

JACKSON SAYS WAGE AND HOUR PROPOSAL VALID

Attorney General Sees No
Objection to Measure;
Hearings Open.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, June 2.—Robert H. Jackson, youthful Assistant Attorney General, today told a joint session of the House and Senate Labor Committees that the Administration's proposed wage and hour bill is clearly constitutional in the light of recent Supreme Court decisions.

Jackson urged enactment of the new measure as a means of placing commerce between the states upon a "basis of industrial justice to disadvantaged men."

The proposed bill would establish a new Governmental commission to set up wage minimums and hour maximums for workers in industries whose products flow into the channels of interstate commerce.

See Time Wasted

Jackson noted that, while recent Supreme Court decisions established a constitutional framework for the new bill, the measure did not run counter to the theory expressed by the Court in its 1918 decision declining the Federal Child Labor Statute to be unconstitutional.

Rep. Glenn Griswold (D. Ind.) recalled that under the NRA a differential of $1 per week was established in the textile industry and that many textile manufacturers moved south of the dividing line in order to take advantage of the differential. Griswold asked Jackson if the same could happen under the pending bill.

"I don't see how a classification as broad as you are referring to could occur under this act which specifically prohibits excessive classifications," Jackson replied.

Rep. Frank J. D. Gilmer (D. N. C.) likened the bill's objective to Federal quarantine against interstate transportation of products which might carry contagious diseases.

"There is no question of that power," Jackson remarked.

"Then," Pepper remarked, "what this bill is attempting is to purify the channels of interstate commerce against undesirable contamination."

Rep. Kent Keller (D. Ill.) suggested that provisions of the bill providing for hearings before the minimum wage could be made applicable would result in "considerable waste of time."

COMMISSION DENIED CADET LIEUTENANT

Action Follows His Charge Of 'War Disregard.'

By United Press

RALEIGH, N. C., June 2.—Senior Cadet Lieut. Charles A. Stinnette, who wrote a letter to a North Carolina State College student paper concerning "Naive disregard for the state," was told today he must file his board not receive a reserve officer's commission.

He said no reason had been given for denial of his commission. About 80 other senior cadets received their commissions as is customary on completion of the undergraduate military course.

Lieut. Stinnette's letter, written before the annual cadet tea dance, said:

"Tonight, joined by hundreds more, the cadets will pay homage to the golden calf in an elaborate display of fastidiousness. Naive disregard for the stark reality of war is indeed the temper of the occasion.

"It is highly improbable that any cadet considers the possibility that some day the grass of some Flanders Field may be greener because of his blood and bones. Ironic is it to reflect that the same trumpet which inflates his ego tonight will tomorrow call forth the soldier and drive him to God knows what hell."

headedness in the crisis on the part of this nation and on the part of European nations.

The Foreign Relations Committee decision today was thought to be in line with this policy. The Committee did, however, agree to place on the committee calendar the resolution on Senator Nye (R. N. D.), providing a complete ban on shipments of arms abroad. Nye also announced he might bring witnesses before the Committee to discuss some of his other pending resolutions including one which would apply the neutrality laws to Germany and Italy.

Pittman expressed opposition to the Nye proposal for a complete ban on arms shipments. He said he believed the nation could not afford to destroy its private arms industry until some substitute had been devised.

In the House, Rep. Hamilton Fish (R. N. Y.) urged support for his resolution for an arms ban similar to the Nye proposal for a complete ban on arms shipments.

4. The four control fleets will be banded under common direction for their mutual interests and protection to satisfy Berlin and Rome.

There were reports that Premier Mussolini already was massing men and material for big-scale intervention, in event that he felt it advisable. It was impossible, however, to confirm this.

Formal Alliance Hinted

Though officially Von Blomberg's visit is of ceremonial nature, actually it is expected to result in some of the most important military discussions of recent months. It is denied that Italy and Germany are planning to negotiate a formal military alliance with Von Blomberg to be taken to representate units of all the branches of the Army and air force of which Mussolini is so proud, and also will be the guest of honor at a Navy review of Gaeta, above Naples on the West Coast.

Regardless of any formal alliance, it has been made plain to Europe that for the moment at least Germany and Italy are acting in close concert, particularly concerning Spain.

Because of the course of the civil war and lack of active French or British opposition to the previous Fascist-Nazi policy, Mussolini is said to be convinced that neither power would fight to keep Italy and Germany from pushing the Nationalists to victory.

Fascists deny that Italy wants to intervene directly and thus risk precipitating a European war. Nevertheless, they say privately that if the worst came to the worst it would be better to run the danger of war than to permit "Communists" to gain a foothold in a Mediterranean nation—Spain.

Hull said officials of the department are studying all circumstances leading up to the bombing of the German "pocket battleship" Deutschland and the German Navy's re-territorial re-embarkment of the loyalist Port of Almeria.

Mr. Hull indicated that American diplomatic and consular representatives abroad are making a thorough investigation of the whole affair, and that the State Department's future course will be based upon the findings of this investigation.

Meanwhile, he is counseling cool-headedness by officials and public, not only of this country but in all nations. He supported this advice by personal representations to both the German and Spanish ambassadors here, requesting their respective governments to do everything possible to reach an amicable settlement of the incidents.

Mr. Hull is personally opposed to application of the embargo provisions of the neutrality law to Germany and Italy at this time. This action could be taken only by a proclamation by President Roosevelt declaring the existence of a "state of war" exists between those countries and Loyalist Spain.

Mr. Hull believes that such a proclamation and its attendant bar restrictions might upset the present delicate diplomatic balance in Europe and actually contribute toward the start of a general European war.

While Italy has not yet submitted or received any concrete proposals for her return to the nonintervention scheme, it is understood she envisages as one condition a stern note from the powers threatening joint international naval or military punitive action against the Spanish Loyalists in case of further attacks.

It was not yet clear whether Italy wants the threat to Valencia to be addressed by all members of the nonintervention agreement or merely by Britain, France, Germany and Italy, whose fleets originally patrolled the Spanish coast under the agreement.

CORONER FINDS AGAINST BRADY AND DOLHOVER

Gang Officially Declared Responsible for Death Of State Officer.

By United Press
LOGANSPORE, June 2.—The Al Brady gang officially was held responsible for the murder of State Policeman Paul Minneman today by M. B. Stewart, Cass County Coroner, at the conclusion of the inquest into the officer's death.

Mr. Winneman was wounded fatally and Deputy Sheriff Elmer Craig shot three times when they were ambushed by gunmen fleeing the scene of a robbery at the Goodland State Bank May 25.

Coroner Stewart's report said: "I find that the immediate cause of the death of Paul Minneman was due to internal hemorrhages produced by peritonitis of the body. I also find that evidence produced at a coroner's inquest shows these wounds were purposely produced by firearms held by bank bandits with intent to commit murder.

"I hold Al Brady, alias John Barton, and James Dolhovar, whose addresses are unknown, as directly responsible for the death of Paul Minneman."

Twenty witnesses submitted depositions in Mr. Stewart, among them Lyle Constable, at the Goodland Bank president, and Mrs. Leona Hamilton, assistant cashier. They identified pictures of Brady and Dolhovar as two of the bandits who stole $2500 from their institution. The third Brady hood is Clarence Lee Schaffer Jr.
