

65-YARD DASH FEATURES PITTSBURGH'S BOWL VICTORY

85,000 Watch Panthers End Jinx in West

Coach Sutherland's Tricks Defeat Washington, 21-0 In Grid Classic.

By HENRY SUPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2.—Pittsburgh's Rose Bowl jinx is ended. The Golden Panthers, eager to wipe out a string of three defeats of former years, finally brought victory to Pittsburgh yesterday with a crushing 21-0 triumph over Washington's Huskies.

These youngsters in the Blue and Gold uniforms used power and trickery to score three touchdowns that gave them the most commanding Rose Bowl victory since 1930, when Southern California defeated another Pitt team 35-0.

Ground Attack Clicks

It was the memory of previous defeats, a vow to hit back at those who criticized Pittsburgh's selection for the game, and a devastating ground attack that clicked when needed, that enabled the Eastern invaders to throw off the 1936 champions of the Pacific Coast.

The victory was an upset—for none thought that either team would win by such a margin. But Pitt, before a crowd of 87,000—largest ever to see a Rose Bowl game—struck twice with power plays. And then, early in the final session as Washington's famed passing attack began to click, the Panthers sewed up the ball game when Bill Daddio, 180-pound end from Meadowville, Pa., intercepted a lateral pass and scooted 55 yards for a touchdown.

Daddio Pitt's Star

It was Daddio, a tower of strength on offense and defense, who was responsible for breaking up Washington's attack. He played 54 minutes of bang-up football—many of which were spent gambling in the husky backfield.

And it was Frank Patrick, smashing fullback from East Chicago, Ind., little Bobby Lee of Greensburg, Pa., and Marshall (Biggie) Goldberg, sensational West Virginia sophomore, who lugged the ball through the Washington line.

A clever bit of strategy on the part of Coach Jock Sutherland prevented Goldberg from doing much ball carrying. He used an offense that featured Goldberg in the role of interference and Marshall, who had gained national-wide fame as a runner, covered himself with glory. He led the charge into enemy territory. Patrick had the honor of scoring the touchdowns, one each in the first and third periods. But it was Goldberg who cleared the way.

Three Other Threats

The score hardly tells the story of the game, for three other times Pittsburgh was within scoring distance, once when the Panther second string had the pigskin on Washington's seven-yard line as the game ended.

Washington's best bid for a score came in the second period when it passed to Pitt's 19 only to lose the ball on downs. Haines, in the clear, dropped a pass four yards from home—and that muff apparently broke the Huskies' hearts.

They struck back in the fourth period when three long passes carried them from their own 11-yard line to the Panther's 35. But it was there that Daddio stopped the threat with his touchdown run.

Texas Christian Beats Marquette

By United Press

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 2.—Texas football fans were positive their section still is tops in the wide-open razzle-dazzle type of football after watching the Texas Christian eleven defeat Marquette, 16 to 6, in yesterday's Cotton Bowl game.

The heralded aerial duet between Sammy Baugh, T. C. U.'s all-American quarterback, and Ray Buivid, Marquette's pass-throwing star, failed to materialize. Baugh resorted to the air seldom as Buivid was preoccupied from doing much passing by the fast-charging Christian linemen who broke through to upset the pass plays before they could be launched.

It was L. D. Meyer, Christian end, who held the spotlight as he scored all of his team's points. He got a field goal, two touchdowns and a conversion.

While the Texans concentrated on smearing Buivid, his team mate, Art Guepe, got away with a 60-yard touchdown run that provided Marquette's only counter. He made the run on a punt return, with Buivid's blocking a big factor in clearing the way for him.

Hardin-Simmons Sun Bowl Winner

By United Press

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 2.—The Hardin-Simmons University football team today had chalked up a post-season victory over the Texas College of Mines team in the all-Texas Sun Bowl game here yesterday. The score was 34 to 6.

Remove Seven Turns On Roosevelt Track

By United Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—To increase possible average speed on the Roosevelt Raceway, where Tazio Nuvolari, Italian driver, won the Vanderbilt Cup in 1936, authorities are looting off seven of the dizzy curves, banking the turns, and making other alterations. Average speed of 85 miles an hour is expected to be possible when the changes are made.

FOOTBALL SCORES

COLLEGES

Pittsburgh, 21; Washington, 0. Duquesne, 13; Mississippi State, 12. Santa Clara, 21; Louisiana State, 14. Texas Christian, 16; Marquette, 6. Auburn, 7; Villanova, 7 (tie). East All-Stars, 3; West All-Stars, 0. Hardin-Simmons, 34; Texas Mines, 6. Tulane, 6; Princeton, 0.

PROFESSIONAL

Green Bay Packers, 2; Brooklyn Dodgers, 10. Boston Shamrocks, 28; New York Yankees, 10.

OFF THE BACKBOARD

By JOHN W. THOMPSON

It'll Be Another Sleepless Night Tonight for Sparrows at Butler Fieldhouse When Tech and Shortridge Teams Meet in Basketball Encounter.

SPARROWS at the Butler Fieldhouse had a quiet New Year's Eve. But they'll spend their second consecutive sleepless night tonight when Tech and Shortridge meet in their first basketball encounter of the season.

Last night it was Indiana and Butler that kept Mr. and Mrs. Sparrow and the little ones awake.

Tonight the howls and cheering are expected to be even worse. If you know Tech and Shortridge fans, you know what enthusiasm they can unleash at a sports event.

Echoes of the recent football clash between Tech and Shortridge might even be heard. Jack Dawson, Shortridge guard, battered his way for many a gain through Tech's grid line. Tonight he'll be leading his team's attack on the Tech basketball hoop.

It'll be an undaunted Tech football spirit in basketball clothing seeking revenge for that football defeat.

BAD starts in basketball often turn into glorious endings. Coach Maurice Kennedy at Noblesville has something to say along this line. His team has bogged down in a five-game losing streak. He offers encouragement by recalling that during both his years at Wiley in Terre Haute, his teams lost five of their first six games. Yet, both years Wiley's teams went to the state tournament, and one year when Norm Cotton, Gimbel award winner, was a player, Wiley advanced to the semi-finals.

And to boost the encouragement, Coach Kennedy adds that Wiley's competition then wasn't any tougher than Noblesville's schedule now. Kennedy has taken steps to nip the losing streak in a hurry. He trimmed his first and second team squads to a total of 14 men this week, and plans to give each player more individual attention on handling the ball.

The Butler-Indiana game got its bit of formality last night when the silk-hatted gentlemen, dressed in tuxedo, and the formally-gowned lady was escorting, took their seats. They came in during the half period. No, he wasn't sporting a full cane. A full-dressed couple, cheering for a basketball team does look a little unusual.

THERE were touches of the family circle, too, at the game. One lot, not more than 2 years old, sat in the upper tiers beside his daddy, and asked lots of basketball questions. Another baby, not much more than a year old, toddled around the reserved seat section, hanging on the hand of her mother. Entire family groups; mother, father and two or three children, went out to Indiana's "point-a-minute-men."

Indiana's blazing crimson "warm-up" suits made the spacious Fieldhouse floor look like a fully-decorated Christmas tree. If you counted them, you noticed there were 13 Indiana players on the squad.

Butler's Fieldhouse games start at theater time—8:15 p. m. For a whole hour before game time last night, 11 tickets sellers were grabbing money and passing out tickets as fast as their hands could. The fans poured in steadily, until upper tiers began to fill up. The gates opened at 6 p. m. and officials said there was one cash admission waiting at the door.

THE fieldhouse police dog had a big evening and did his share of greeting as fans passed through the gates. He's a resident in the neighborhood and attends all the big games, Butler followers say.

Kenneth Gunning, Indiana's peppy forward, made good the Indiana "point-a-minute" tradition. Only he was a little faster than that. Gunning snared the tip-off from Lanky Fechtman, took a dribble, and scored the first basket before the game was a second old. Gunning's one-armed shots from a little past the middle of the floor made more than one fan shout "Wheeee."

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

Indiana's sky-high center, Fred Fechtman, seemed comfortable enough in the Butler fieldhouse. He didn't have to stoop during any part of the game. His six feet seven inches of height may get tangled in the ceiling grids of some gyms, but the fieldhouse gives him ample room to stretch.

New Leader of Bowlers Takes Reins

Herman Deupree Succeeds W. W. Winslow as Head Of Association.

By BERNARD HARMON

The destinies of the Indianapolis bowlers are to be in charge of Herman Deupree during the New Year.

Deupree, elected as president of the Indianapolis Bowling Association in its annual meeting Nov. 8, took over his new duties yesterday. He succeeds Walker W. Winslow, who has been in charge of the association since 1934. Deupree, a publicist director of the local A. B. C. tournament in Indianapolis last spring, had served for a two-year term.

The new leader was one of the main cogs in the vast machine set up by local pinmen two years ago when they decided to make their successful bid for the 1936 world's championship event. Deupree, as publicity director of the local A. B. C. Tournament Corp., which staged the huge event, turned in a splendid job and received the plaudits of tenpin followers from all parts of the nation for his great work.

Other 1937 officers who took over the reins along with Deupree were: Lester P. Koelling, Ted Seiner, Harry Pearce and Harold Ruschaupt, vice presidents; Norman L. Davis, secretary-treasurer; and Clarence Mack, Percy Henry, Wilbur Durbin and Elmer Lueke, executive committee. Hamilton has held his secretarial post for a number of years and was unanimously elected to continue his duties through 1937.

The city association during the present season has a membership of more than 100 leagues, the most successful representation since its organization. It has a total of 1,200 bowlers, the largest loop on record since the organization of leagues in 1924. The largest loop on record since the organization of leagues in 1924. The largest loop on record since the organization of leagues in 1924.

PICKED UP AT RANDOM—One of the country's largest industrial leagues is the 48-team Simmons "Beauty Rest" League of Kenosha, Wis. . . The largest loop on record since the organization of leagues in 1924. The largest loop on record since the organization of leagues in 1924.

The Tabernacle Presbyterian Church League schedule for next Wednesday is as follows: Lincolnwood vs. Tabernacle, 7 p. m. DeMolay vs. Apta Pale, 8 p. m. Broad Ripple vs. Fairview, 9 p. m. The league opened its season this week and plans to play each Wednesday night. In the initial games Broad Ripple defeated DeMolay, 28-20; Apta Pale of Irvington won from Lincolnwood Christian, 24-14; and Fairview outscored Tabernacle, 27-15.

The Mars Hill Merchants defeated New Augusta, 37-28, in a basketball game at the Dearborn gym yesterday. Chappell was outstanding for the winners and Fultz looked best for the losers.

In another game at the Dearborn gym the Diamond Chain team, after trailing 14-9 at the half, rallied to defeat the Apta Boys Club, 31-25.

Semifinal games in the championship division of the amateur tournament at the Dearborn gym tonight will find Kingans meeting Inland Containers at 8:10 and Rockwood Buddies tangle with Crown Production at 9:30.

Consolation games in the tournament are to find Prest-O-Lite opposing Walt's Terminal at 6:30, the winner meeting Brebbs' Market at 9:50 in a semifinal game. In another semifinal game Eastman Cleaners play Link Belt East at 7:30.

Sunday's Schedule

P. M.

1:30—Link Belt Dodge vs. Sinclair Oilers.

3:30—Finals of consolation flight.

5:30—Finals of championship flight.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

5:10—Elwood Pattern vs. Apta Pale Boys Club.

Play That Poised First Pitt Touchdown

Washington's goal line was a scant six inches away when this picture was snapped, showing Patrick, University of Pittsburgh's ball carrier, being downed in the Rose Bowl encounter yesterday. On the next play, Patrick plunged for Pitt's first touchdown, in the 21-0 victory over the Huskies.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.

Acme Telephone.