NINE GYMNASIUMS FOR BOXERS

GOLDEN GLOVE POINTERS GIVEN

NINE gyms are available for amateur boxers who wish to round into form and enter The Times-Leigton Golden Gloves tournament to be held at the local Armory Jan. 22, 23 and Feb. 5 and 12. Instructors will be on hand at all training "camps" and the lads are invited to work out free of charge.

Here is the list of the gyms at the service of ambitious glove throwers:

South Side Turners, 306 Prospect St.; Washington A. C., 122½ S. Illinois St.; WPA, Fortieth St. and Capitol Ave.; WPA Brightwood; WPA Oliver A. C., Warren and Oliver Aves.; Central Y. M. C. A., Illinois and New York Sts.; Negro Y. M. C. A., Senate Ave. and Michigan St.; Bess A. C., 400 block, Indiana Ave.; Boyce A. C., 1700 block, N. Arsenal Ave.

Fred De Borde, tournament manager, announces that 50 entries have been received, and with the passing of the holiday period, he will be prepared to handle heavy business next week.

GOLDEN GLOVE champions will be declared in eight classes of two divisions—Open and Novice—from flyweights to heavyweights. To refresh the memory of the fans who packed the Armory for last winter's bouts, names of the 1936 Times-Leigton title holders are listed below:

Open Class	Novice Class
112—Jimmy Williams	Bobby Guss
118—Jude Davis	Bucky Cunningham
126—Bud Cottet	Harold McDermid
135—Norval Binninger	Floyd Ford
147—Harry Brown	Elza Batts
160—Johnny Denison	Jimmy Gustafson
175—Frank Ianuzzi	Lloyd Dodd
Heavy—Elza Thompson	Karl Bauer

At the age of 17 Pitcher Bob Feller has been appointed a "prof" in a baseball school at Hot Springs, Ark. Well, if Bob becomes stumped he can consult "Professor" Dizzy Dean who knows all the answers in some shape or form and is chief mouthpiece of the faculty.

In a far cry from the era when football seasons ended on Thanksgiving Day, the pigskin chasers enjoyed a field day on several fronts yesterday. This corner got off to a fair start in the pick 'em league on the first day of the new year. Our selections were Pittsburgh, Louisiana, Texas Christian, Duquesne and Auburn in the major "bow" attractions. Three right, one tie and one miss was the record.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY'S hardwood squad which halted Long Island's winning streak at 43 straight has all-around excellence. The West coasters keep on top of the ball and are mostly one-hand shooters. Their close guarding also caught the eye of New York observers when the Blackbirds were clipped Wednesday. It was the first loss for L. I. U. since Feb. 15, 1935, when Duquesne finished on the long end.

A CHOICE seat at the Freddie Steele-Gorilla Jones middleweight title fight in Milwaukee yesterday cost $7.00. And the fans remained at home to catch up on their sleep. At one time during the Indiana-Butler game here last night two former Shortridge High School players were jumping center against each other, Jim Birr of the Crimson and Bill Merrill of the Bulldogs. Steve Messner, young infielder purchased by the Chicago White Sox from Los Angeles, is a Serbian. And Mike Kreevich, regular outfielder with the Sox, is a Croatian. The Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians suffered 10 whitewashings apiece last season to share the doubtful honor of collecting the most goose eggs. Washington was the toughest nine in the American League to retreat without a run, suffering only three shutouts.

THE new plant in which the new Jersey City Internationals will play this year, after taking over the Albany franchise, is called Roosevelt Stadium. It will seat 30,000 with 20,000 in the grandstand. It's a WPA project and entails an expenditure of $2,000,000 of which $1,500,000 is coming from government funds. The club will be the chief member of a new farm system which the New York Giants are organizing. The park will have lights for night games in spite of the fact the Giants oppose nocturnal ball in the National League.

Thorp Holds Brumbaugh Best Back Seen in Year

By HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2.—Mr. Tom Thorp, who somehow manages to find time between stowingard at race tracks, writing a newspaper column, and defending his national free style eating championship to referee many of the nation's top football games, thinks that Boyd Brumbaugh, who won the Orange Bowl game for Duquesne here yesterday, is the best back he has seen all year.

This is high praise, indeed, for during the 1936 season Tom Thorp saw some sweet ones. Among the first period, was a holy terror.

He was so far and away the center, which was no mean task, for Mike, once he quit reading his newspaper clippings in the first period, was a holy terror.

"Armstrong worked under a handicap," Thorp said, "because in the L. S. U. game he suffered a broken collar bone. He was all strapped up on his pitching side, but that didn't keep him from throwing strikes. Given good health and I would have to try and name a better passer."

Armstrong worked under a handicap, Thorp said, "because in the L. S. U. game he suffered a broken collar bone. He was all strapped up on his pitching side, but that didn't keep him from throwing strikes. Given good health and I would have to try and name a better passer."

Mississippi State scored in each of the first and second periods, with Armstrong throwing the ball for consistent gains. Duquesne tallied in the second period and the fourth. Pickle, who had an off year this season, after running wild in 1935, must take the blame for the final Duquesne score. He allowed himself to be "pulled in, and then out-run by Heffter."

M'NEILL IS FAVERD TO WIN TENNIS CROWN

By United Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Don McNeill of Oklahoma City and Marvin Kantrowitz of New York meet today for the national indoor junior singles championship.

McNeill, Kenyon College student who was seeded first in the tournament, was favored to win the title over Kantrowitz, No. 6 player, who yesterday upset Joseph Fishback, New York; Kantrowitz and Melvin Lapman play Charles Mattman, Moorefield Hills, N. Y., and Peter Lauck, Moorefield Hills, N. Y., for the junior doubles crown.

Melvin Schwartzman, New York, who paired with Harper Ink Jr., San Diego, Cal., to win the boys' doubles title yesterday, faces William Umstader, Milburn, N. J., for the singles championship. Schwartzman was seeded third and Umstader second.

SHORTRIDGE, TECH CENTER OF INTEREST

High Schools Meet in First Test Tonight

Fans Get Chance to Match Teams' Strength in Fieldhouse Clash.

The highlight of the local high school basketball season so far is to be the Shortridge-Tech battle at Butler Fieldhouse tonight.

It will be the first real test of local talent and should prove of interest to fans who figure in advance the potentialities for sectional and regional possibilities.

Officials of the two schools estimated that the crowd tonight would be the largest to witness a high school game this season.

Yesterday afternoon the Blue Devil team turned back the Bloomington five, and last night Tech dropped a fast game at Richmond. Tonight's game starts at 8:15 p. m.

Shortridge Defeats Bloomington, 18-13

A failure to connect on long shots proved fatal for Bloomington's Panthers in the downstate gym as Shortridge's Blue Devils hung up their sixth straight win of the season by an 18-13 margin.

Shortridge held a lead throughout the tilt, yesterday and held the Panthers to three field goals.

Shortridge got a fast start when Fred Fobes, Paul Alley, and Jack Clayton scored for a 6-2 advantage, after Junior Wampler and Ethel Galloway tallied the only Bloomington points with a pair of charity shots. Clayton also hit a free throw before the quarter ended with Shortridge on top, 7-2.

Winfield Headley, Bloomington center, shot two field goal early in the second period and Lexie Mills made one and a free shot to boost the Panthers' total to nine points. Fobes and Clayton each connected and Carl Klein swished a foul toss to keep the Blue Devils' 12-9 advantage at the intermission.

Shortridge rapidly drew away from Bloomington in the third stanza. Bloomington's only scoring came on Wampler's free throw. The quarter ended with Shortridge eight points ahead, 18-10.

A Bloomington spurt in the final period failed to catch Shortridge.

Fred Fobes with eight points, and Jack Clayton with five, appeared best for the Blue Devils, while Headley and Mills, with five and four points respectively, paced the Bloomington attack. Summary:

Mooreville Tops Manual, 32 to 18

George Fields, substitute player led the Mooreville (Ind.) High School basketball team to an easy 32-to-18 victory over Manual of Indianapolis at the former's gym.

The defeat was the local squad's fifth of the season and their fourth in a row.

Manual's desperate attempts to score in the final session were marred by frequent fouling on the part of both groups. Coach Wilbur Cummings' boys had gained too large a score, however, for the local team to overcome and in the last few minutes of play both coaches gave all their boys a chance by substituting frequently. Fields and Bob York were outstanding for the winners while Roy Huber and Looper fared well for the losers.

Cathedral Whips St. Mary's, 33-26

Staving off a late rally that fell short of tying the score, Cathedral defeated St. Mary's of Anderson, 33-26, before a holiday crowd of 2000 at the North Siders court. The Irish were off to a 9-4 lead and increased their margin to 22-9 at intermission.

A fury of fouls greeted both teams in the third quarter and resulted in the ejection of Joe Gillespie and Bob Fitzgerald on personals. The end of the third quarter found Cathedral still holding a 10-point lead.

Irish Reverse Bowling Plans

Ireland considers American bowling namby-pamby since the Irish use a 28-pound iron ball on three miles of roadway, the player requiring the least number of throws to complete the course winning.
