

HARVARD CLUBS ARE TO CONVENE HERE SATURDAY

Symposium on Fatigue Is to Be Feature of 40th Annual Session.

Associated Harvard Clubs will hold their 40th meeting here Saturday.

* Features will be a "fatigue symposium" on human biology, by six members of the Harvard University faculty, and addresses by Prof. James M. Landis, Securities and Exchange Commission chairman and Harvard Law School dean, and Walter Lippman, public affairs commentator.

Following a luncheon at the Indianapolis Athletic Club, the delegates will hear the fatigue symposium in the Indiana War Memorial auditorium.

Studies have been made of humans in everyday life by five expeditions directed by David B. Hill, associate professor of industrial physiology at Harvard.

One phase of the work has been the study of football players and other athletes. Special tests were made on Don Lash, Indiana University's Olympic distance runner, and on other track stars including Gene Venzie, Archie San Romani and Glen Cunningham. These tests showed that Lash surpassed others by a wide margin in body efficiency while undergoing heavy physical exercise, according to laboratory directors.

Two movie newsreels of Lash in action will be exhibited during the symposium.

Speakers Are Named

The symposium, which has as its subject, "Men in Everyday Life—Experimental Studies in Human Biology," is being brought here at the request of President James B. Conant of Harvard, who will preside.

It will consist of brief addresses by Prof. Lawrence J. Henderson, "Human Biology: Experiences As An Individual And As A Member of a Collectivity"; Associate-Professor David B. Hill, "The Work of the Fatigue Laboratory: Hard Work; High Temperatures; Great Humidity; High Altitude"; Dr. John H. Taylor, "The Effect of Environment Upon Industrial Workers"; Assistant-Professor Thomas N. Whitehead, "The Behavior of a Small Group of Manual Workers"; Prof. Elton Mayo, "The Effect of Family and Social Situation Upon Work"; Dr. Arlie V. Bock, "The Department of Hygiene of Harvard College and the Life of the Students."

PHONE EMPLOYEES TO SPONSOR FROLIC

Employees of the building maintenance department of the Indiana Bell Telephone Co. are to sponsor their third annual May Frolie dance at the Knights of Columbus auditorium Saturday night.

Telephone employees and their guests are invited. W. C. Baker is general chairman.

LUNCHEON TO CLOSE SEASON FOR CLUB

The Caravan Club, composed of Murat Temple Shriners, will close its season with a luncheon Thursday in Murat Temple.

An elaborate entertainment program has been arranged under the direction of William A. Hoefgen, vice president. Members of the Caravan Club, Murat Shrine Temple and their friends have been invited.

NAME FORUM LEADER
James A. Givin, L. S. Ayres & Co. Credit Union, is to lead a discussion on the "Duties of the Supervisory Committee" at a meeting tomorrow at the Central Indiana Chapter, Indiana Credit Union League. The session is to open at 8 p. m. in the Electric Building Auditorium.

ACHING HEADS AND SPOTTY EYES

Don't let constipation ruin your health. Read Mr. Davidson's message of cheer: "Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has sure been a godsend to me. This is the first relief I have ever had. Believe me, I will be a booster for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN as long as I live!"—C. T. Davidson, 722 N. 1st, Sacramento, Calif.

Common constipation may lead to many diseases. Unpleasant breath, blotchy complexions, spots before the eyes— are only fore-runners of worse to come.

Conquer constipation with a delicious, ready-to-eat cereal—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Simply eat two tablespoonsfuls daily—in chronic cases with every meal. Serve it with milk or fruits. Cook into appetizing muffins, breads, etc.

You'll prefer the delightful, natural way instead of the artificial action of pills and drugs. Buy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Recasting of U. S. Taxes for Fall Is Reported Under Way

Times Special

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The entire Federal tax structure is being studied by Treasury experts with an eye to a thorough overhauling, it was learned upon high authority today. The result of the studies will be presented to Congressional committees this fall, with specific recommendations for reforms.

Special attention is being given to the capital-gains-and-losses tax and the undistributed-profits tax. These two levies have not worked as well as was expected when they were enacted. There is no denying here that the former has unfairly burdened individual taxpayers in many instances, and the latter has yielded far less revenue than it was supposed to produce, besides causing widespread complaints from corporations.

Treasury and Internal Revenue Bureau officials are puzzled by the results of the undistributed-profits tax, which are trying to find out why the returns are so disappointing. Roswell Magill, Undersecretary of the Treasury and an expert on tax problems, has been assigned by Secretary Morgenthau to the task of revising the tax structure. He is already at work on it.

Mr. Magill is known to oppose the increasingly long list of Federal excise taxes. These are renewed from year to year, the tendency of Congress being to pursue the path of least resistance rather than go to the basis of the tax problem.

Mr. Magill is said to believe that the income, gift and inheritance taxes, along with liquor and tobacco excises, should be the backbone of the internal revenue. They should provide sufficient revenue without assistance from nuisance and hidden levies, he thinks. As revenue increases, they could be lowered and when the Government exchequer is low they could be raised. In other words, the persistent search for new sources of taxation would be eliminated.
