

STUDENTS IN STATE TO COME HOME THANKSGIVING

Those Out of Indiana Guests of Classmates

Entertainment Arranged For Eleanor Neale of Washington.

BY BEATRICE BURGAN
Society Editor
 WHILE college students in the East and other sections remote from Indianapolis are having Thanksgiving dinner with classmates, those enrolled in Indiana colleges will be enjoying the festive hour of their families.

St. Mary-of-the-Woods College girls are to arrive tomorrow evening. Miss Berenice Brennan, who is to be accompanied by Miss Eleanor Neale, Washington, is to have a dinner party Saturday in her guest's honor. They are to attend the St. Joan of Arc Church's dance at the Columbia Club after the dinner party.

Miss Anna Margaret Durkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Durkin, is to have a party for the visitor on Friday.

Others Coming Home
 Other St. Mary's girls to be at home are Miss Margaret Blackwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Blackwell; Miss Margaret Cregor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank W. Cregor; Miss Lucille Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barry; Miss Margaret Dowd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dowd; Misses Mary Jean and Martha Smith, daughters of Mrs. J. Albert Smith; and Miss Helen Connor.

Students from St. Mary's College at Notre Dame also are to arrive tomorrow. They include Miss Mary Ellen Flaherty, daughter of Mrs. J. G. Flaherty; Miss Virginia Frain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frain; Misses Mary Ellen and Kathryn Garland, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Garland; and Miss Betty Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Reed.

Others are Miss Louise Argus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Argus; Miss Margaret Bernatz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bernatz; Miss Jane Keach, daughter of Leroy J. Keach; Miss Mary Catherine Sexton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Sexton; and Miss Joan Hall.

Academy girls to be on vacation are Miss Mary Louise Loney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Loney; and Miss Mary Ann Leach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Leach.

Wait Until Week-End
 With only a one-day holiday at Western College, two local students are delaying their visits home until the week-end. Miss Jane Wynne will come home to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wynne, and Miss Erudene Brown is to join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brown.

Miss Jacqueline Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wolf's daughter, is to spend Thanksgiving with Wellesley College classmates at a house party.

Miss Alice Vonnegut, Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Vonnegut's daughter, who has been visiting in the East for a month, is to have her holiday dinner with a former Pine Manor College classmate, Miss Nanette Burns, New York. Miss Vonnegut is expected home next week-end.

Miss Janet Noyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Noyes, and Miss Irving Moxley, G. Barrett Moxley's daughter, are to return Thursday morning from a visit in the East.

Mrs. Joseph H. Crawley and daughters, Misses Mary Kathryn and Ferda Crawley, 5029 W. 13th-st., are to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs. Crawley's mother, Mrs. William Burleigh, Evansville.

Thanksgiving Weddings Are Outlined

Marriage vows are to be exchanged Thursday at St. Anthony's Church by Miss Rosemary Higgs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Higgs, and Francis Biemer, son of Martin Biemer.

The marriage of Miss Mary Carolyn Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fisher, and Anthony G. Fusser, son of Mrs. Rose Fusser, is to be solemnized Thanksgiving.

Males Rapidly Losing Rights, Doctor Claims

Sees Return to Age of Amazons Unless Men Act.

BY LAURA LOU BROOKMAN
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The men folk had better step spryly to regain ground lost to women, says Dr. Joseph Tenenbaum. That is, if they want to keep any rights at all for themselves—a latch key, a little loose change in their pockets, some "say" in the matter of where Junior is going to school and whom daughter shall marry, use of the family car now and then, and maybe an occasional night out with "the boys."

Otherwise, thinks Dr. Tenenbaum, America is likely to see a return to the Age of Amazons.

Distinguished in medical, educational and literary circles, Dr. Tenenbaum has given years of research to the subject of women's social and economic position through the ages.

He undertook this study in preparation for his book, "The Riddle of Woman." The doctor is quick to explain that, though woman is riddle, she is not a mystery. She is a woman, and she is to remain so, and she doesn't pretend to have found the answer.

Marriage Manifestations

"At the rate things are going today," he says, "it seems inevitable that men will soon do little more than take orders. It happened 3000 years ago in Egypt. Why shouldn't it happen again? Women made all the rights then. They made the laws, carried on the business, wore plain clothes and cut their hair short. The men stayed at home and got themselves up in fine costumes."

Right now, in 1936, says Dr. Tenenbaum, if you were to visit the right parts of the world, you could find in practice today practically every type of marriage and family life that history has known.

For instance: In Sumatra when a man buys a wife, she and her children become his property, subject to inheritance by his heirs.

In Samoa the husband is an absolute bond slave of his mother-in-law. Among the Tuaregs a man's property and titles are handed down, not to his children, but to his sister's children.

In Ceylon it is customary for one wife to have from four to six husbands—often brothers.

One Sex Enslaves Other

Dr. Tenenbaum points out that one sex never can dominate unless the other, automatically, becomes enslaved. That is why he thinks the situation is serious for the United States today.

"Our grandmothers," he says, "were not so free as women are today, but what they had was assurance. They could inspire their husbands, give them courage. Nowadays women do not have that assurance, and they can not give it to men."

The woman who lives in luxury, with nothing to do all day, and the woman who drives herself, trying to earn a living and at the same time keep a home, are equal problems to society, according to the doctor.
