A. F. OF L. RIFT IS RUMORED ON OUSTING OF C. I. O.

Delay of Council in Calling Convention Gives Rise To the Report.

Frances Perkins. They did not shake hands but posed for photographers. Meanwhile, Homer Martin, president of the United Auto Workers' Union, C. I. O. affiliate, prepared to leave immediately for Canada where he will address striking General Motors employees at Oshawa, Ontario.

Mr. Martin said he expected to speak tonight but did not look forward to taking part in peace conferences with General Motors officials. The union's executive board—in session here—delayed final action on a possible general strike in G. M. C. plants in the United States in sympathy with Canadian members. The board voted financial support to its Canadian members, however.

Split Indicated in Oshawa Ranks

OSHAWA, Ontario, April 21.—Dissension in the ranks of 370 strikers at the General Motors of Canada assembly plant was indicated today by the departure of a delegation for Toronto to confer with Premier Mitchell P. Hepburn. The delegation, purported to represent 1200 strikers anxious to abandon the demands for union recognition by the company and return to work.

Unconfirmed reports were that the men would ask the Premier for assurance of police protection if General Motors decided to reopen the plant and they went back to their jobs.

The delegation comprised the same membership as that which visited Mr. Hepburn yesterday and told him they had repudiated the leadership of Hugh Thompson, Committee for Industrial Organization organizer; C. H. Millard, local United Automobile Workers' Union president; and other strike leaders.

Homer Martin, U. A. W. president, scheduled to return here today, was delayed in Washington, strike leaders said.

OWNERS ARRESTED AS DOGS BITE TWO

Two persons were to face charges of harboring vicious dogs and failure to have dog licenses in Municipal Court today.

Luther Steele, 544 N. Sheffield Ave., was held by officers after a dog allegedly owned by him bit 6-year-old Tommy Abshire. The child was treated at City Hospital for leg injuries.

Mrs. Hetty Beatley, 613 Shelby St., was arrested when Benny Range, 13, of 1205 English Ave., told police her dog bit him on the right leg. Young Range also was treated at City Hospital.

He referred to the proposed Supreme Court enlargement measure as "impractical, impetuous, impulsive, impetuous, impetuous." The committee also heard Francis H. Kinnicut, president of the Allied Patriotic Societies of America, and Edward T. Lee, dean of John Marshall College of Law at Chicago, oppose the program.

The committee appeared headed for conclusion of hearings on the bill Friday, with indications that no further witnesses would be called in support of the measure.

EXPERT AT P.-T. PARLEY MAPS CHILD SAFETY

Parents Told to Teach Caution Against Traffic Perils.

Well, I don't think spanking needs any propaganda, but I never lectured against it.

If your child stuffs his mouth with buttered bread, refuses to wash the back of his hands or behind the ears, or seems quarrelsome, Dr. Arlitt advises you not to become alarmed.

These symptoms usually indicate "growth stages," she said.

"Dirty faces and hands and a general reluctance to wearing neckties soon disappear" after the child reaches the age of 12 or 13," Dr. Arlitt said. "Normal cases outgrow most of the objectionable characteristics. Children whom we have spent years vainly trying to teach ordinary manners reach the puppy love stage and start teaching their parents."

Child psychologists can predict the first signs of obstinacy, shyness or quarrelsomeness as far as six to nine months in advance, she said.

Most children become obstinate between the age of 18 months and two and a half years; they are shy at about 3 years and grow quarrelsome at 8 or 9.

Points Out Danger

Dr. Arlitt emphasized the danger of allowing traits to become established and outlast the ordinary "growth stage." If a child continues to be shy at the age of 6, something should be done about it, she said.

Child psychology trends have shifted from old-fashioned theories on "color vision" and other technicalities to actual facts found in everyday life among children, Dr. Arlitt explained.

The most difficult problem, she said, are the specific ones each individual parent faces in the home. Theory must be blended to fit these cases, she said.

There are few really abnormal children under the age of five, the psychologist said. "Abnormal cases crop out when the 'growth stages' continue past their normal periods."

Along with the "dirty-hand, dirty-face" school of child reasoning, Dr. Arlitt said the club-forming habit was among the more noticeable ones.

Boys get baseball teams together not so much to play as to fight about who gets to pitch. "All children's clubs must have numerous officers to satisfy this longing," she pointed out.

Resolutions urging the scientific study of alcohol and narcotics, and a study of social diseases as they relate to children were read before the congress.

Four Officers Re-elected

Four state association officers were re-elected. They were Mrs. John B. Lee, Indianapolis, treasurer; Mrs. J. W. Grant, Mishawaka, third vice president; Mrs. J. H. Wheeler, Danville, fifth vice president and Mrs. Robert Shank, Indianapolis, seventh vice president.

Among discussion leaders were to be Herman Vorzang, second vice president; Mrs. James L. Murray, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. E. W. Springer, Mrs. Frederick Conkle, Mrs. Henry F. Goll, Mrs. Fred Jeffries, Mrs. Thomas M. Ross, Mrs. Clayton Riddle, Mrs. Wilbur S. Jackson, Mrs. William Richardson, Mrs. G. R. McGregor, Mrs. Fred Shideler, Mrs. Glen Bowen, Mrs. A. T. Shrader, Mrs. Raymond R. Robertson, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Hubert L. Wann.

The resolutions also urged parents to study preventive and protective aspects of child health, and protested advertising of alcoholic beverages.

"The congress believes in State support for schools as a means of equalizing educational opportunity, but deplors the tendency to limit educational development to present-day standards," one resolution read.

Support Merit System

Another read: "Believing that real efficiency and economy in government can be attained only by the selection of all government employees on the basis of merit, the congress urges the extension of a merit system into all governmental departments."

The resolutions commended the 1937 Legislature for extending the merit system to employees of the County Welfare Department, and for successfully "defending Indiana from the pari-mutuel gambling bill."

"They urged upon legislators the speedy enactment of the next session of the General Assembly of such laws conforming substantially to the Uniform Vehicle Code, with special emphasis on a standard drivers' law and uniform rules for the road."

Mrs. Logan Hughes, state president, told delegates that plans now are under way for another parents' institute next fall at Purdue University.

Awards for membership achievement were distributed at an informal dinner last night, and today Carl Wilde, Indianapolis school commissioner, addressed a men's breakfast meeting.

Gun Victim

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Mary Hartman, 15-year-old grade school student, above, and impulsive Henry Raney, 19-year-old WPA worker, will be buried tomorrow as a tragic finale to their "puppy love affair."

During a lovers' quarrel Monday night, Henry fired a bullet into Mary's heart and then turned the gun upon himself. The girl died a few moments later and Henry died in Davess County Hospital yesterday.

Mary will be buried tomorrow afternoon in Oak Grove Cemetery after services at the First Baptist Church. Services for Raney will be held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Raney.

Coroner C. P. Scudder returned a verdict of "murder and suicide."

Roosevelt Studies Proposal As First Task in His Economy Drive.

gress last year, was swollen by pleas of dozens of congressmen from seriously affected areas demanding protection after the recent Ohio and Mississippi River floods.

Trimming Expected

Chairman Will Whittington (D, Miss.) of the House Flood Control Committee, expressed belief that the President would trim down the recommendations "considerably" in view of the economy drive.

"But we cannot go ahead with our committee work until we get the report from the President," Rep. Whittington said.

Alarmed Representatives from recently flooded states have been besieging the War Department with calls and requests for information as to their projects' fate.

F. D. R. Facing Stiff Fight on Economy

WASHINGTON, April 21.—In spite of his economy message President Roosevelt may find it difficult to prevent Congress from passing legislation pledging the future expenditure of billions.

He already has made it clear he expects to find funds for low-cost housing and for combating farm tenancy. Agriculture Department officials expect money will be found for crop insurance, though it is not mentioned in the President's new budget, and Senator Harrison (D, Miss.), an Administration leader, expects to continue pushing the Harrison-Black bill for Federal aid to schools.

All four of these propositions involve vast future outlays.

The Wagner-Stearns Housing Bill proposes expenditure of $31,000,000 next year and the President thinks he can find all or part of this sum in the existing PWA revolving fund. But the bill proposes to create a housing authority with power to issue bonds totaling $1,000,000,000 in four years, and the Treasury would be authorized to buy these bonds if the public did not. It also provides for annual subsidies which might run as high as $35,000,000 a year.

Mr. Roosevelt proposes to take $75,000,000 from relief funds to start the farm-tenant program. Total expenditures of $470,000,000 within the next few years are contemplated in the pending farm-tenant legislation.

PRINCESS MARKS 11TH BIRTHDAY

Elizabeth of England Dances With Excitement as She Opens Gifts.

WINDSOR, Eng., April 21.—Princess Elizabeth, dancing with excitement, opened at breakfast time today the pile of presents awaiting her on the occasion of her 11th birthday.

Oblivious to the cares which she may some day inherit as her father's heir presumptive to the throne, the Princess with her 6-year-old sister, Margaret Rose, busied herself with her presents and her celebration here at ancient Windsor Castle.

The big surprise was a snow white pony from King George. Queen Elizabeth's present was a saddle and riding crop, to match the pony harness and bridle which Elizabeth received from the King at Christmas.

Queen Mary, the grandmother, gave a suite of furniture for the Princess' doll house. Princess Margaret Rose, who kept her present secret to the last moment, gave a leather handbag.

From Uncle David

There was a tennis racket. "From Uncle David"—the Duke of Windsor, whose abdication made Elizabeth the heir to the throne.

As a special treat there were no lessons this morning and there will be no "home work" tonight, and the bed time hour for both Princesses was put up to 9:30 p. m., instead of 9.

A birthday tea party was arranged in the flower-filled gray drawing room of the castle, for which Elizabeth drew up the seating plan, and afterward a concert and a movie program in the throne room.

The birthday cake was of three layers with pink and white icing.

STRICKEN JURIST FLIES HOME TODAY

Returns to Pittsburgh After Collapse Here.

Judge Michael A. Musmanno, Pittsburgh, Pa., who became ill while addressing Labor's Nonpartisan League here Tuesday night, was to leave by TWA plane for his home today.

A nervous collapse, following a recent attack of influenza, sent the Pittsburgh jurist to a bed in his room at the Claypool Hotel.

A nurse attending him said he would be taken by wheel-chair and motor car to the airport.

Awards for membership achievement were distributed at an informal dinner last night, and today Carl Wilde, Indianapolis school commissioner, addressed a men's breakfast meeting.

It was feared 10 of the injured children would die.

Enactment of these four bills might add as much as half a billion dollars to the 1939 budget, even though they did not further unbalance the budget for '38.

Florida Canal Out

The President has put his foot down specifically, however, on further legislation for flood control and road building. And a revival of the Florida ship canal is presumably now out of the question.

Various bills pending in Congress aside from regular appropriation measures, call for expenditure over a short period of years of $16,254,000,000. This total includes $6,000,000,000 which Rep. Lemke, Council-ite candidate for the Presidency, would spend for farm and home mortgage relief; $3,000,000,000 that Rep. Gerald J. Boyleau (P. Wis.) is asking for public works, and $2,500,000,000 asked by Rep. Matthew A. Dunn (D. Pa.) for flood control.

Hoosier Senators Approve Message

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Both Hoosier Senators today expressed approval of the new economy note sounded by President Roosevelt in his billion-and-one-half-dollar relief message.

"I was very much impressed by the President's plea for economy," Senator Van Nuys said. "I also am interested in the proposal of Senator Byrnes (D. S. C.), to reduce the relief appropriation by a half-billion and see if that might do. I shall support any amendment for reasonable reductions. The time has come when we must economize."

Senator Minton asserted he looked upon the economy plan as "experimental" but believed it worth trying. "As I understand the President's message the attempt to balance income and outgo will be tried shortly as an experimental procedure," Senator Minton said.

"I am pleased with the President's message on national finances and I believe the message will do a world of good," Rep. Ludlow said.

SCHRICKEER ON PROGRAM
