

LEAP AT RACE TRACK IS GAMBLE, JOE SAYS

Once Famous Trainers Now Without Jobs

Human Equation Chance as Fickle as in Mutuels, Williams Writes.

By JOE WILLIAMS
Times Special Writer

MIAMI, March 3.—Life itself around the race track is a gamble. I was reminded of that today when I saw three trainers together in a paddock at Hialeah. The three were Bob Smith, Hirsch Jacobs and Bert Michell. Much of the recent history of the track has been written around these men.

A few days ago the turf world was literally agog over the training exploits of Smith, the old prize fighter man. Today, in the deep sixties he is without a job and toying with the idea of starting a small stable of his own. "I've had seven or eight fellows around me for 30 years and I've got to keep going for their sake if nothing else..."

As recent as the first of the year Jacobs, originally a pigeon fancier, was the most talked of man in racing both in America and across the Atlantic. He had set a new world record for saddling winners. On the basis of cold, austere figures he was the greatest trainer of them all. But today he is just another guy trying to get along.

Michell Top Trainer

In the spring of '35 Michell, once a spectacular figure in racing, found himself stranded in Havana with a string of motley nondescripts. He had reached the end of the trail, an unkempt figure on the frowzy edge of oblivion. Gone was the glory of the hour when he saddled Reigh Count for the Kentucky Derby and Anita Peabody for the Belmont Futurity. Few men in racing ever faced a more dismal future. Yet today Michell is the top trainer in America.

That's how it goes on the track where the gamble in human equations is as fickle as it is in the mutuels. In 1934 old Humming Bob Smith was winning most of the American fixtures with Cavalcade and High Quest, two colts he had bought and developed for the fashionable Mrs. Lodge Sloan, who as a result became the first woman to lead the turf in cash earnings. Now the two have parted and old Bob is looking around for a couple of horses to campaign in the less pretentious stakes.

Hirsch Jacobs' luck has changed, too. The men who was the champion trainer for four years in a row has dropped down to the level of the crowd.

Parallel With Grid Coaches

It strikes me there is a definite parallel between horse trainers and football coaches. They are both great when they have material. And of course some are greater than others. A less gifted trainer might not have gotten as much out of Cavalcade as old Humming Bob did, but when he lost the big horse and others, the answer was the same. With no material he could not win. The story of Jacobs is the same. When he had good horses, shapened and reared, he could win races. He hasn't any such horses today, not many anyway, and so he is reduced to the status of just another trainer. But the truth is he is as good a trainer today as he ever was. He just hasn't the material. Any football coach who has been forced to build character for several years can appreciate his position.

And now to get back to Bert Michell. He was always a fine trainer. He might have continued a distinguished career had he been without the humility of dropping to the depths if he hadn't split with John D. Hertz, the sportsman who brought out Reigh Count and Anita Peabody. With this split Michell began to fade until finally he hit rock bottom.

Wouldn't Disturb Horse

The details of this split have never been made public. The popular explanation is that Michell refused to take Reigh Count out of his stall at Mr. Hertz's request when the 1933 Derby winner was in England training for the Ascot Cup. The owner, so the story goes, had called at the barn at midday with a friend, and with a natural pride in his great campaigner wished to display him. Michell, it is said, had refused on the ground that he didn't wish to disturb the horse.

Whether this is an authentic presentation of what occurred, the fact remains that shortly thereafter the Hertz-Michell combination was dissolved. For a number of years neither the Hertz stable nor the Michell fortunes prospered, indicating that the split, whatever the cause, was mutually unfortunate.

Drug Store Experts Pick Washington and Shortridge to Battle It Out in Final Sectional Contest.

A BUNCH of fellows were sitting around a soda fountain in a drug store out on 22d St. Somehow or other the subject of the Indianapolis sectional came up. Of course that's not news. But the fact that all six of the boys in the group finally agreed on which two teams would come to the final game, is news. I can't even agree with myself about that.

But these boys (I listened in as I fumbled through the magazines) figured it out like this:

Tech, they said, would defeat Warren Central. Tech also, according to the knothole gang, would defeat the winner of the Broad Ripple-Manual game.

Their dope showed that Washington would defeat Oakland and would go on to down either Lawrence or Decatur Central. Then the boys decided that Washington would probably eke out a victory over Tech in the first game Saturday afternoon, to get into the final game.

My soda fountain experts were a bit hazy as to whether the Shortridge Blue Devils could settle down long enough to take Coach Bill Bugg's Southey side. They finally decided in favor of the North Side club. Then they figured that Shortridge also would be able to beat either Beech Grove or Acton and would win its way to the final game by virtue of a victory over New Bethel, Castleton, New Augusta or Ben Davis in the semifinal game at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

That method of elimination doesn't look bad on paper. But there are a great many "ifs" to combat. For instance, one can't forget the stand that Coach Bob Gladden's little Decatur Central quintet made in the Marion County tourney.

Then one can't forget that Tech has always been a tournament team. Tech teams have gone farther in state tournament competition than any other local school.

On the other hand, Shortridge has been having a peculiar season. The Blue Devils, winner of last year's sectional, after losing to Manual in the city tourney, was the pre-season favorite for outstanding honors in the local scene this year.

It looked like the experts had picked one for a few games. The Blue Devils won six straight, from Southport, 22-12; Greendale, 32-16; Noblesville, 30-24; Greencastle, 27-25; Shelbyville, 25-24; and Bloomington, 18-13.

The Coach Bayne Freeman's Tech team pulled the first surprise of the season by tripping the Blue Devils, on Jan. 2, by a score of 22-15. The Green and White had been traveling along without fanfare, its production impeded by illness and lack of reserve power. But everything clicked on Jan. 2 and the Blue Devils turned red.

They lost to Martinsville by five points before recovering from the Tech onslaught and won a decisive tilt from Franklin before the city tourney opened. In the meet they won from Tech, 26-20 and lost in the final game to the up-and-coming Washington outfit, 24-22.

Cathedral's fast-improving quintet fell before the Blue Devils, 27-16, and then Coach Peterman's boys lost to Rushville by two points and Crawfordville by one. There followed three victories by substantial margins over Lebanon, Kokomo and Manual, but the Blue Devils ended their season with a humiliating, 24-6 defeat at the hands of Archie Chadd's Anderson Indians.

The Blue Devil record doesn't appear to be an extremely impressive one, but it will be worth to watch out for a team which has scored 456 points in its opponents' 369, although it has only won 12 out of 18 games.

Independent Basketball Notes

Veterans Aid Berries Team In Net Meet

Logansport Boosts Prestige With Defeat Over Frankfort Five.

This is the third of a series reviewing prospects of teams at the 61 sectional tournaments of the annual Indiana High School Basketball Tournament, which opens Thursday.

With its prestige heightened by a victory over Frankfort, defending state champion, Logansport today moved into the front ranks of major contenders in the 26th annual Indiana High School Basketball Tournament which opens tomorrow.

The Berries were the second team to beat Frankfort this season when they turned back the Hot Dogs, 36 to 16, in the final game of the regular campaign. Only Jefferson of Lafayette holds a similar distinction.

Coach Cliff Wells hasn't lost a sectional tournament since he's been with Logansport. His team has four of the five members of last year's team.

At the La Porte sectional, to quote Coach Lefty Veller of the host school: "Anyone of 14 La Porte County teenagers can take this one. It is the most evenly matched sectional we've had in years."

La Porte and Michigan City are the two larger squads in the tourney and they have split even in their two games this season. Union Mills, with a record of 16 wins against two defeats, and Clinton Township, with 15 victories and three losses, rate next to the leaders.

La Porte Seems Favorite

La Porte appears to be the favorite, however. The Veller squad tied for runnerup honors in the Eastern Division of the N. I. H. S. C. this year.

Coach Butch Neuman's Lebanon Tigers face strongest opposition at their home tourney from Zionsville and Jamestown. With one exception, the Zionsville regulars stand well over the six foot mark and have played together three seasons.

Marion is favored to take sectional honors as the home journey from seven other Grant County fives. The host school has won the meet every year since 1929. This season they face stiff competition from Fairmont, Van Buren and Jefferson Township.

At Martinsville Coach Glenn Curtis' dear Hoosier mentors, and his Artesians seem about due to recapture some of the glory and fame of former years.

This season Martinsville turned in a creditable record, losing the South Central Conference flag by a matter of a few points to Connersville.

Mishawaka Teams Even

The 12 St. Joseph's County fives at the Mishawaka tourney seem about evenly matched. None were particularly impressive this season.

At Mishawaka, Coach Glenn Curtis' dear Hoosier mentors, and his Artesians seem about due to recapture some of the glory and fame of former years.

This season Martinsville turned in a creditable record, losing the South Central Conference flag by a matter of a few points to Connersville.

Shortridge Track Team in Workouts

Shortridge High School track aspirants, under the direction of Track Coach Don R. Knight, have been going through daily workouts in the Butler Fieldhouse.

The Blue Devil squad will be built around the three returning lettermen, Bob Clinch, middle distance runner; Dave Crockett, hurdler and high jumper; and Whitten Lingman, broad jumper and quarter miler.

Ball Club to Meet

The Beamblossom A. C. baseball team is to hold a meeting Sunday March 7, at 1301 W. Ray St. All players and tryouts should report at 2 p. m.

Tech holds scrimmages. Coach Bayne D. Freeman sent his Tech team through a brisk scrimmage yesterday afternoon in a practice session. Foul shooting, passing and fundamentals also were stressed.

28 Golden Glovers Reach Finals in N. Y.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Twenty-eight boxers—survivors of more than 7000 who started—reached the finals of the Eastern Golden Gloves first annual Tournament of Champions today.

These winners clash next Monday night in Madison Square Garden for the championships. Eight others remained in the running for the two heavyweight crowns. In the heavy-weight divisions, semifinals and finals will be fought Monday night.

The ultimate 14 champions will go to Chicago March 24 for an inter-sectional tournament.

Spivey Is Leader In Billiard Meet

Lou Spivey defeated Larry Shapiro, 50 to 41, last night in a state three-cushion billiard tourney match in Harry Cooler's parlor to regain the tournament lead.

Spivey trailed, 30 to 10, after 40 innings, but rallied to win in the 70th. He had a high run of seven against Shapiro's four. Cooler in his match with Walt Ramsey at 8 o'clock tonight has a chance to the Spivey for first place in the standings.

FARM BUREAU AIDS ARE TO BE SELECTED

Re-election of Four Directors Is Predicted.

Delegates to the annual convention of the Indiana Farm Bureau Co-operative Association, Inc., at the Severin Hotel today predicted they would re-elect four district members of the Board of Directors. The four directors are J. B. Cummings, Portland; O. B. H. Miller, Winchester; Frank C. Beale, Clarksville; and Newell B. Giltner, Jeffersonville. The remaining seven members of the board are unaffected by the election.

I. H. Hull, association manager, reported yesterday that volume and net earnings increased noticeably in 1936 and that the financial position of the association was firmer than ever before.

He said that during the last year the association had installed a budget system in its finances. Several farm leaders and agricultural experts were to address the convention today.

ALL-STATE NET STAR FACES CHECK CHARGE

FT. WAYNE, March 3.—Mervin L. Reynolds, 31, former all-state basketball star with Martinsville High School, was to be brought here today on a fraudulent check charge. He was arrested in Evansville yesterday.

He was accused of passing a $20 worthless check Feb. 7, and also allegedly passed bad checks at South Bend and Greensburg, Hillsdale, Mich., and Toledo and Cincinnati, O.

Reynolds starred for the Martinsville cage team in 1925-26-27.

VERNON, IND., VOTE G. O. P. LANDSLIDE

VERNON, Ind., March 3.—Republicans held all city offices today after their election in a poll held under a special charter granted in 1851 prior to adoption of the present Indiana Constitution.

New officials are Wilbur O. Stafford, Mayor; Chesley Holmes, Clerk; Treasurer; George N. Hartwell, Marshal, and Solomon Day, Justice of the Peace.

Rowan and Bert Stout, Councilmen. Republican victories in 1933 and 1935 elections were so decisive that Democrats failed to file a ticket for this year's election.

STUDY TERRE HAUTE AIRPORT PROJECTS

TERRE HAUTE, March 3.—Plans for construction of a new hangar and three asphalt composition runways at the Paul Cox Municipal Airport, costing approximately $100,000, were considered today by city officials.

The project, already approved by C. A. Wilson, Assistant State WPA Administrator, and Maj. Charles Cox, regional airport adviser for Bureau of Air Commerce, may be started this month.
