in which it was attacked by unscrupulous employers during the campaign just closed shows that they are opposed to the entire measure."

"As a matter of fact they are getting off too easily. They should pay the entire cost as part of their regular fixed charges in doing business."

One of the principal demands of organized labor in Indiana also will be the creation of a State Labor Department to administer all laws dealing with labor, Mr. Gordon said. This plan was praised highly by Secretary Perkins at the meeting last night.

RED CROSS LAUNCHES MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The Indianapolis chapter of the American Red Cross today launched its annual membership campaign with a minimum goal of 22,000 members sought by Thanksgiving Day.

Joining with 3700 Red Cross chapters in the nation, the Indianapolis organization hoped to raise its rolls to 120,000 members before the drive ends.

Campaign headquarters have been established on the first floor of the K. of P. Building. Several thousand men and women will serve as volunteer workers in the Marion County campaign.

The seven membership campaign divisions are to be led by: Metropolitan division, Mrs. Frank T. Dowd and Mrs. E. Kirk McKinney; co-chairman; industrial division, Mrs. Wolf Sussman; residential division, Mrs. H. Nathan Swalm; commercial division, Mrs. Chantilla E. Wray, Mrs. B. B. Pettigrew and Mrs. Carl L. Ittenbach; co-chairmen; utilities division, Charles A. Bree; public employees division, Michael F. Morrissey, chief of police, and county division, Mrs. L. G. Hughes, general chairman, and Mrs. Hugh McGibeny, assistant.
