1 IT HAS nothing to do with your intelligence; it only indicates facts about your emotions and personality. It arouses the suspicion that you may be just a bit emotionally unadjusted in a good many other ways.

2 SO THAT brilliant journalist, Eleanor Patterson, maintains in discussing what women could do if they got together at the polls, she says, (paraphrased): "A rival (candidate) here or there may murmur sweet blandishments about bigger and better results, if he is elected, but woman is by nature a skeptical creature, frugal at heart, timid to forsake the certain for the possible, a shrewd bargainer who'll rarely accept a promise of a rosy future in exchange for even a slightly rusty present."

3 CERTAINLY it can. One organization, for example, has measured whether it is worse for a department store to have a dress returned because it does not fit or to handle wrongly an angry woman customer over the telephone, or whether people prefer gas for cooking to electricity and how strong their preference is. It requires first a proper sample of people, second, questions so framed that the person answering them cannot lie, third, some outside criteria, such as prices

Verdi's "Aida" certainly needs no introduction, but Gino Cigna, the Metropolitan's new dramatic soprano, does. Miss Cigna is to do the title part in "Aida" on tomorrow's Metropolitan broadcast on WLW at 1 p. m.

The singer will make her American radio debut in this role, and her first solo broadcast in this country will take place the following evening when she sings with Erno Rappe and his symphony orchestra on WIRE at 9 o'clock.

Miss Cigna comes to the Metropolitan direct from another famous stage, that of Milan's La Scala. She has been singing professionally for eight years, and in six of them has been a star at La Scala. She was chosen by the late Ottorino Respighi to create the principal role in his opera, "La Piama." When the centenary of Bellini's death was observed last year, Miss Cigna was selected to sing three performances of the difficult title role in his opera, "Norma."

Giovanni Martinelli, doughty and dependable tenor of many an "Aida," will sing Rhadames. Norman Gordon, Bruno Castagna and Ezio Pinza are others in the cast. Ettore Panizza will conduct.

Werner Janssen, almost a hometown boy and known to the world as a Sibelius interpreter and Ann Harding's husband, will appear in the former role tomorrow when he leads the London Symphony Orchestra in the Finnish master's Symphony No. 3 in C Major.

The program will be shortwaved from Queen's Hall, London, and will be heard locally through WIRE at 2:30 p. m.

Abram Chasins, young American composer-pianist, will return to the air at 11 a. m. tomorrow on CBS in a series similar to the lecture-recitals he presented earlier in the season. He has been on a concert tour of the South since leaving the air Jan. 9.

'Varsity Show' Tonight to Originate On Campus of Ohio State University; WIRE Will Report Golden Gloves Bouts

SUNDAY THEIR WORKDAY

Dick Powell Comes Back To 'Hollywood Hotel' For Preview.

By RALPH NORMAN

The "Varsity Show," which under direction of John Held Jr. originates each week on a different university campus, has proved a pleasant and lively addition to Friday night's network entertainment.

Tonight's show, on WIRE at 9:30 o'clock, is to be broadcast from Ohio State University at Columbus. Students and faculty members are to participate. The Ohio State Symphonic Band is to play and the Women's and Men's Glee Clubs will be heard. Nick Wasalyk, varsity quarterback, and three other students are to sing popular songs.

Sponsors of the "Varsity Parade" seem to have a good thing in this new offering. Talent costs nothing, alumni of participating universities naturally have more than average interest, and it's a very entertaining half hour for anyone who chances to listen.

Morris Hicks and Norman Perry Jr. will be at the WIRE microphone at 10:45 o'clock tonight to broadcast from the Army accounts of The Times-Leader Golden Gloves boxing matches. Announcer Hicks will give the blow-by-blow description and between-bout comment is to be handled by Mr. Perry. WIRE also is to broadcast the bouts next Friday night.

Dick Powell is to return to his old show, "Hollywood Hotel," at 8 o'clock tonight (WFBM), not as master of ceremonies but as guest star to preview his forthcoming screen musical, "On the Avenue."

Dick's radio shoes have been filled satisfactorily by Fred MacMurray, and the program of recent weeks has been well up to the standard maintained by the old cast. Dick, we've mentioned before, may be expected to head a new network offering in a few weeks. It already is in rehearsal, and is to be announced shortly.

Another guest of "Hollywood Hotel" tonight will be Irving Berlin, who wrote the music and lyrics for the new Powell movie. The musical portion of the program is to be a salute to Berlin with a parade of his outstanding hits.

Charges by Cincinnati officials that Floyd Gibbons' CBS broadcast of the flood there was misleading and untrue come as an aftermath of radio's far-flung activities in the disaster-stricken area. Officials, backed by civic associations and the Red Cross, have demanded a retraction, and CBS granted City Manager Clarence A. Dykstra free network time for his denial of Gibbons' description.

The broadcast under attack was on the commentator's "Your True Adventures" series last week. Gibbons refused to submit his program script to Cincinnati authorities prior to the broadcast, declaring he would not permit censorship. "We're not taking sides, but report the argument as a matter of radio news. Your True Adventures" is heard on CBS and WFBM at 9 o'clock each Thursday night.

Among Mutual's many new programs is a musical show starring Richard Himber's orchestra and songs by Gogo De Lys and Stuart Arlen. It is to be premiered at 7 p. m. on WGN and other Mutual stations and is to be dedicated to song hits of yesterday which will be the folk songs of tomorrow.

Motion Picture Daily reports that Fred Waring and his orchestra are being tested in New York at Warner studios. While it is believed that no contract has been signed, the Pennsylvanians are expected in Hollywood in March to film a college story.

Their cross-continent personal appearance tour will include stops at Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis. The Warrings, it seems, are definitely on the air until fall. But who would say they're doing badly?

Paul Whiteman, who like Waring concluded his sponsored radio series in December, is making a pretty
