

STRIKE MEDIATORS SEEK CURB ON VIOLENCE PENDING TRUCE; BOARD TO MEET TOMORROW

Experts Will Map Program To Bring Workers and Firms Together.

Union, and he was an Alfred M. Landon adviser in the 1936 campaign.

In a book published last year he said:

"Fuel is sometimes added to the flames of labor conflict by the silly refusal of employers to put such agreements as they may reach in writing. No position has so little justification."

Mr. Garrison, 39, is dean of Wisconsin University Law School. He was chairman of the old National Labor Relations Board. In that capacity he wrote the Houder decision commanding an employer to reach an agreement with his employees on the ground that without an agreement collective bargaining is a farce.

matters would be worked out by the Board at its first meeting. The Board has no power to force a settlement or to subpoena witnesses, but it can hold hearings, investigate conditions and make recommendations to both sides.

Guard Against Violence

The most difficult job appeared likely to be that of preventing new clashes between pickets and non-strikers seeking to go back to work. Officials in the danger spots along the strike front, Youngstown and Canton, O., and Johnstown, Pa., indicated an eagerness to aid in giving the Mediation Board an opportunity to act.

The Citizens Conciliation Council at Canton, O., appealed to operators and nonstrikers to delay attempts to reopen mills until peace efforts had been made.

J. G. Stewart, spokesman for a back-to-work movement at the Republic steel plant, announced that nonstrikers planned to march back to work at the picketed mills "within 48 hours."

President Frank Purnell of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. declared that reopening of plants was his chief interest and "is the logical result" where protection can be arranged for the nonstrikers.

John S. Brooks, counsel for Republic Steel, said his company will cooperate with the board. The other two companies involved in the strike—Inland Steel and Bethlehem—also were expected to co-operate, but it was indicated that none of the four concerns had changed its stand against signing a union contract.

Mass Meeting in Chicago

Other developments in the scattered strike centers included:

1. C. I. O. Chairman John L. Lewis charged in a telegram read to a strike mass meeting at Chicago that motion pictures of the Chicago Memorial Day disorders "conclusively demonstrate" that nine-strike demonstrators were "deliberately murdered in cold blood by Chicago police as a friendly gesture to the Republic Steel Co."

2. Rep. C. G. Hoffman (R., Mich.) charged before a mass meeting of nonstrikers at Johnstown, Pa., that "Lewis is America's No. 1 Communist," and declared that "Johnstown has a chance to win a place in history by making a stand now to stem this tide of communism."

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Corp., is expected today to confer with other company officials on the strike situation.

Picketing was comparatively peaceful in Johnstown, in contrast to almost continuous fighting along the picket lines since the strike started a week ago. Three men had been injured seriously in that time, and scores had suffered minor hurts. Company officials said the Cambria plant was increasing operations. Strike leaders said there was little change.

3. Chairman John Owens of the Ohio C. I. O. said strikers in the Mahoning Valley were "discussing returning to work and sitting down on the job" in event of a mass back-to-work movement.

4. Strike attorneys got into the court record at Warren, O., a list of arms in the Republic plant at Warren and Niles. The list showed 3000 rounds of 38-caliber cartridges, 2500 shotgun shells, 20 shotguns, 30 pistols, 10 gas guns, 250 long-range

Named to Mediation Board

These three men, rated by many as the most experienced labor-capital mediators in the nation, compose the steel mediation board named yesterday by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins. They are expected to meet tomorrow, and in the meantime have asked that violence in the strike be avoided.

TENSION HIGH IN GERMANY OVER CHURCH VOTING

Leadership Split Widens as Election Date Is Set; 10 Are Arrested.

By United Press

BERLIN, June 18.—Tension increased notably today between Nazi authorities and opposition leaders in the Evangelical Church as the day approached for an election of a church government.

Division became complete when the Rev. Martin Niemöller, an outstanding leader in the opposition movement, charged that practically all leaders on his side had been "put out of action," that hope for a free election was dissipated, and that "only enemies of the church have a free hand."

At the end of his statement, made at a church meeting last night, uniformed members of the Hitler youth organization tried to storm the church, shouting "Germany awake!"

Doors of the church were closed against the Nazis. When the congregation left, there were arguments outside between supporters of the Nazi authorities and oppositionists. Police dispersed the crowd and arrested 10 persons.

Two Attorneys Arrested

A prominent legal expert of the opposition movement and another church attorney were arrested last night by secret police.

Niemöller in his statement last night complained that secret police yesterday raided and closed the premises of the Fraternal Council of the Prussian Confessional (opposition) Church and that two employees were arrested.

Referring to arrests previously of five members of the council, Niemöller said:

"It is rumored that the church election will take place June 27. But now practically all leaders of the Confessional Church have been put out of action. A supposedly free election has been converted into the opposite. Only enemies of the church have a free hand."

"The Fuehrer (Adolf Hitler) solemnly pledged his word that the church would not be impeded in its activities. We appeal to the Fuehrer, recalling his pledged word and protesting against curtailment of the church's freedom of action. We make this appeal, but we do not know whether it will be of any value."

In Bavaria, Nazis started a campaign against Cardinal Faulhaber, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Munich, alleging that he suspended a priest who advocated nondenominationalism instead of Catholic schools. Students of the Nazi Pedagogical Academy, in a resolution said:

"We consider the Cardinal's measure as a personal challenge and protest against the disqualification of a patriotic priest."

Film Stars Wed in Hollywood

Happy smiles lighting their faces, Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond—now Mr. and Mrs. Raymond—race down the steps of Wilshire Methodist Episcopal Church in Los Angeles after saying "I do" in one of the most elaborate weddings the film colony has seen in 10 years. After one day off, both planned to return to work and then leave on June 26 for a honeymoon in Honolulu.

shop." The others were officers and employees.

A jury venire of 25 has been summoned for the trial before Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell.

The defendants are charged with using the mails to defraud, devising schemes to defraud, and using the mails in execution of the alleged schemes to defraud.

Defendants Listed

The defendants, besides Morley, are:

William J. Stevenson, Houston, Tex., personal representative of the former Colorado Governor.

Olaf T. Anderson, Chicago, Indianapolis branch office manager.

Benson N. Chase, Evansville branch manager.

Edward Ward, Evansville, salesman.

Two other employees, also under Federal indictment, are fugitives.

Mr. Nolan charged the company's officers with "defrauding thousands of dollars from hundreds of persons."

Widows Victims, Claim

"Widows, business men, lawyers, manufacturers and farmers in this state, Illinois, Ohio and Kentucky were victims of the company," he said.

The Morley offices in the Merchants Bank Building were raided by the State Securities Commission, the Marion County Prosecutor, and officials of the Indianapolis Better Business Bureau.

Mr. Nolan charged the raid disclosed a "sucker" list of hundreds of names.

The company's operations were described by the District Attorney as follows:

"They would solicit people by phone or mail and represent the company as being a broker in registered or listed securities. Stocks would be sold on the installment plan or on marginal payments. They would tell the customers the payments would be applied on the price of stocks."

Failed to Deliver, Charge

"When the customer had completed the payments and demanded delivery of the stock, the company failed to deliver," he charged.

He charged company employees emphasized the "elements of strength" of the investment firm by calling attention to the fact that a former Colorado Governor was head of the firm.

The company was incorporated in Indiana and had branches here and in Evansville. Indictments were returned October, 1936.

Taxpayers' Group to Protest $1.07 Levy for School Budget

Harry Miesse, Indiana Taxpayers Association secretary-manager, announced today that his organization would protest the Indianapolis School City budget when it is considered by the State Tax Board.

A rate of $1.07 on each $100 of taxable property within the City has been adopted by the School Board, and a public hearing on the $6,975,733 budget is to be held at 12:15 p. m. Monday in the School Administration offices.

Mr. Miesse and Chamber of Commerce officials have said they may not protest the rate and budget in the Monday hearing.

In former years, protests, in the main, have been lodged before the Marion County Tax Adjustment Board and the State Tax Board, the two reviewing bodies.

"I don't know whether we'll protest the $1.07 tax rate at the meeting but I do know it will be appealed to the State Tax Board," Mr. Miesse said. "The budget is not worth the paper it's written on. It is a joke."

School officials claimed in defense of the present rate that if the 1936-37 levy had not been cut from $1.11 to $1.07, the new rate could have been set at $1.01.

An emergency appropriation, for $3,005,533.20, to pay the School City's operating expenses for the last half of 1937 also is to be considered at the Monday meeting.

Following the hearing and final approval of the budget and emergency appropriation, contracts are to be mailed to 2000 City school teachers. The contracts are to be placed in the mails next week, according to A. B. Good, business director.

STEAL ASPIRIN TABLETS

LOGANSPOUT, June 18.—Logansport police today sought thieves with headaches who took several packages of aspirin tablets from a local dance pavilion confectionery. The headaches may have been caused by the case of soft drinks they consumed before leaving.

McGrady Is Union Member

McGrady, 64, ace trouble shooter for the Administration in labor matters for four years, and for the A. F. of L. before that, is a member of the Printing Pressmen's Union. His whole experience in labor organizing as well as in mediating has been directed toward work stabilization through written agreements.

Mr. Taft in his book criticized labor leaders for "tacit acceptance" of violent tactics, but went on to remind employers and the public that "a strike and a picket line are not a pink tea." He praised the Roosevelt Administration's record in handling strikes.

He defended majority rule in unions, attacked company-dominated unions, upheld the industrial-type union and pointed to the absence of jurisdictional strikes in the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

"A well-conceived and thoroughly organized union can do a good many things for the employed," he commented, adding that the Amalgamated's "preferential union shop" has been found "generally satisfactory."

He is the son of the late President and Chief Justice Taft, a leader in the Oxford religious group (the Buchmanites), and the father of six. He has been arbitrator and mediator in many Ohio strikes, including the bloody Auto-Lite strike at Toledo two years ago.

Garrison Is Liberal

Mr. Garrison is known for his advocacy of liberalizing the Constitution by an amendment empowering Congress to legislate in social and economic fields. He was a disciple of Prof. Felix Frankfurter at Harvard Law School, and thereafter served in Elihu Root's New York law firm.

He has been mentioned as a Supreme Court possibility.

Mr. Garrison went to New York a few years ago, while serving as labor board chairman, settled a serious waterfront strike threat single-handed at a time when everyone believed peace was impossible.

Mr. McGrady, while outspoken to the point of bluntness, is perhaps the most polished ex-labor leader in America. He kept on good terms with all the NRA leaders and factions during the violent turmoil in the tagency.

He has covered many thousands of miles by plane, moving as situations became difficult.

Secretary Perkins, who in 1933 opposed having him as assistant labor secretary, soon changed her mind and now is one of his boosters. If she leaves the Cabinet, there is little doubt that McGrady will get the secretaryship.

State Aids Seek to End Rail Laborers' Strike

TERRE HAUTE, June 18.—Two State labor conciliators attempted today to settle a strike of 400 construction workers of the New York Central Railroad and prevent an outbreak of violence which threatens 100 alleged "strikebreakers."

Max Schaeffer and S. A. Sweezy, the State conciliators sought to contact Railroad officials to discuss claims of the workmen that they receive only 33 cents an hour for a 10-hour day, from which is deducted 3 1/2 percent for a reason un-
