

TRACTION FIRM MAY BEGIN ITS DEFENSE TODAY

Indiana Railroad to Answer
Wagner Act Violation Charges.

The Indiana Railroad's defense against union charges of Wagner Labor Act violations was expected to begin late today at the hearing in the State House.

The Amalgamated Association of Electric Street Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America brought the charges.

Labor Board attorneys indicated they would close their case today. I. S. Dorfman, NLRB attorney, said several rebuttal witnesses would be called to conclude the board's testimony.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, intervenors in the hearing, placed witnesses on the stand yesterday to show its representation among the railroad's employees.

Union Officer Testifies
Robert R. Brown, Indianapolis, secretary-treasurer of Indiana 457, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, on cross-examination today said his union was dissatisfied with the treatment of Bowman Elder, receiver.

Other Brotherhood members testified the union was not a company union in any sense of the term. As the hearing ended yesterday, Mr. Brown testified that the 185 members his union represents on the railroad have no contract with the company. He was being questioned by attorneys for the Amalgamated Association.

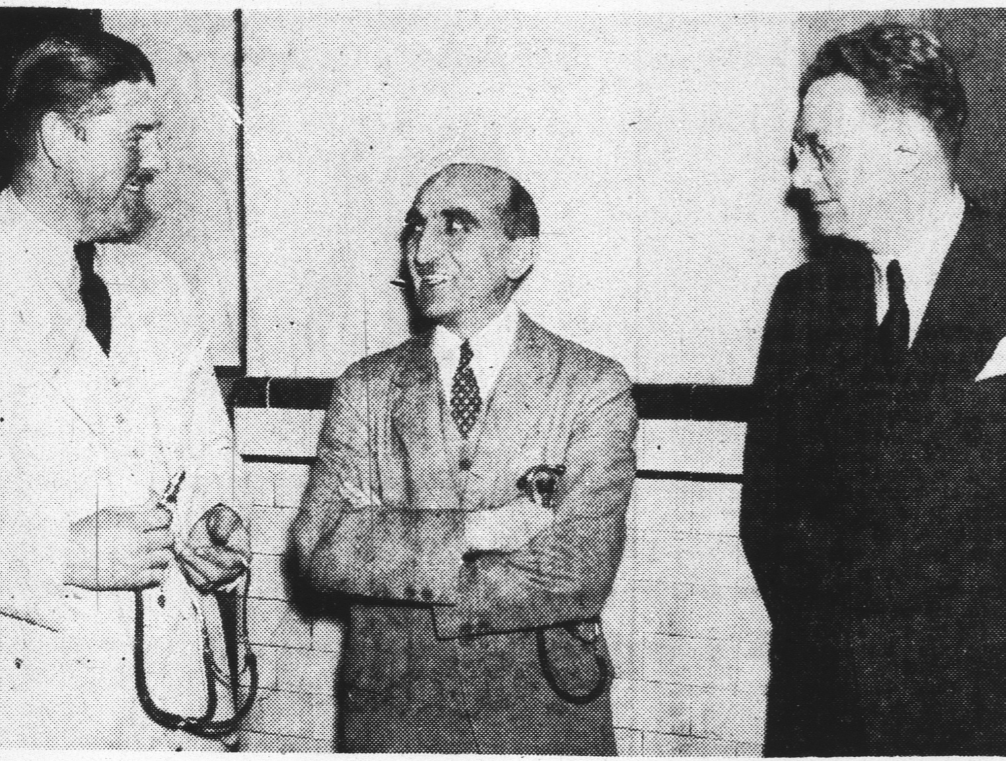

Mr. Brown, in reply to a question as to whether his union participated in a 12½ per cent wage increase, said: "It was pushed on us and of course we accepted it."

Amalgamated Claims 500
He testified that his union did not take part in the arbitration negotiations carried on between the Amalgamated and the receiver. The Amalgamated claims more than 500 members in the railroad, while the Brotherhood contends it has a majority of the membership employed in train service operations.

The Brotherhood's intervention in the hearing is for the purpose of protecting their unit's right of collective bargaining, officials said.

Labor board attorneys sought by testimony of five witnesses to substantiate charges that Mr. Elder's supervisory employees fostered an alleged company union.

stantiate charges that Mr. Elder's supervisory employees fostered an alleged company union.

Urged to Attend Meeting
Walter Quick, Anderson bus operator, testified that Ira Babcock, Anderson ticket agent, urged him to attend what he, Quick, termed a "company union" meeting on March 28.

He said: "Mr. Babcock told me 'we're organizing a company union. You know that strike at Anderson was illegal.' This is just a matter of getting behind Mr. Elder."

Mr. Quick said the ticket agent had a "petition or some kind of a paper with him at the time but he didn't ask me to sign it."

Thomas Hamilton, 56, Oakland, car checker, testified he was asked by Bernard J. Nelson, Indianapolis freight agent, to take part in the meeting called on March 28 for all employees. The meeting was held at the company's freight station here, he said.

Asked to Take Part
"He asked me to take part," Mr. Hamilton testified, "and said he hoped I'd be as active in that organization as in the union. I told Nelson I'd had experience with company unions and didn't like them. He said, 'This is not to be a company union. We're going to have representatives from each department.'"

Mr. Hamilton also charged Mr. Nelson asked him to interest himself in a petition favoring a 12½ per cent wage increase.

"Mr. Nelson said I was getting along in years and I'd find it pretty hard to get a job if the railroad was abandoned," Mr. Hamilton testified.

The abandonment was ordered by Superior Judge Herbert E. Wilson when employees and the railroad failed to agree on the acceptance of an arbitration award of 20 per cent increase in wages.

The order was rescinded when the 12½ per cent wage increase was accepted by employees.

(Copyright, 1937, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The New Deal is planning to sponsor broad new laws designed to curb monopoly by maintaining competition in all industry and subjecting industry to Federal regulation, it was learned today.

The proposed bills will be withheld until the next session of Congress, reliable sources reported. The delay is occasioned by a desire to test Federal powers in the Government's suit to dissolve the Aluminum Co. of America.

High officials said the fight against monopolies would probably be linked with new NRA substitute legislation.

Another Milestone

Air conditioning of train travel is a notable example of railroad enterprise.

Difficult problems had to be overcome. The cars are exposed on all sides. Walls are steel, with many windows. Temperature changes of 100 degrees may occur in a day's run. Every car must have its own power plant.

Such problems were conquered and air conditioning achieved to make the supreme comfort of rail travel independent of the weather and insure cleanliness and quiet.

To the traveler air conditioning is the greatest improvement since the sleeping car—to the railroad it is another milestone along the path of progress.

The Illinois Central System is making further additions
this year to the number of its air-conditioned passenger cars.

The work of installation, operation and maintenance involves large purchases of material and provides extensive new employment.
